NOTE I.—The law in the State of Maine has just been so amended, as to add vastly to its stringency and effect. It now inflicts fine and imprisonment for the first offence; for the third, not less than three nor more than six months in the common jail; and for the fourth and all subsequent offences, one thousand dollars fine with costs, and one year in the State Penitentiary. This law was carried in the House of Representatives by a majority of 90 over 29; in the Senate, the vote was unanimous. The Prohibitory law in Massachusetts also has been made far more stringent, and now inflicts the penalty of imprisonment for the first offence. In New York State a prohibitory statute has passed by a large majority. In all of these states the Governors respectively have given immediate effect to the will of the people, by signing the statute without delay. In Portland, where the administration of the Maine Law has for the last year or two been in the hands of its opponents, a total change has just taken place, and the law is now to be carried into effect by its friends. The Hon. N. Dow, has again been chosen Mayor. These things make it most manifest, that the public voice is becoming stronger and stronger, for prohibition, in all the States where it has once been adopted.

NOTE II.—Testimonies from all parts of Maine, and from all the States where the Prohibition has been
