Buying Seats in the Senate. The corrupt use of money in the elec-tion of United States Senators has of late dec31 years become so common as to be looked upon almost as a matter of course. In some of the newer States there is hardly Dress Materials a pretence of concealment in this infamous traffic, while in the reconstructed States in the South the negroes, scalawags, and carpet-baggers in the Legislatures have habitually sold their votes to the highest bidder who aspired to a seat in the upper House of Congress. In some other States which have been under the control of the lately dominant party, the traffic in Senatorial honors has likewise been conducted on a regular cash basis, and it is unpleasant to learn that it is urged as favorable to the chances of some of the candidates who look for their election to the Senate by Democratic Legislatures that they are able to spend money freely.—N. Y. Sun.

There is a good deal of judgment to be used about advertising. Nothing can exceed the beautiful and remunerative effect of an advertisement—not too short—in a good newspaper; and there is a kind of poetic grace lingering around "Scrodger's Bitters" and "Podger's Hair Restorative" when redly on some fence those legends appear. But of all advertisements there probably was never seen one more original and effectual than that invented by Morrison the Hygoist, and described in Dr. Granville's autobiography. Morrision, who was a millionaire, gave a magnificent ball in Paris, ended by a concert at which sang the very finest French and Italian operatic performers of that day. It was nearly daylight when the guests began to go away, and as they stepped into their carriages each received a splendid enameled card on which was to be read this interesting and ingenious reminder:

"M. Morrison remercie and begs to recommend the never-failing vegetable pills," etc.

The negotiations between the German and Spanish Governments are not progressing as favorably as expected. The Admiralty has been ordered to prepare for the despatch of three corvettes and three more gunboats to that portion of the morthern coast of Spain occupied by the Carlists—an increase of 8 vessels.

It is still hoped in Berlin that, notwithstanding the difficulties raised, Spain will admit the propriety of acceding to the German demands. A despatch from Hendaye states the German man-of-war Nautilus landed 100 men at Seranz on the Spanish coast, who occupied the blace after a short resistance by the Carlists—spanish coast, who occupied the blace after a short resistance by the Carlists—and good faith are attested by the limmense body of advertisements it receives.

The American Nevspaper Directory is an epittome of newspaper history. It is also regarded as an official register of circulations. This feature requires the closest scrutiny to prevent it from leading to abuses. The plan, adopted by the publishers of the Directory, to secure correct and trustworthy reports, is rigid in the receives and adhered to with impartiality. Successful publishers, who have something to gain by a comparison, are generally prompt, not only to send reports in conformity, but give Messrs, Geo. P. Rowell & Co. such information as enables them to weed out unsubstantiated statements of pretenders in journalism. The popularity of the book, and the general confidence in its accuracy and good faith are attested by the immense body of advertisements it receives.

NEW THING AND A GOOD THING THE invention of the paper collar was of positive benefit to the world, furnishing as it did, a neat, clean, and most economical art cle of apparel. But it never did answer all the purposes for which it was designed, owing to the trail nature of the material. The problem has been to make a cloth collar as cheap as paper that would last longer and could be made always fresh and bright. The new "44" collar, now upon the market, fills these requirements per cetly. It is made entirely of cloth, three thicknesses being used; it so closely resembles the finest linen that it might be sold anywhere for linen; and, no matter how much it may re soiled, it can be cleaned and made as bright as ever by the application of a damp sponge or cloth.
