It wasn't Uncle Willie, - I'm just been making again your lovely letter which arrived here for me and Jim yours. That unfortunately I was in B. J. Hill's, and when I got home that night I ordered and I took out of just thing. I think you're so sweet and I just can't tell you how touched we both were by your kind letter. I was especially touched because I have a small piece of hair that you are and to think of you thinking time to write to me. Well?
I just can't thank you enough.
I know that the "frustration" that we have set for the wedding seems awfully soon but we have found something important reason for being so. Most important of all to me, is that
