

College Note Book.

STUDENT LIFE.

It seems to be the desire of most of the boys outside of the 3rd year Theology that the JOURNAL should this year also be the medium of acquainting the friends of that significant year with the latters' most salient points. It is not the aim, however, of the following short sketches to laud the members of the graduating class up to the skies, and if any of the illustrious personages of the class feel too elated at their popularity we would respectfully remind them that the Man in the Moon is talked of a great deal. All we hope for in writing these dangerous notices is to tell the truth, a part of the truth, and nothing but the truth.

Louis Abram is constituted like other men, that is, body and soul (See Bib. Theol. Notes). The first part of him is of convenient proportions, the last is larger than the same part in most ordinary men. C'est un Français du vieux pays, homme très consciencieux et sincère; toujours gai. He hails from Montécheroux, and belongs to an old family of Huguenot stock, remarkable for their piety, which has stood him in good stead in his many discouragements and trials. Abram has acquitted himself like a man since coming to Canada, eight years ago—rendering good service to the Pte. aux Trembles Schools, and afterwards in the most difficult of the Mission fields of the Church.

Hugh Ferguson now attracts our attention. Born in MacLaren's Depot, of ordinary height and weight. Hugh is a well-meaning boy, very cautious in his movements, and a hearty eater, being very fond of raw fruit in the morning and porridge at night. Has married a wife, and speaks enthusiastically of the felicity of the hymenial state. Fergie has done faithful work on the Mission Fields, which leads us to predict for him a career of Christian usefulness.