New York City.

My dear Dr. Vincent:-

The other day I signed a letter addressed to you in which I asked you to come to Montreal some time in January to open a series of lectures which is being arranged by the Department of Social Service of McGill University.

This Department is growing and every day playing a more important part in the solution of the social problems in Montreal. It would mean a great deal to us and to the public if you would consent to deliver the opening address.

I think my last letter asked you to dine with me the evening of the lecture. What I should have done, and in this request Lady Currie joins me, is to invite you to be our guest while you are in Montreal.

Yours faithfully,
