

and to reconcile competing regional interests in matters under federal jurisdiction. We do not argue that regional differences would disappear, but we do believe that the system for resolving them would be much improved and that regional tensions would be less troublesome.