WILL TRY TO HATCH 450,000,000 EGGS

Record Take of Whitefish Spawn From Lake Erie This Season.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Dec. 12.-A report issued from the United States Bureau of Fisheries shows that already this season it has taken 450,000,000 whitefish eggs in Lake Erie. This is 13,000 quarts of the tiny finners, and by far the largest ever made.

Although the Government hatching plant at Put-in-Bay on Lake Erie was built to take care only of 100,000,000 eggs, the bureau by farming the eggs out among the various state hatcheries and among its own plants elsewhere, is taking care of this year's enormous catch. The supply of whitefish has been diminishing so rapidly in Lake Erie, owing to poor protection, the fish being under four different state and one Canadian province jurisdictions, that careful preparations were made this year to do as much as possible to replenish the supply. In other great lakes also large quantities of whitefish eggs are being resorted. Effort are to be made also to stock some of the northwestern lakes with whitefish.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Dec. 12. — Peter Paton, manager of the Northern Navigation Company, stated to The Advertiser today that the steamer Huronic would be placed in the Reid drydock this winter, and that several improvements would be made to different parts of the ship. It has been known for some time that the company intended to make some changes, and it was thought that the boat would be taken to the shipbuilding yard at Collingwood, where the steamer was built. It is not known when the work will be started, but it is expected that it will be shortly after the new year. The Reids have recently constructed their new plant at South Park and are able don. to handle the job in an up-to-date manner. The underwriters will also have an investigation made of the bottom of the steamer to see if she suffered any damage when she went on the shore north at Whitefish Point on Nov. 9.
