ICE RACING

Frederickton Ice Races.
(Frederickton Gleaner.)

The Frederickton Driving Club's matinee on the ice path on the river yesterday did not produce the good sport expected. In fact there was only one of the regularly scheduled classes raced, and it had but two starters. There were other brushes, but they excited little interest, although the owners of several colts trotters had considerable fun.

In the Class A event Billy J. owned by J. K. Sullivan, won over A. M. Gibson's Lady Wilkes in straight heats. The fastest time was 38.1-4. A. E. Quarterman drove the winner, while Bert Lant handled Lady Wilkes.

HOCKEY

N. H. A. Results.

In Montreal last night the Wanderers defeated Toronto 11 to 8. In Toronto the Ontarios won from Ottawa, 5 to 3.

In Quebec, after fifty minutes overtime, the home team defeated the Canadiens four goals to three.

RING

News of the Boxers

Battling Nelson's publicity agent, who is John R. Robinson, is certainly presenting new dope in order to keep the old batter in the limelight. His latest, which he sends to the Boston Globe, reads as follows:

"Battling Nelson is going to law to protect his name. The Durable Dane declares he is sick and tired of all kinds of fighters hooking the name 'Battling' to themselves, and he proposes to hold for himself the name he made famous through eighteen years of the hardest work ever accorded any champion.

"Battling" is Nelson's real name, being handed to him at the altar, and being a favorite name among the Danes. He believes he has an exclusive right to it, and that the other ringmen, more or less reputable who have appropriated it should be enjoined and prevented from using it."

Danny Morgan, who manages "Battling" Levinsky, will be the first one Nelson will go after, according to the letter, but it is hardly likely such a step will be taken.

Joe Jeannette is getting some of the easy game in New York. He deserves to, for Jeannette has been boxing the toughest in the world and always puts up a good bout.

A Cincinnati promoter wants to sign Gunboat Smith and Jim Flynn for a bout on Jan. 25.

One Round Hogan of California, who is back again in New York, is trying to break into the ring where the big money is given for boxing.

Jeffries May Train Willard

James J. Jeffries on Monday denied that he had been signed to train Jess Willard for his fight with Johnson. "I have made no arrangements whatever to handle Willard, but it won't do any harm to say that I will consider an offer to take care of Jess," said Jeffries. "It may be that Johnson has gone back and that Willard will be lucky enough to win the heavy weight title. I sincerely hope so."

Shugrue After Welsh

It is the intention of Pete Fitzgerald, manager of Joe Shugrue, to force Freddie Welsh into a decision contest with this charge after the outcome of the Shugrue-Cross bout. Fitzgerald will post a $5,000 forfeit with a prominent sporting man of New York, as a guarantee to make any weight Welsh may name and a like amount will be posted as a side bet provided the contest is for twenty rounds or more.

BILLIARDS

Hoppe Defeats Inman

Willie Hoppe, world's billiard champion, defeated Melbourne Inman, English champion, in St. Louis, Mo., Monday at 18.2 billiards, 800 to 48. High runs and averages: Hoppe, 127; 93 6-15, Inman, 71 4.

Former Champion Dead

Parker A. Byers, one time three cushion billiard champion of the world, associate of Jacob Schaffer, George Sisson and Frank Ives, died at his home in Lafayette, Ind., this week aged 63. He had played professional billiards for 46 years. When Hoppe, the present champion, was starting his career, he came often to consult Byers.

BASEBALL

Lowell Team For Sale

The Lowell team of the New England League will change hands before the season of 1915 begins. Andrew F. Roach and James J. Kennedy, the owners announced their holdings for sale, preferably to Lowell men, but to outsiders if Lowell men are not prepared to buy. The death of James J. Gray, manager of the team, and business interests demanding more of their time, are given as reasons for the withdrawal of the owners.

Signs With Yanks

Cleveland, Jan. 13.—Roger Peckinpaugh has signed a three year contract to play with the New York American League team. His signature was secured by Manager Bill Donovan, of the New York club. Both Peckinpaugh and Donovan declined to state the salary involved. Peckinpaugh has been a hold-out because the New York club did not meet the salary he demanded.

Joe Tinker of the Chicago Federals, made an unsuccessful bid for Peckinpaugh's services.

To Train In Georgia

After a lapse of two years, one spent in Bermuda, the other in Texas, the Yankees are about to return to their first love. Donovan has about decided to train his outfit in Georgia. Donovan is not in favor of a long training trip. He has a notion that six weeks of real work should be enough. And so he will arrange to have his athletes report at Savannah around March 1.

FOOTBALL

English Cup Finals

At a special meeting of the English Football Association in London on Monday it was decided owing to the public hostile attitude toward professional football in the South of England, to take the final tie of the English Cup, scheduled for April 24, away from London. This will be the first time in twenty-one years that such a thing has happened. Where the final will be played depends largely on the clubs taking part. Likely the choice will be made from Birmingham, Manchester, Liverpool, and Sheffield.

BOUT A DRAW

Gallet and Ramsey in Exhibition in McDonald's Gymnasium Last Night

A large number of boxing and wrestling fans assembled in McDonald's gymnasium last night to see exhibitions by local talent and members of McDonald's class.

The wrestling match between two Bulgarians, James Seymour and George Delevich, was a disappointment, as the former met with an accident a few minutes after time was called. He seized his opponent and threw him to the mat, and while doing so struck his head, sustaining a gash over his right eye. Owing to the accident the match was called off.

A preliminary boxing exhibition between Clare Mullins and James Steen resulted in a victory for the former after four well contested rounds.

The semi-final between Harry Harley and J. Buckley was a disappointment. It was to have gone six rounds, but was called at the end of the fourth as Harley tore one of his gloves. The first round was listless, but the rest became more animated. Harley was awarded the decision. He then said that he would box anybody in the city at 120 pounds.

The final bout between Saul Gallet and William Ramsey was the feature

EDDIE COLLINS' GOOD RECORD

Quick Thinking, Brainy Player—Wonderful Hitter, Fielder and Base Runner

Eddie Collins was born in Millertown, N. Y., on May 2, 1887. He entered Columbia College, New York, in 1903 and at once made the "varsity" team, playing shortstop. He wore the Sky Blue and White up to 1906, being elected captain for 1907. During the summer of 1907 he was declared ineligible. He then played on independent teams up in New England. While there word of his ability was brought to Manager Mack and the latter secured his signature to a contract. After trials in both infield and outfield during 1907 and 1908 he in the spring of 1910 found his right position at second base. Collins is of the type of the quick-thinking, brainy player, constantly outguessing the opposition, whether he is at bat or in the field. His wonderful hitting, grand fielding and sensational base running were a big factor in the Athletics winning the world's championship in 1910 and 1911.

He had a large part in bringing the American league championship to Philadelphia last season and his timely hitting speed on the paths, and steady running, with his side partner, "Lefty" Barry resulted in many a winning bracket for the Mackmen. Collins is now a man of family owning a handsome home at Landowne, Pa.

Collins' Record

Year	G.	Fielding	Batting
1909	47	344	273
1910	132	967	346
1911	153	970	322
1912	132	966	285
1913	153	955	346
1914	148	949	344
1915	152	970	344

event of the evening. It went seven rounds to a draw, much to the dissatisfaction of the spectators; the majority of whom kept calling for Ramsey. The fifth was in fact the last round, as the proper decision under the circumstances. It was an excellent exhibition of boxing on the part of both contestants, Ramsey demonstrating experience and ring generalship versus youth and stamina combined with science on the part of his opponent.

The first three rounds were even. Each boxer cleverly covered, ducked and dodged many blows. The fourth was Ramsey's as he showed a flash of his old time form and won the round on points. The fifth was in fact the last round, as he began to mix it and thus gained the advantage. The sixth was also in his favor, as youth and stamina were beginning to tell. The seventh was a draw.

Gallet deserves credit for his exhibition against a past master of the art. He is young and possesses ability and should make rapid strides. On the other hand Ramsey proved himself worthy of his record. He is several years the senior of his opponent and also had to concede him several pounds in weight. He only recently recovered from a severe cold, which hindered him considerably in his training.

A Braintree resident is said to have hidden a sum of money in a pocket of some old trousers which his wife later gave away to the Salvation Army. The man hastened after the roll, but found that the trousers had been given away. They were located, however, and the new owner was surprised to see a fat roll of bills extracted from his pocket.

BRITISH TENNIS PLAYERS AT FRONT

Followers of International Matches
Enrolled in His Majesty's Service

Almost every prominent British tennis expert known to the followers of international matches is enrolled in some branch of His Majesty's service. A. F. Wilding, obtained a commission in the Royal Marines early in the war and was in the division that went to the relief of Antwerp. He has since been made a first lieutenant. The champion, Norman Brookes, has been unable to serve but he has given an ambulance to the army and is hopeful of being able to join the army himself later.

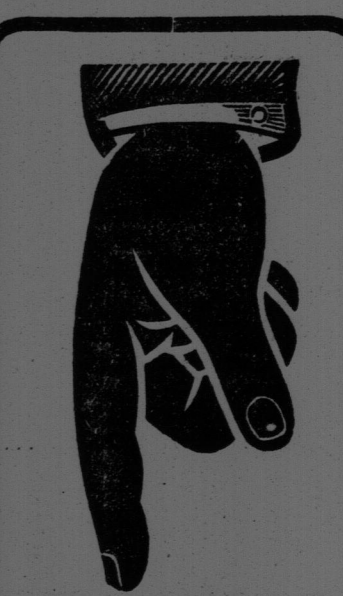

It is a striking fact that the four players who represented England in the last Davis Cup matches are all serving their country in various capacities. J. C. Parke holds a commission in the Munsters, A. H. Lowe is a captain in the Oxfordshire Light Infantry, A. R. Kingscote is in the artillery and was in the battle of the Aisne, and T. M. Mavrogordato is in the Public School corps. G. W. Hillyard, the secretary of the All-England Lawn Tennis Club, usually foremost in the management of the annual championships at Wimbledon, is a lieutenant-commander in the royal navy. Of other players well known, C. F. Dixon and A. B. Barrett, younger brother of H. Roper Barrett, A. E. Beamish, A. W. Dunlop and C. Hartley are enrolled in different regiments.

Of the French international players Max de Kergis, M. A. R. Gobert, Canet, Ayne and Micard are in service with the army.

Of the German players Frothingham and Kreuser, who represented their country in the United States last summer, are prisoners of war at Gibraltar. There is surely little prospect of any international tennis next summer if the war continues till then.

The camel is said to be the only animal that cannot swim. It is an extraordinary fact that the moment it loses its footing a stream it turns over and makes no effort to save itself from drowning.

taken to the Moncton hospital yesterday after sustaining severe injuries when a brood of logs gave way. His back was broken.
