ANNUAL MEETING OF THE COLONIAL CHURCH AND SCHOOL SOCIETY.

And he desired also to add a pledge to use still more strenuous endeavours to aid the progress of the Diocesan Church Society as the foremost work for Churchmen in this Diocese. The work of the Colonial Church and School Society was in an especial manner a missionary work, the glory of which had been so eloquently dwelt upon by his reverend brother who moved the preceding resolution—undertaken in obedience to the command "Go forth and preach the Gospel unto all nations." All who had been baptised into the Church were pledged to exert themselves to spread the Gospel among all peoples—for in baptism they signed their children "with the sign of the cross in token that they shall not be ashamed to confess the faith of Christ crucified, and manfully to fight under his banner, against sin, the world and the devil." The missionary spirit was a welling up of the spirit of God in the human heart. They might be baptised into the Church and brought up in a christian land among Christian people, but they must also ratify this vow in after years; and when they did this faithfully, there was then a welling up of the Spirit in the heart which made them eager to do God's service, and not think it dear to spend even their lives and be spent in the effort to win souls to Christ. They had many agencies doing the work. They saw all the world striving with a wondrous activity, event following event with such speed that one knew not what next to look for. And of this great energy which wrought such wonders—there was not a little which could only be spent in this missionary work. Their reverend brother from another Diocese had said he remembered the time when there was no city mission in his native city. Now there were many abundant in good works. And in this Society which has grown up in late years we recognise—to use the words of the Archbishop of Canterbury when speaking of it in a sermon preached in its behalf, "one of those instruments which our Church is employing in fulfilling its mission of making known the manifold wisdom of God."

They were called on to declare that they regarded the general work of the Society with great interest. Yes, they doubtless did so, they might well do so; for they should esteem it as one of the many links of sympathy which bound us to the mother country, and all that was great and noble and lovely in that much loved land. Our Queen herself was its patron. The primate Archbishop its Vice-patron, and among its list of Vice-Presidents were 33 bishops, including two
