$ THE WAR NEWS.

Admiral Togo has again attempted to block the entrance to Port Arthur harbor, and if the Russian reports of the affair are correct has again failed signally. This time he sent in four merchantmen armed with Hotchkias guns, but these proved of no avail, Makaroff's batteries and destroyers sinking them before they could be placed in an obstructive position. Almost the entire crew of a Russian destroyer was killed in this fight, the hoat engaging six of the enemy. The Japanese refused a challenge to battle by the Russian fleet, which came out for that purpose. Makaroff reports that he has made a reconnaissance along the coast with his fleet, his intention apparently being to locate Admiral Togo's base. The Mikado dare not risk the landing of many troops on the Liao Tung Peninsula until the Port Arthur fleet is either destroyed or so bottled up as to be useless, which doubtless accounts for yesterday's desperate attempt to block the harbor. Trivial skirmishes continue to take place in Korea. and while in themselves of no great importance, they go to show that the armies are in touch. Kuropatkin has arrived at Mukden and all Russia feels relieved. The latest about the phantom Vladivostock fleet is that it has eluded the Japs and is escorting the new Russ warships purchased from Chili.

LATER. A dispatch from New Chwang declares that the Japanese succeeded early Sunday morning in sinking three merchant steamers at the mouth of Port Arthur harbor. Viceroy Alexieff has placed New Chwang under martial law which amounts to a defiance of the powers, especially China. The foreign consuls are law, and it is probable the British and American gunboats will be ordered to leave
