

The Magazine of American History.

Illustrated. $5 a year.

With the January number was begun the fifteenth volume of this monthly periodical. With the May number it entered upon its Fourth Year under the present editorial management. It deals with every problem in American history from the most remote period to the present hour. Its contributions are from the pens of the ablest and most accomplished and agreeable writers, and they are timely and diversified, frosh, scholarly, useful and captivating.

Its readers have multiplied until it now has the largest circulation of any magazine of its character in the world. The quality of its subscription list is exceptional—an array of well-known names representing the wealth, scholarship, taste, and refinement of the United States, with notable additions from Canada, England, France, Australia and South America. It goes into the schools, colleges, and libraries of the country, and is recognized as an educating power.

This magazine holds the highest rank in the current literature of the time. The monthly numbers, gathered into handsomely bound volumes, form a unique and valuable library in themselves of the history of the country.

WHAT IS SAID OF IT.

"It is carefully read by the great majority of our public men—in the various departments at Washington, and by State and municipal officials everywhere—and, as in no other monthly periodical, the former politics, policy, and measures of the government are intelligently discussed for the benefit of present affairs. It now ranks with the best and numbers its readers by thousands."—New York Sun.

"It develops unexpected resources as it goes on. It has been made popular and prosperous without infringing upon its historical character."—Boston Herald.

"This magazine has taken its place among the foremost of our richly illustrated monthlies, and is among the first in value, variety and interest."—The Living Church, Chicago.

"Its articles are all valuable, evincing good judgment in the selection of subjects, and fruitful original research in their elucidation, while the variety renders each number exceedingly interesting to a very wide range of readers."—Scientific American.

"This magazine increases in value and interest with every number, and is an honour to American periodical literature."—New York Observer.

"Mrs. Lamb is making of this magazine one of the best periodicals in America."—New York Tribune.

"We know of no magazine of history which keeps so close to topics of interest to the reader of to-day as the MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY."—Hartford Post.
