FRENCH COLONIALS DOING GOOD WORK

Paris, July 22.—French colonial troops played a conspicuous part in the latest offensive along the River Somme. Immediately before the action, Lieut. Col. L... told his men they were going to measure arms with a powerful and well-armed enemy, but he said, "I have seen you at work and know I can count on you. Good luck. Forward." Not long afterwards his men, in an impetuous assault, captured three lines of German trenches, two machine guns and more than 800 prisoners.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

"PEG O' THE RING" AT NIGHTS ALSO

Imperial Theatre Accedes to Numerous Requests From Adult Patrons: Starts Monday and Tuesday

For the past five weeks the Imperial has been delighting the stay-at-home children of the city (and many suburban children for that matter) with the special summer serial "Peg o' the Ring." It is another of the popular Universal Co. brand with daring Grace Cunard and venturesome Francis Ford playing the leading roles. Kiddies are flocking to the theatre every Monday and Tuesday afternoons in capacity crowds for the numerous requests and run "Peg o' the Ring" at the evening sessions as well as the matinees. Therefore, on Monday and Tuesday of next week this running thrilling and continually exciting story of circus life will be picked up at the sixth chapter and kept going until early in September.

In a word, "Peg o' the Ring" is nothing short of a big weekly circus, just as if Barnum & Bailey had set up their canvas city on the Lacapere grounds, as they did here several years ago. It is an entirely new idea, and if you have any doubts as to its attractiveness, just casually ask any youngster you may happen to meet on the street, what he or she thinks of "Peg o' the Ring." You'll very seldom find the kiddies handling out the wrong dope on a serial story.

As far as the story has gone (five episodes), it tells how LaBelle LeBeur, fearless trainer of tigers, is attacked by her own wild animals during a performance.

Annapolis, N. S., July 21.—At the preliminary hearing of the case of Mrs. Amos Warren for the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Anna Taylor, held in Justice Vroom's court at Clementsport, Dr. Finn, of Halifax, who was sent by the attorney-general, reported the body had been exhumed, but owing to the state of decomposition, he was unable to find any traces of poisoning and as there was no direct evidence to connect the accused with endeavoring to put an end to Mrs. Taylor, with whom she was living, the case failed and Mrs. Warren was set at liberty.

The death of Mrs. Alexander Reid occurred on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James
