

of our body, and to those of the cause of God generally, in this country, yet freedom of debate has, for the most part, led to an unanimous decision. Never before has an equal amount of business, so intimately connected with our prosperity, been transacted in one of our Annual Conferences; to sum up the whole in one statement, the people (both Ministers and Laymen) "had a mind to work."

During the past year our General Superintendent has, in the absence of a regular supply, been to a great extent occupied with the Toronto Station. This, of course, circumscribed his efforts among the Churches; but now, being freed from this engagement, and in view of an assistant Superintendent, whose coming among us we hail with the greatest pleasure, we doubt not but renewed energy and efficiency will characterize the efforts both of Superintendents and Missionaries.

And now, dear Brethren and Fathers, in view of the extensive fields already white unto harvest, the additional labourers whom you propose to send to this country, to join our Missionary band; and in anticipation of that pecuniary aid which your past liberality warrants us in expecting, we rejoice to state that our prospects of future success, exceed those of any former period of our history. And we are confident, that, were it in our power to enlist the energies of double the number of Missionaries now engaged, the accumulated host of standard bearers would find ample room for benevolent and successful exertion. But, small though we be among the thousands of Judah, we are resolved never to quit the field, or cease to toil and pray until our agents are engaged in breaking the bread of life, not only in every town and populous district, but wherever the woodman's ax resounds. Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the Lord may make us glad according to the days wherein he hath afflicted us, and the years wherein we have seen evil. May the good work of the Lord appear unto his servants, and his glory unto their children: may the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and may he establish the work of our hands upon us.

Signed on behalf of the Conference.
