In 1866 she again saw her father and the Duke of Portland together in London, and on this occasion she said chaffingly to the Duke: "I thought you were dead and buried." She called him Druce, and this annoyed him.

Continuing, Mrs. Hamilton testified that she last saw the Duke of Port land in 1876. The Duke then said he felt very ill and thought he was going to die. Mrs. Hamilton said to "I hope you will repent of all your sins," and to this the Duke said "Thank you."

In the course of her testimony Mrs. Hamilton said the fourth Duke of Portland was her godfather. She had been at Welbeck Abbey with her father as the guest of the fifth duke, whom she knew well in his dual character.

Mrs. Hamilton was under cross-examination in regard to the discrepancy between the evidence she gave today and that before another court when the case adjourned until Nov

Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, an old lady of seventy years, testified that Druce and the Duke of Portland were the same person. She said the Duke, whom she described as an old friend of her father's, had always had a false beard in his pocket. The Duke had at one time intended to marry her, but her father refused consent. On one occasion she asked the Duke why he wore a false beard. He explained that it was necessary to have a beard when he appeared as Druce.
