

That Terrible Fatigue Can Be Overcome

A Simple Home Remedy Now Cures Lack of Energy, Loss of Ambition, and a Feeling of "Don't Care."

Successful in Nearly Every Case.

That miserable nervousness and half-sick, tired-all-the-time condition, is due nine cases in ten to a clogged-up system. You grow irritable and despondent, you lack ambition, energy seems all gone. Surest road to health is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will make you feel like new all over in a short time.

Writing from his home in Barcelona, Mr. Frederick G. Mayer states: "I think no one ever suffered so severely as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms were developing as a consequence of this condition of my system that I realized I must find a remedy. The strong pills of various kinds I tried seemed after their first effects, were over to make me far worse and I did not know which way to turn for relief. I saw Dr. Hamilton's Pills advertised and the first box used satisfied me. I found a true remedy. Instead of griping with undue activity, Dr. Hamilton's Pills acted naturally as if my system had not been taken. I never had to increase the dose and, indeed, within a month I reduced it, and when the system finally acted of its own accord as a result of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I took a dose twice a week only, just to make sure the old condition would not come back."

No other remedy cures constipation and biliousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are an ideal family remedy for all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold in 25c boxes, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or The Catarba Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

MARATHONS DEFEAT HOULTON SATURDAY---SCORE NINE TO SIX AT STOCKHOLM

A large crowd attended the game of ball on the Marathon grounds Saturday afternoon, and saw the Marathons defeat the Houlton team by a score of 9 to 4.

The weather was fine for the game and the City Cornet Band entertained by rendering music between the innings.

Winkler was in the box for the Marathons and for inning after inning he had the Reds at his mercy. Only three hits were made off his delivery up to the last inning when three more hits were made by the visitors.

For the first four innings neither side scored and the ball playing was fast. In the fifth inning the visitors broke the ice and made two runs.

In the sixth inning the Marathons made one run, and in the following inning with timely hits and some loose playing on the Houlton side, the Greeks totalled five more runs. The home players were not quite satisfied, for in the eighth inning they managed to pound in three additional runs. In the last inning, bases on balls and three singles gave Houlton two runs. The following is an account of the game by innings:

FIRST INNING.
Johnson hit out, second to first. Finnamore hit out to short stop. Watt struck out.

Winter went out, second to first. Williams fled out to Neptune in right field. Fraser and Pinkerton each singled to left field. Dutton fled out to McElwee at third.

FIFTH INNING.

Cooney's strike. McGovern drew to second to catch McElwee and Hammond scored. Fredette hit out, pitcher to first. Willey drew a base on balls. Johnson hit to Dutton at first who missed and McElwee scored. Finnamore hit out, third to first.

LATEST WORD FROM SPORTS AT STOCKHOLM

Stockholm, July 14.—Marathon: K. K. McArthur and W. Gilabaw, of South Africa, finished first and second; Gaston Strobino, Paterson, N. J., third; Of the Canadians, Duff finished fifth. Fourteenth: Forsythe 16th; Corkery not among the 27 reported finished.

The 100 metres sprint in the decaathlon began early in the morning. Twenty-five athletes competed and L. P. Lukeman, of Montreal secured a first place, as also did James Thorpe, Carle Indian School; Eugene L. Mercer, University of Pennsylvania; and Harry S. Babcock, Columbia University. While discussing the 100 metres flat race flat experts were unanimously of the opinion that the track was narrow turns like the one in the stadium here was unsuitable for the running of a fast sprint. In the narrow turns the possibility of crowding such as occurred yesterday in the running of the semi-mile, was always a great possibility.

Houlton won 400 metre swim breaking his own world's record made in semifinals. Time 5:24.25.

Hatfield (England), second; Hardwick, Australia, third.

Throwing the hammer, final—M. J. McGrath, New York, unattached, 54 metres 74 centimetres (180 feet, 5 inches), first; D. Gillis, Canada, 48 metres, 39 centimetres (158 feet, 2 1/2 inches), second; C. C. Childs, N. Y. A. C., 48 metres, 17 centimetres (158 feet), third.

The committee decided that only three in the decaathlon, namely, the 100 metres sprint, the running broad jump, and the weight putting should be contested today.

While these proceedings, a large number of wrestling bouts were also being contested and these the quality of the trials in the standing high jump, 10 athletes competed.

Platt Adams, Ben. Wiens, Lee Gosling and R. L. Byrd, of the United States team with the Greek Teletirras, and the Swede, Emolier, were again there with the bar at 1 meter 50 centimetres.

South Africa, which heretofore played rather a modest part in the Olympic drama, came to the centre of the stage at the moment of its culmination today in the Marathon race, the most important number of the Olympic programme. This might have been honours enough for a small nation, but South Africa also won second place by a narrow margin, by finishing second in the race, the winner of the classic Marathon was F. K. McArthur, a tall Transvaal policeman, who has never before been heard of in a similar event. His compatriot, C. W. Gilshaw, came second into the stadium several yards behind, and the American, Gaston Strobino, of the South Paterson A. C., who put up a braver fight, came to the centre of the stadium with his feet were skinned and bleeding, and he was suffering great pain. He never lost nerve though, and made a brave attempt at feeling happy while he traversed the stadium track a far long behind the second man at the end of the killing performance. The times as announced were: McArthur, 2 hours 36 minutes; Gilshaw, 4 hours 27 minutes; Strobino, 5 hours 28 minutes. The Americans gave a deathblow to the theory that the athletes of the United States are better at foot races, which require quickness and agility than in tests of endurance. Thirty thousand spectators saw the American shield the breast of six of the first ten men who entered. Two Americans fell by the wayside. Michael J. Ryan, of the Irish-American A. C., who made a good run for 19 miles, and then succumbed to the heat, and John J. Reynolds, of the same club, who fell out earlier. Sweden furnished another dozen to the race, and if their strength had been equal to their ambition they would have had a different fate to tell. They started at a great pace, the cheers of their countrymen inspiring them to exert themselves to the limit. During the first few miles they pulled forth all their powers and had nothing left to draw on when the final test came.

EIGHTH INNING.
Finnamore went out, short to first. Watt hit safe to right field. Williams followed with a single to centre. Fraser singled to centre and the bases were filled. A pass ball allowed Winkler to reach third. Pinkerton hit to pitcher. Pinkerton hit to pitcher. Dutton drew a base on balls. McGovern fled out to Finnamore in left and Pinkerton scored. Cooney hit to Dutton scored while Winter went to second. Riley hit out, short to first. Winkler hit out, short to first, and the side retired. Score, Marathons 6, Houlton 2.

NINTH INNING.

IS REGISTRAR OF TENEMENT RECORDS

What Women Are Doing—Miss Claghorn One of Five in Sixty to Pass Stiff Examinations.

New York, July 15.—For the last six years the registrar of records of the Tenement House Department of New York City has been a college woman. She is Miss Kate Holiday Claghorn, and her connection with the department dates back to 1902, when it was first established. At that time Miss Claghorn was engaged in official statistical work in Washington, having taken degrees at Bryn Mawr and at Yale not long before. The examination for the registrarship was thrown open, and Miss Claghorn presented herself to take it, as did about sixty other applicants, mostly men. The majority of these they saw the examination list, gave it a long, lingering look, and scolded but hesitatingly left the examination room. It was a highly technical list, which only an expert statistician could possibly stand up before. Of those that remained to take the examination, five passed, one of whom was Miss Claghorn. The other four were men. All five were Ph. D's.

A very little study of the city's service list will suffice to show that women are not "unnecessarily chosen" for the good places, as one city official has put it, and with four men in the way, Miss Claghorn's prospects for the registrarship did not seem bright, even after she had passed the examination. Three of the men were selected, one for registrar, two for assistants. But one of the assistants resigned, and she was put in his place. Later the registrar resigned, and she became acting registrar, and so continued until 1905. Then the authorities decreed that the examination would again be thrown open, and that Miss Claghorn would better take it over with the rest of the same kind of examination that again there were about sixty applicants. Again the ranks thinned before the volley of deadly questions. And again, Miss Claghorn passed. The only other successful candidate was a man, but not a man, who had had no experience, and Miss Claghorn, who has been running the office for some years, her superior claim was recognized. So she was finally confirmed in the office, and has held it ever since.

The Records She Keeps.
During her incumbency she has perfected a card-filing system, by means of which the history of any tenement in any of New York's five boroughs can be had for the looking. From the time an inspection is made, through correspondence about violations, down to the day the incident is closed, information as to existing conditions, with reference to every tenement building in the city is, therefore, ready at hand at a moment's notice.

Miss Claghorn has an enthusiasm for figures that once more emphasizes a belief that is rapidly gaining acceptance as a fact—that women have a mathematical gift that has been allowed to go to waste for lack of recognition and development. In Miss Claghorn's case the gift has been highly trained, and she has specialized in statistical problems with the satisfaction of the statistical mind. Just figures are not quite enough for her, however. Miss Claghorn has always been interested in social work, and has always wanted to find some way of using her statistical facilities and training in that work. She has seen social workers' efforts to correlate facts and figures, and make deductions go mainly to waste because they didn't know how to use the material they had laboriously assembled, and she has longed to spend her own technical knowledge and training in setting them right where they were wrong. Through the New York school of philanthropy her chance has come. In September she joins the faculty of that institution, and will in future devote her energies to teaching the science and the practice of statistics to those who will make use of the knowledge in practical social work.

This means that she quits the registrarship and that another woman may have a chance at it. There are some women in the department besides Miss Claghorn, but they are in subordinate positions—clerks, stenographers, and some chief clerks, or division heads—and as the department routine does not furnish positions that are stepping stones to higher positions, the next woman registrar of records, if there should be one, will have to find opportunity through the regular channels of advancement.

WEDS FIVE HOURS AFTER DIVORCE

No "Obey" in Ceremony With Man Named in Husband's Divorce Suit—Extraordinary Circumstances.

New York, July 14.—The beautiful Mrs. Helen Hilton Story, the late Judge Henry Hilton's granddaughter, was married to Stanley Forde, the actor, at Greenwich, Ct., yesterday.

Five hours before the wedding, Supreme Court Justice Edward T. Gavanagan made final the interlocutory decree of divorce which Allen Lawrence Story obtained against the wealthy girl whom he had married only four years ago. She was sixteen years old then.

Extraordinary circumstances surrounded the two marriages. Mr. Story named Mr. Forde, once his intimate friend, in his suit, and Mr. Forde, plainly very happy, yesterday, vowed he had done his best "to bring together" Mr. Story and his wife, had employed every friendly effort to prevent the divorce.

Mr. Story's attempt to effect a reconciliation with his former wife persisted almost up to the moment when the final decree was to be issued. So Mrs. Forde declared, a girl, Ruth, three years old, was awarded to Story, but the court gave the mother the privilege of visiting her once a week. Ruth is with her grandmother, Mrs. William Cummings Story, at her home, No. 34 Gramercy Park.

"I shall hug Ruthie tomorrow," said Mrs. Forde with tears in her eyes. "I must see her as usual before we sail for Europe on Saturday. She loves me the darling. When I saw her last week she said to me:

"Mama, I am coming to you when I am 14 years old."
Mrs. Story and Mr. Forde were married by the Rev. H. B. Alley, in the little parlor of the parsonage of the Greenwich Baptist church. The minister did not ask the bride to promise to "obey" her husband; to love and honor him was all he demanded. It is, perhaps, a coincidence that young Story complained in his divorce action that his wife had refused positively to obey him and that her disobedience was one of the chief causes that provoked their unhappiness.

The newly wedded couple expressed intense relief when they discovered that the minister had not dragged "the bugaboo word obey" into their marriage contract.

"At last I am married to a man whom I can admire and respect."
