What One Institute is Doing Mrs. Harry Stanton, Prince Edward Co., Ont.

I would like to tell the readers of Farm and Dairy something about the work that our Women's Institute is Farm and Dairy something about the work that our Women's Institute is doing and of the benefit that it has proved to be, not only to myself, but to many of my neighbors as well. About two years ago, when I first became a member of the Women's In-stitute, I did not seem to have the interest in the work that I now take. The longer I have been associated with this organization the more interested have I become.

Socially our Institute has been a great success and benefit in bringing together the women of the neighborhood once a month who heretofore did not meet perhaps more than once year. It has thus created a friendlier feeling amongst the women in the community and has enabled many to become better acquainted, for it is possible to live in the same neighbor-hood and not really become acquainted.

BROADER OUTLOOK

I think too that the organizing of a Women's Institute has helped to broaden our minds on some things we broaden our minds on some things we perhaps thought little about before in regard to our homes. For instance, in the way of taking more time for reading and eliminating from our work some things that were not real-ly necessary and by securing more labor saving devices to lighten the necessary work. Then too, by attend to the control of taking more thought in regard to the cooking and preparation of food to cooking and preparation of food ensure the better development of the bodies and minds of those in our homes. We are also led to consider homes. We are also led to consider the problem of the high cost of living and to substitute in the place of meats, which are very expensive, such foods as would be equally nutritious, but not as high in price.

We have also helped financially the welfare of our nearest town, Picton, and this year we propose aiding the Social and Moral Reform Association.

We have programmes printed for the year, one for each month and also names of two ladies who are responsible for each particular programme. We also invite other Institutes to visit us and we in turn are invited to return these visits. The visiting Institute always furnishes the programme and we have found this helpful as the Institutes are enabled to interchange ideas.

In selecting our topics for discussion and subjects for written papers, we select those that we think will inspire a love for "Home and Country," which is our Institute motto.
