THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS

Views of Canadian Correspondent to English Journal

Manchester Guardian Gives Prominence to Article on the Association and Mr. Fielding's Tariff.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The Manchester Guardian gives much prominence to the long and tedious onslaught on the Canadian manufacturers from a Canadian correspondent, who may very likely be one of the best known professors of McGill University, whose writings often appear in the Guardian. He says the manufacturers impose a system of class rule of artificial predominance upon the Canadian tariff and makes much fun of Mr. Fielding's free list, which includes artificial teeth, the Bible and such things.

FRANK CURRAN, AMHERST HOCKEY PLAYER, MEETS WITH SERIOUS ACCIDENT

AMHERST, Jan. 4.—Frank Curran, son of Edward Curran, while working at a portable saw mill in his father's lumber woods, had four fingers of his hand terribly mangled, and almost severed at the first joint. He was brought to Amherst and about fifty stitches were required to be taken. It is hoped that the fingers may be saved although one of them only hung by a shred of skin. Frank, or as he is better known as "Hot" in hockey circles, is the celebrated cover-point of the Ramblers hockey team and his friends throughout the province will regret to hear of his unfortunate accident which will effectively bar him from playing this winter if not permanently.

HALIFAX FISHERMEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

HALIFAX, Jan. 4.—Thos. Burgoine, aged 23, and Isaac Burgoine, aged 21, sons of James Burgoine, North-west Cove, St. Margaret's Bay, lost their lives while overhauling their lobster traps today. A heavy gale swept down over the bay today, and it is supposed the boat was capsized in a squall. Their bodies, badly battered, were found on the shore tonight. The bodies have not been recovered.

MCGILL PROFESSOR GOES TO MANCHESTER

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—Another compliment has been paid McGill University by the selection of Professor Ernest Rutherford to succeed Professor Schuster as Langworthy professor, and director of physical laboratories at Manchester University. Prof. Rutherford arrives in Manchester in the early summer and begins the professorship in October.

The Guardian, in an editorial, says: The distinguished position of the university among active centres of scientific investigation is safe in Professor Rutherford's hands.

At a meeting of the McGill governors this afternoon the resignation of Professor Rutherford was accepted with much regret.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—The James Walker hardware firm celebrated its 50th anniversary by placing the firm the basis of employees' co-operation.

The president and manager are James Walker and D. S. Walker, but the management will be really in the hands of Max Hill and a board of directors.

MRS. MASON AND HER SECRETARY ARE NOW AT WINDSOR, ONT.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 4.—Mrs. Mason, who recently came from England via St. John, with her "secretary," D. L. MacKay, of local "Flying Roll" fame, has arrived here, and is at the "God House" of the sect in this city. She says she is in this country to redeem the entire continent to the order of "New Eyes," of which she is a high priestess, and that if the cash balance of fifty million dollars will do it the order will be heard from. Mrs. Mason says she owns property in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and other American cities. She plans to build a temple and altars of Israel on earth on property which she has already bought near Kingston, overlooking Lake Ontario.

INTERNATIONAL WATERWAYS COMMISSION CONCLUDE A HARMONIOUS TWO DAY'S SESSION

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—Cawthra Mulock, son of Sir William Mulock, has just given ten thousand dollars to Toronto Hospital for sick children.

The international waterways commission concluded a two-day session today and reached an agreement on the Lake Erie boundaries question, as a treaty announced. Today a complete agreement was come to on the canal drainage scheme for Chicago, by which that city is to be allowed to take a fixed quantity of water daily from Lake Michigan. Both agreements were signed by all commissioners, but they positively refused to state the terms of agreements which will go to both governments.

SILVER WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. RISING

Yesterday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Rising. Mrs. Rising was the recipient of numerous gifts in the shape of pieces of silver ware. The gifts were presented by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rising in this province was a handsome loving cup from the employees of the firm of Waterbury & Rising. Like all loving cups, this has three handles and is a silver-plated. An excellent example of the silversmith's art. The cup bears the following inscription:

"To Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Rising on the 25th anniversary of their wedding from the employees of Waterbury & Rising."

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN HOSPITAL RULES

At the meeting of the hospital commissioners held yesterday afternoon plans of the architect for the proposed new operating room were inspected and the architect instructed to have specifications prepared. While no definite action has yet been taken, the architect practically arranged that the Owen Jones bequest will be used for this purpose. The idea is to establish a memorial for the hospital's benefactor. No action was taken regarding the appointment of a superintendent, it having been found difficult to secure a suitable man.

QUEBEC PHYSICIAN BURNED TO DEATH

QUEBEC, Jan. 4.—Advices have been received in this city of the tragic death at New Richmond, county of Bonaventure, of Dr. Thornton. It appears a lighted lamp with the doctor carried exploded, the oil saturating his clothing and the latter catching fire. Smoke overcame the physician and the house taking fire was reduced to ashes, Dr. Thornton perishing in the flames.

NEWFOUNDLAND REVENUE

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 4.—The colonial revenue for the six months ending Dec. 31st is nearly $50,000 in excess of the revenue for the corresponding period of 1905. Imports and exports are proportionately larger and the total volume of trade for the last six months of 1906 exceeded by $150,000 the total for the same half year of 1905. This showing marks the best annual return in the history of the colony. The total trade of Newfoundland now amounts to $28,000,000 annually, or $100 per head population.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—The chief of police has stopped the performance of A Dream of Egypt, which was given at the Moulin Rouge last night, with the Marquise De Morny in the principal role.

MAN WHO SAYS HE IS FROM ST. JOHN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE IN LYNN

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 4.—Henry Copley, aged eighteen, a native of St. John, who has resided here about six months, attempted to end his earthly troubles yesterday by drinking muriatic acid. Fortunately he was found shortly after he had taken the poison, and was rushed to the Lynn hospital, where heroic measures were resorted to in order to save his life. After he had recovered sufficiently to be able to talk he was interviewed. Copley says he came here from St. John with the hope of improving his health and securing a position as a leather worker. His expectations did not turn out as he had hoped. He has been melancholy for several months and recently became very despondent, but was not considered in a dangerous condition by his friends here. Many times he has been heard to say that the struggle for bread was a bitter one, and hardly worth while, and after due consideration he decided to stop all suffering. His restless nature unfortunately today, and unless new developments arise he will escape from the tragic end he so rashly planned.

INDUSTRIAL HOME INMATES MADE HAPPY

The boys who are now inmates of the Industrial Home at Croucheville were given the time of their lives last night. About sixty ladies and gentlemen drove out from the city for the annual entertainment and Christmas tree celebration. A very interesting programme was carried out by the boys, showing the results of calisthenics, the superintendent and the resident school teacher.

After the programme was concluded the gifts, which were hung on a magnificent Christmas tree, were presented to the boys. Then the youngsters were given a bountiful supper and refreshments were served to the guests.

The programme which was given by the boys, assisted by Mr. Pearce, the superintendent, and the little daughter Marjorie, was as follows: Chorus, The Maple Leaf; New Year's recitation, John Watson, Carol, Arise, Arise, W. S. Pritchard, chaplain of the institution; Rev. D. Lang, L. P. D. Tilley, Miss McLellan, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Lady Tilley and H. J. Smith.

Reference was made in the speech to the eminently satisfactory way in which the institution is now being conducted and to the advances it has made under the management of Wm. Pearce, the present superintendent.

The big Christmas tree, which was beautifully decorated and loaded with gifts, was despoiled and each boy received his share of the good things.

STRICT RULES FOR MEAT VEHICLES

The slaughter house commissioners held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, and besides the routine business drew up a regulation in regard to vehicles used for carrying meat from the slaughter houses to the city market or elsewhere, must fill up, sign and file with the commissioners an application in the form or to the effect that the vehicle is clean and in filling up and signing such form all blanks must be fully and truthfully filled up according to the true intent of the license.

The license for vehicles is valid for one dollar a year, beginning on the first day of May of each year. Failure to keep such vehicles clean and orderly will result in cancellation of license. No tallow or hides shall be carried to or from any slaughter house in the same vehicle with meat for consumption.

The report of the inspector was read. He found the slaughter houses to be in good condition and reported that 1,388 animals had been killed during the month.

H. J. ANDERSON NOW OPERA HOUSE MANAGER

The recently appointed directors of the Opera House met yesterday afternoon and appointed as the managing committee for the year A. O. Skinner, John Mitchell, and W. A. McNieley. The office of secretary, made vacant by the resignation of J. Fred Payne, was filled by the appointment of A. E. McGinley, while the office of manager, made vacant through the death of J. F. Dockrill, was filled by the appointment of the present acting manager, H. J. Anderson.

VANCOUVER AWAKENS WITH NEW ENERGY

Advent of Another Transcontinental Acts as Tonic to Capitalists and Miners.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 4.—One of the most remarkable features of the last few weeks has been the awakening of the new north of British Columbia, or, as some people less picturesquely style it, the new Central British Columbia. The establishment of Prince Rupert as the Pacific terminus of the new Pacific terminus of the new transcontinental and the laying out of the line from the Rockies to the Coast have given new energy to a wonderful country that has been languishing for the railway.

Provincial Mineralogist Robertson, who has recently visited the section of the province that the line will traverse, says the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific will attract the eyes of the world to the new region where already Heine, the Guggenheims, and other far-seeing Americans are making large investments. In the Telqua district, he remarks, are large deposits of coal that are bound to be developed with the advent of transportation facilities.

Speaking of the past year's mineral output of British Columbia, Mr. Robertson says there has been a growth of two millions, as compared with 1905. This means that the value of the ore produced in the past twelve months is over $24,000,000, which constitutes a new record for the province. There is a much improved condition in all the mining camps.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY TO CHARITY

Mr. Carnegie Heads the List in the Distribution of Wealth

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—It is estimated by the Chicago Tribune that a total of $108,863 was given in bequests in 1906. This total does not include contributions to charity in the general sense, but only such donations and bequests as have been published in the daily papers and do not touch contributions under $1,000.

As compared with former years, the record stands thus: 1901 (the record breaking year), $122,333,732; 1902, $77,397,180; 1903, $78,634,973; 1904, $46,236,380; and 1905, $104,588,422. The donations for 1906 amounted to $1,173,993, and the bequest to $16,305,793. The total was distributed as follows: To educational institutions, $32,492,636; to charities, $49,397,615; to religious organizations, $5,740,000; to museums, art galleries and public improvements, $18,349,700; and to libraries, $1,704,617.

As usual, Mr. Carnegie is the most conspicuous figure in this distribution. His donations amount to $11,940,000, which is $8,564,709 less than the total of $20,498,300. He has private buildings for seventeen libraries, at a cost of $273,000, as compared with fifteen libraries at a cost of $180,000 last year, and has given $1,167,000 to forty-four small colleges, as compared with $2,765,700 to 144 colleges last year. His gifts amount to churches, as reported, are $10,325, as compared with $11,825 in 1905.

John D. Rockefeller falls behind in this list. His contributions, his contributions amounting to only $7,085,000, as compared with $11,620,000 in 1905.

A new philanthropist, Russell Sage, appears. Her gifts thus far are small, amounting to $25,200 for schools, $16,000 to the church, and $1,000 to charity. It is interesting to note that she will make some large donations in 1907.

JAPANESE USE DYNAMITE FOR KILLING FISH

Have Caught on to European Poaching Ideas and are Making Trouble in China.

PEKING, January 5.—A curious incident has arisen here in connection with a bomb explosion that occurred some days ago in Peking by which some persons are reported to have been killed and some injured. According to the Chinese press, the Japanese placed a bomb under the ice in the city moat outside one of the gates for the purpose of killing fish. They warned the people not to touch it. Some Chinese removed the bomb and took it home where it exploded. Accounts agree that the Japanese returned on the following day with another bomb but were arrested by the police. The manner in which Japanese pick up from Europe and America can not better be illustrated than in connection with this particular incident. Of course for many years it has been known that when explosives are fired in the water all of the fish within a considerable radius are either killed or stunned. This used to be a favorable method of sport in some parts of Belgium where several rivers were denuded of fish by the practice of quarymen and others in firing dynamite cartridges in the street.

MANY BOGUS TITLES ARE USED IN ENGLAND

Whitaker's Almanac Tells of How These Are Adopted by People Desiring Notoriety.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A pointed reference to the many bogus users of the title of baronet is made in the preface to Whitaker's peerage for 1907.

"There are possibly a few among the aspirants to the dignity of a baronet," says the editor, "who are genuinely entitled to the style which they claim, but taking them in the bulk it is evidently safe to say that those who are not downright impostors are the deluded victims of an impractical idea."

"The modus operandi of these latter is apparently this: They become aware of a lapsed baronetcy of their own surname, the last holder of which was either certainly or possibly a relative. No one else has assumed the title, so why should not they?"

"The other class believing that a baronet title makes them a standing or secure them longer credit from tradesmen hunt up some name in Burke's 'Extinct Baronetcies' (if it does not make sense to them, what is easier than to make it such?) give it out that the latest holder died a son or a daughter whose name was never registered, and from that son or brother themselves are descended."

"Servants and shopkeepers have perforce to give them the title and thus a fictitious title is secured which probably suffices for the main purpose of most of them."

Another passage from the preface is amusing.

"During the past autumn," the editor writes, "we have forwarded between two and three thousand proofs to peers, baronets, widows and others. From a large number of these we have received the most valuable and courteous information."

"On the other hand there are those who never return a proof, accompanied with it is with a stamped envelope, and there are others who apparently only because of that, develop without making a stroke or appending the word, 'correct.'"

"One elderly peer takes the pains to send us this fatherly admonition, 'Would it not save your time and postage if you looked at the published roll of the house of lords?'"

HOW AUSTRALIA TREATS IMMIGRANTS

The Unfair Reception to Farmer Taylor Will Not Impress Favorably Many New Settlers.

SYDNEY, Jan. 5.—An instance of how the emigration authorities in New South Wales treat intending settlers has just come to light. It appears that in March and April last the agent general of New South Wales in London informed a man named Taylor of Farm, Kinbury, Berkshire, that there would be no difficulty in Taylor's finding a dairy farm under the New South Wales system of the emigration supply of land, cattle and practically everything else and taking one-half of the profits.

Relying upon this assurance Taylor sold his farm at a sacrifice intending to leave his young wife and children in England for a time, but the agent general assumed him that there would be no delay and that land was waiting for occupation and advised him to take his family with him which Taylor did.

When he arrived in Sydney the intelligence department offered Taylor a quarter share and then a third share and proceeded to New Zealand, where the Government have guaranteed him a farm on half shares.

And now the New South Wales department, despite the assurance of its agent general, has angrily written to Taylor that he is entitled to take a farm on share system lines. Owing to the fact that emigration to Australia has been at a standstill for some time, it is in fact a very bad manner in which to foster commerce and bring about an increase in the population of the Commonwealth.

RATHER A SMALL PENSION THAN A LARGE BOMB

Admiral Dubassoff Prefers Retirement to a Public Life Full of Explosions.

MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—Admiral Dubassoff, former Governor General of Moscow, who last September put down the revolt with an iron hand, was attacked in the Taurida Gardens a few nights ago by two young men who flung two bombs and fired several shots. The Admiral, who had his hair's breadth escape in Moscow some months ago was at the time only slightly wounded in the foot. The bombs turned the snow green, and everywhere within a radius of five yards, splinters, nails and bullets were thickly strewn.

The Admiral's assailants were arrested, and though he appealed to the Czar for pardon both of the young men were sentenced to death by court-martial.

Admiral Dubassoff asked why he retired from public service some time ago replied with the bon mot, "I prefer a small pension to a large bomb."

KING OF THE GYPSIES DEAD

MADRID, Jan. 5.—At Granada had died a celebrated gipsy named Chorrojuno who called himself the king of the Gypsies. He was well known to all of the English people who visited Granada, and posed as a model to many artists. Chorrojuno was photographed some time ago Queen Alexandra and by the Princess of Connaught during their last visit to Granada. Millions of picture post cards with his portrait have been sold.

STARVED FOR YEARS TO GIVE MONEY FOR EDUCATION

Buda Pesth Priest Who Left a Fortune for the Maintenance of Village Schools.

VIENNA, Jan. 5.—A typical Buda Pesth street figure, a white haired priest always poorly dressed, and with a bundle of papers under his arm was found some days ago in the early morning insensible in the streets. He was carried to the Rochus Hospital and after regaining his senses desired a priest to be called to whom he could dictate his will, which ran as follows: I bequeath my entire fortune for building and maintaining village schools. I possess 200,000 kronen deposited in the Buda Pesth banks. I have hungered and starved so that I may be able to give something to these poor creatures."

At first it was supposed that the patient spoke in delirium but his assertion proved to be correct. The bundle of papers which he was accustomed to carry about confirmed his statements and proved him to be Dr. Frank Gerlach, a doctor of theology, philosophy and law. Dr. Gerlach had been in his youth entitled to great expectations. He was first a tutor in aristocratic houses, but withdrew suddenly from society and refused a post as parish priest which was offered him. Since that time he has had no regular dwelling but has lived on bread and water. His rights he passed in a third-class waiting room of the West Station. An order came for this room to be closed at midnight and Dr. Gerlach then took rooms in the East Station which was also finally closed at midnight. He then spent his nights in the telegraph office in the window seat. An official who remarked that he sent great sums to the pope asked him why he did not rent a building. He replied that he feared that he would be murdered if he did that. Dr. Gerlach lived what was practically the life of a beggar in Buda-Pesth. Several persons gave him a weekly sum and as fast as he collected a number of coppers it was his custom to change these into silver and then change the silver into gold.

THE GARRISON OF FUN WILL BE GIDDY NO MORE

French Military Post Which Has Been Famous for the Lively Times Created There.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—General Pourquerey de Pechalves who commanded at Verdun, where there was known as "the garrison of all for fun," has been retired.

An inquiry ordered by General Picquart, minister of war, has shown that instead of attending to their duties the men were kept employed by General de Pechalves in organizing a continual round of gaudies. The general made use of the military engineering shop to supply electric light for the military club where he gave balls and brilliant entertainments. His men were kept busy in providing for the amusement of officers and for the many banquets, dances and receptions which were constantly given.

CROWN PRINCE WAS STINGY ABOUT PAYING FOR LUNCH

Railway Restaurant- Keeper Who Was Said to Have Charged Too Much Put in a Good Answer.

VIENNA, Jan. 5.—There is much comment on the action of the German Crown Prince in having a railway restaurant keeper at Wessely, a small town dismissed for overcharging a bill.

The Prince had been for a fortnight deerstalking at Gmunden and Salzkammergut and was returning to Berlin via Prague when he stopped with his suite at the station for lunch. A bill of $44 was presented and paid, but the Prince afterwards complained that the amount was too large and through the German consul at Prague the restaurant keeper was removed.

The man thereupon appealed to the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, informing him that he had even gone so far as to spend $250 in beautifying the place for the visit of the Crown Prince; had bought a new silver service and had got new coats for his waiters.

The Archduke accordingly telegraphed to the railway minister ordering the restaurant keeper to be reinstated.

MARRIAGE OR YOUR LIFE!

Oddly Enough the Widow Declined to Marry and Was Shot.

GENEVA, Jan. 5.—Marriage or your life, was the question that a man named Fritz Roth propounded to a young widow named Mme. Berger living at Moenchensheim, near Basle. The widow chose death. For several months Roth had been pursuing the widow with his attentions and received no encouragement. Madly in love with her he determined to use force, and after buying a revolver went to the widow's house and informed her that he had come to kill her if she would not accept him as her husband.

Mme. Berger was not the least frightened and asked for time to arrange her affairs and her house. This took half an hour, and then she informed Roth who followed her about with a revolver that she was ready to die. He fired two shots at her and then blew out his brains.

The widow who is seriously though not dangerously wounded, was finally removed to the hospital.
