That Grain Case. That Grain Case.

The farmers who have business in the market, and those who are interested in the buying and selling of grain, are apparently fully alive to their interests, as well as the Board of Trade, as they have called a meeting for Saturday afternoon next at 2 o'clock, at the Albion Hotel, to discuss the resolutions to early passed by the Board of Trade. It is expected that there will be a large and influential gathering of farmers. Mr. Duncan, the Reeve of York Township, will preside.

Coming Price of Wheat.

The question as to what is the actual outlook for wheat is a difficult one to answer. The United States Government's estimates have probably settled with some approach to accuracy one part of the problem of this year's international demand and supply. But the other parts of the question are still involved in uncertainty. The indeterminate points of chief significance are whether the new crop news of Europe will be sufficient to meet home requirements; whether any surplus will remain for replenishing the now depleted reserve stores in European granaries, and what proportion of the Indian and Russian crops, which are the most powerful competitors in the European market, will be available for shipment. Upon these questions depend the size of the demand for the American wheat surplus and the ultimate price of the Canadian and United States product. Now, it is conceded that from present prospects, the European harvests promise to be much larger than in 1897. It is certain, therefore, that European countries w'll come much nearer to supplying their own requirements than in the case a year ago. On the other hand, it's ilkely that the reduction in the import demand thus resulting will be offset by the extra demand for the purpose of recouping reserve stocks. But between a demand for providing against future needs there is ob-Coming Price of Wheat.

or other contries, the other case, it has no such meaning. The possible difference in the purpose of this year's European demand involves the possibility that the dictation of the price of wheat may be shifted from this country to Europe. The announcement that Leiter's affairs have been so arranged that his cash wheat will not be dumped on the market created a better feeling on the grain market in Chicago to-day, and when a fair demand was reported at interior points a slight raily in prices occurred. million. We believe the break over, and that the market will continue strong at least for a short time, and perhaps obtain quite an advance from low point. Crop conditions will, of course, be a potent factor in the price of the speculative futures. Corn has been very strong. There was more rain over the West last night, and showers predicted for the next 36 hours. The corn is so badly in need of cultivaking now that each day's delay will be damaging. Crop reports this morning were generally discouraging. There has been good buying to-day, both by shorts and builts. The situation is in favor of holders, as the decline has undoubtedly caused heavy liquidation, and there will be a disposition on the part of those who have sold out to replace their lines if the market shows continued strength, and there is not a change for the better in the weather.

Provisions—There has been a fairly active trade in provisions. Packers were good buyers and there was also good buying on the part of scaipers, influenced by the strength in corn. Wheat—The report that all the Lelter cash wheat will be turned over to Armour, and that it will be sold in a manner so as to secure the best possible prices without depressing the market, was probably the chief element of strength in the speculative market, causing a fair amount of buying, both by shorts and other traders. Since it became known on Monday that Leiter had been liquidating his speculative holdings, and his cash wheat would likely go into the hands of a trustee, the general speculative trade has been fearful of a possible dumping process. With the wheat, however, in strong hands, it has caused a firmer feeling all around, and confidence seems to be returning. There is a good demand for cash wheat on this break, both at interior points and at the seaboard, and the Northwest reports an improved flour trade. Cables reported steady markets, both in England and on the Continent, and it is quite likely that the break will bring a renewed European demand, Recelpts light, both in the Northwest and at primary markets, and clearances large, nearly half a Wednesday Evening, June 15.

Weakness continued to characterize the Wall-street stock market to-day. There seemed to be heavy pressure from bears who used every possible rumor to hammer the list. The resignation of the French Cabinet, Germany's alleged interterence in regard to the Philippines and the reported set-back of American mariues near Santiago. The bond issue and the Leiter anair were also factors. The weakness in Sugar caused by the success of the Hawaiian annexation resolution in Congress was also reflected by other stocks. Those looking for lower prices are, moreover, arguing that if the western wheat crop is over large prices will be so low as to minimize transportation in coming nonths, which would have a detrimental effect on Grangers. At the close to-day the decline in leading stocks since yesterday was in the neighborhood of one point.

In London American rails receded further, C.P.R. showing a loss at the close of ½ for the day, St. Paul a loss of a point and others losses of ½ to ½.

Canadian securities were very inactive to-day. Bids for most stocks on the list.

New York Gossip.

New York Gossip.

Henry A. King & Co., 12 King-street east, received the following despatch to-day from New York:

London bouses continue on the buyers' side in the day's stock market, though to a very moderate extent. This ordinarily effective circumstance carried little weight in to-day's market. Prices continued to decline, and the trade lacked snap and animation. The market was under constant pressure, not only from the nagging of the room traders, but the larger outside operators were also ranged on the bear side. The shibboleth of the latter was the alleged apprehension regarding the position of our land force in Cuba, and the collapse of the wheat deal at Chicago was also exploited to the same end. The weakness in Sugar was also a help in unsettling the market for other stocks. The scilling in that instance was attributed to the prohable passage of Hawalian annexation resolution, and the same factor caused a lively upturn in Hawalian Sugar stock. The decline in the standard stocks approximated one point. There was no particular news on any of them, although the relative steadiness of C.C.C. was again attended by reports that the company was arranging for valuable connections in the middle Western States. Manhattan was also strong in the early dealings, but yielded linter on with the general market. The market closed weak, and fairly active.
