I regret that he is ill, but the constitution al practice is that when a minister is not able to take his place in the house he ought to vacate the position both in his own interests and that of the coun try. I regret that the minister of the interior (Mr. Sifton) was not i his place at the time when these pro-vincial rights, which he held to be most dear to the people of Manitoba, were being assailed. I recollect when that hon, gentleman went up to the Province of Ontario and told the peo-ple of Haldimand that of all things the people of Manitoba did not want separ-ate schools imposed upon them or re-medial legislation imposed upon them.

He came to the Province of Ontario for sympathy on that score and he got it. But now, if we are to believe the right hon, gentleman's organ, all that is to be taken back, the school lands are to be diverted from their proper purpose and the right hon, gentleman is bound, if he carries out what he promised, to introduce this session an act to remedy the school grievances of the minority of Manitoba, If any such thing be attempted, a wrong will be done, the provincial rights will be taken away and to day in the absence of the two hon, gentlemen to whom I especially referred I rise to protest against a policy outlined by the right hon, gentleman in connection with these matters. I move that the house be now adjourned."

Sir Wilfrid in Reply. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied: "This motion to adjourn was only made to bring up such a remarkable question as this, if I may so term it." He compared Mr. Maclean to a Don Quixote running after windmills. It was absurd to say on the basis of Le Solell's observations, that the government intended a remedial bill for the Province of Manitoba. There wasn't a scintilla in the article anyhow to justify such a deduction."

because the proposal about to be made here is of a most far-reaching character. Not only the school lands of Manitoba but also the whole educational fund of that province is to be changed by a general act which must follow from what was said here the other day. I draw the attention of the right hon, gentleman to this. If the semportant changes are to be made on the lines of what has been declared ous, then it follows that remedial legislation must follow that remedial legislation must follow, to be in troduced in this house by the right hon. gentleman who warned the country gentleman who warned the country gentleman who warned the country and the public in a certain measure tangened by the leading newspatilise which I know of, where it is all outlined that the public school lands and outle which I know of, where it is all outlined that the public school lands in relation to education are to be interfered with.
