GIVE STREET RAILWAY Many Londoners Attended Big SUNDAY CAR RIGHTS

Special Meeting May Be Called to Settle Question.

UP TO BOARD OF CONTROL

Reward of $100 Offered for Party Who Sent False Alarm.

The council at the session last night refused to give the bylaw giving the street railway the right to run cars for two Sundays, pending a settlement of differences between the parties, its second reading. It was decided, however, to call a special meeting during the week to settle the question for some time, provided and understood that the board of control and the company can agree on terms. Ald. Palmer moved the second reading and stated that he was doing so in order that accommodation be given the soldiers and the citizens on Sunday, while the differences between the city and the company were being straight-

Ald. Ashplant accused C. H. Ivey, solicitor of the company, with deliberately stating untruths in his public explanation. He stated that Mr. Ivey had never mentioned Sunday cars when the conference was held on Thursday night last, and had dragged in other matters not in keeping with the questions in mind. On that score he could not support the second reading. Supports Contention.

Controller Gammage supported Ald. Ashplant in his contention and explained that the only reason for requesting the council to pass a bylaw for two Sundays was to accommodate the soldiers and give the city solicitor time to prepare proper agreements. The vote was taken and Controllers Moore, Gammage, White, Rose and Ald. Webster, Palmer and Little voted for the bylaw, while Ald. Ashplant, Reynolds, Summers, Wilson, Dyer, Copp, Donahue and Burdick against it. Then Ald. Burdick introduced his motion to have the matter cleared up this week and that too car-

AT THE AUDITORIUM, The "Catspaw," an Edison five-part photograma released through the Kleine-Edison feature service, was shown vesterday at the Auditorium. In this fascinating story a woman's unfounded jealousy plays a leading part and nearly lands in prison her accomplice, the man she devotedly loves. Another woman's dream of love is shocked violently by supposed criminality of her sweetheart, and altogether these women, for a time at least, have most unpleasant experience in "The Catspaw." It all happens because an adventuresome crook employs a "double" to represent him in society and at social events, while he (the employer) is busy as a bank burglar and sneak thief. His woman accomplice is not aware of the "double's" existnce and for this reason finds cause she supposes, for being jealous.

Kent Brewery GRADUATES OF ALMA GATHER IN ST. THOMAS COUNCIL REFUSES TO FOR HAPPY REUNION

Celebration at Big College.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Hon. George Brown and Wife Came All the Way From Saskatchewan.

Alma College, St. Thomas, threw wide its doors in welcome yesterday to former graduates, who gathered from all parts of Canada for the annual banquet of the Alma Daughters.

Pleasurable thrills were experienced by the students of former days when they came in sight once more of their alma mater, the imposing building of memory's picture, looking most inviting on the June day after the rain, surrounded by ample lawns dotted with trees, shrubs and flowers Upstairs in the corridor, beyond the main entrance, a group qickly gathered and the incidents occurred which are inevitable on such an occasion. Women who had been away from school ten, twenty, even thirty years, looked eagerly about for familiar faces. The years slipped from off their shoulders, and once more they were girl together, calling one another by their arst names, in some cases they didn't know the last names, recalling incidents and escapades.

Meet the Principal. Much of the joy of th occasion was the meeting once more with Dr. Warner, principal, whom one of the speakers of the day referred to as "always just and kind," and Miss Sisk, beloved of two generations of Alma Daughters.
Among distinguished visitors of the occasion were Hon. George W. Brown, former lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan and Mrs. Brown, the latter at Alma graduate. Mrs. T. W. Crothers who was unable to be present, sent a telegram of greeting. Quantities o beautiful early summer flowers, peonies and syringa adorned the tables the dainty place cards, painted by Miss

Rich of this city, adding still another pleasing decorative touch. The duties of toast-mistress were performed by Miss Sisk during the first part of the program, with the tact and wit which has always endeared her to

Referring to the manner in which the oundaries of women's activities have been enlarged in the past few years, and the way in which women have stepped into new spheres to keep business as usual in war-time, Miss Sisk wondered if after the manner in which wo men have proved themselves, there would still be men who would fear woman would lose her femininity if she cast her ballot.

Not Worrying. "We are not worrying," she continued.
"We are just undertaking the immediate needs which are nearest to upon the subject of efficiency, "If every-one was only reliable," she said, "how o make excuses to ourselves for unfilled promises and engagements. Did it ever strike you that the less we do, the more we have to explain? Do you remember the three nen to whom the Lord gave talents? The man who didn't do anything with his required three times as much time to explain why he didn't, as the other wo to tell what they had done." Dr. Warner extended a cordial welcome to the returned daughters, expressing the view that the energy which men have been devoting to patriotic work will, after the war, he turned in the days to come to solving of the problem of the wisest education for the youth of the land.
