Great Britain and the Continent of Europe.

The Christian Times says :- " The capture of the Cagliari threatens grave consequences to Europe. It was admitted by our Foreign Secretary in the House of Lords, on Thursday night that the wrong-headed obstinacy of the Neapoli-tan Government, and impetuosity of Sardinia may at any moment lead to a war which whentan Government, and impetuosity of Sardinia may at any moment lead to a war which whenever it may break out, will involve all Europe."

It has pleased the House of Commons, says the Watchman, to clear the path of Government through several spots where, in the progress of a session, pit-falls are frequently dug and ambushes laid. The Budget has been cleverly carried over every difficulty, and the penny stamp has been pasted upon the bankers' cheques with such lightingered rapidity that not a word could be utterevery difficulty, and the penny-stamp has been pasted upon the bankers' cheques with such light-fingered rapidity that not a word could be uttered in remonstrance. After this it was pitiful in the House to raise a cheer of triumph the other night, when Mr. Monsell's motion on cadetshire in the Royal Engineers and Artillery was carried against Government by a majority of 40 .-But it demands, as the price of its favour, the most unlimited subjection, and obliged Mr.
Disraeli last evening, against his principles and his expressed sense of duty, to withdraw his negative to Mr. Locke King's motion for leave to gative to Mr. Locke King's motion for leave to bring in a Bill for lowering the County Franchise. On the Church-rate question, however, the Whig Opposition has divided with Ministers the responsibility of resisting the Radicals, who in the common prostration of the greater parties have on several points been advancing at an impetuous pace. The House is of course content that the Bernard case should end where the Lury left if.

But whatever forbearance may have been shown to Government on other points, one great exception is made to the political armistice—
He that wins the battle in the India Government

But whatever forbearance may have been shown to Government on other points, one great he had been been shown to Government on the political armistice—
He that wins the battle in the India Government of the body of Colonel Verdugo. The assessin, who was instantly arrested, walked along in the most tranquil manner. He held in he had for some time the weapon still recking with the blood of his victim, until on passing a house with an iron railing before the deep head. campaign gains a crowning victory and remains master of the House of Commons. It was not likely therefore that the Conservative Government would be permitted to consolidate their them the way out of their difficulty. Pressed by Sir B. Hall to form his plans in a moment, Mr. Disraeli committed the capital mistake of pledging himself to produce resolutions on which a Bill for India should be framed, and yet to proceed with "Bill No. 2" which he had already its related to the state of the state introduced. Now it is a possible equestrian feat Holland. to ride two horses at once, with one foot on either saddle; but not if the animals are galloping in opposite directions. Unless the Resolutions were to make at least a large angle with the Bill, and point in a different quarter, it would obviously be ridiculous to bring them in at all.

Accordingly on Friday last, Lord Goderich invited the Chancellor of the Exchequer to withdraw Naples. think of keeping the Bill in suspense and mean-time asking the House to go into committee up-on certain principles. It was a long time before the pensive Chancellor of the Ex-time before the pensive Chancellor of the Ex-time before the pensive Chancellor of the Ex-time before the pensive Chancellor of the Exchequer spoke again, but when he found words, they flowed with the usual copiousness and some thing of the wonted sparkle which belong to their fountain. He had made his election, he ccepted his evil forture, and that very nigh the order for the second reading of the India Bill No 2 was discharged. Last Monday evening Mr. Disraeli moved that the house should on Friday next, resolve itself into a Committee to consider these fourteen Resolutions which were printed a week ago, and in a speech of two hours, he expended much argument and eloquence in justification of the Bill which he had already surrendered. Lord Palmerston's reply was facile, effective, humorous, but somedeal coarse. Even Mr. Gladstone turned against the unfriended Chancellor of the Exchequer, though with the intention, not of injuring him or aiding Lord Palmerston, but of postponing legislation altogether, and with such effect, that Mr. Gregory ventured to improvise, and in a thin House had almost hurried on a motion to that effect .-But at this unexpected turn of affairs Lord John Russell again intervened. His lordship declared of June next, at the Brunswick Street Church. binuself in favour of proceeding,—contrary to We subjoin some important extracts from the the recommendation of the Liverpool Chamber Minutes. of Commerce, which would have had all the proposals on the Government of India remitted to a Select Committee of the House; he was also in favour of a Council for India, rather than a number of Under Secretaries, which was the idea of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce; and finally he was in favour of a Council nominated by the Crown, in preference to one partly ordinary, duly signed by the Chairmen and nominated and partly elected, thus giving his in- Secretaries. One of these copies shall be influence to the principle of Lord Palmerston's Bill, which is only postponed, rather than to that principle which was embodied in the Government Bill, and which is also contained in one of those Resolutions that Mr. Disraeli has underalt, Lord John Russell has brought himself, both in his speech and in the Amendments of which pilots are already preparing again for "seas rough with black winds, and storms unwonted," and are predicting another shipwreck. THE MAYNOOTH GRANT .-- On the 27th ult a very large Deputation, consisting of upwards of fifty members, comprising over twenty clergyothers interested in the Protestant cause, waited by appointment upon the Prime Minister, the Right Hon the Earl of Derby, at his lordship's official residence, in Downing-street, to ask the Government to discontinue the Maynooth Grant.

Rev. S. G. Potter, Vice-President of the Dublin Protestant Association, and other members of the deputation, spoke in warm terms against the Maynooth Grant, urging, as on previous similar occasions, the anti-Protestant principles of the 1. Stationis endowment, and after commenting upon what they termed the disloyalty of the Roman Catholies, through the arbitrary conduct of the priest-hood and their acknowledging another temporal Sovereign in the person of the Pope, they said that the grant to Maynooth should be withdrawn entirely, to prevent civil contention at some not very distant period. At the same time, they observed that the Roman Catholics of Ireland would hail with delight such a course, which would in a great measure free them from the

The Rev. Dr. Rule, of the Wesleyan Method ist Society, Mr. Stapleton, Mr. Peters, and Mr. Lord, Secretary to the Protestant Association in England, spoke in support of the objects of the deputation, and it was urged that compensation might be given to the College for any loss sustained by the withdrawal of the grant. THE EARL OF DERBY in the course of a lengthy reply, admitted the evil of the connexion of Government with the College and said he should be glad to see any probability of a measure being introduced which while it afforded fair and reasonable countries while it afforded fair and reasonable compensation should also dissolve the connexion; but until he saw any such mode, it would be impossible for him to support any measure tending to break up an arrangement sanctioned by act of Parliament and for the meeting of the Secretaries of the several supported by the great majority of the House of Funds, on Wednesday June 16th, the necessary Commons at the present time.
