Piping an Effective and Economical

Pipings are making a strong bid for favor, and one sees them in all sorts of new and attractive connections. While it is hardly a piping in one sense of the word, very effective work is being done with thick and heavy cable cords covered with silk. The covering is not shirred or wrinkled on as heretofore. It lies quite smooth and flat, and the cord-it is as thick as one's thumb in its smaller presentations—is twisted into all sorts of pat-terns and designs. Watch springs, colls, undulating ropes, lattices, etc., are so fashioned, and very effective trimming they make at but small expenditure of time and money.

Striped silks cut on the bias and piped with a little featherbone cording are being used with excellent results. To peep forth either edge of a nun's fold, to border strappings, to edge plaits, trim collars and cuffs, strap waistcoats, etc., are some of their missions, and when the color contrast is cleverly selected quite an elaborate air can be achieved on a simple frock with such assistance.

The wherewithal with which to cov er the arms is bound to be a vexed question in the determining of the lines of costume this coming season. The dressmakers in Paris are advocating sleeveless dresses. There are some that display a half sleeve, and there are models on view in which the sleeve is carried in an exaggerated fashion down in mittine shape over the hand, the thumb being slipped through a little loop provided for just this purpose. And between this last and the sleeveless mode one can take any choice.

MILLINERY MODES.

rapes a Smart Trimming of the

As a general thing the winter milliner is to exercise her ingenuity in trimming felt hats. The felt "shape" s almost universal, and the good old days have returned when hats were trimmed and not made. This is true even of the dress hats, which have flowers, fruit and feathers loaded on plain felt shapes. For instance, one of the prettiest hats of this class was a black felt in slightly oval shape, the brim surrounded with beautiful pink velvet and silk roses and a large white feather pointing backward. It also was bound in black velvet for half an inch over the brim, which is one of the little finishes to be used a great deal.

The millinery openings are displaying the latest fashions from Paris, and one of the modish trimmings seen on the smartest hats for the winter are the grape clusters. They come in various dull tones and in the hat shown are in three tones, light to dark ma-hogany. It is a blocked French felt model in watteau color (pinkish ma-hogany). The hat is of the pale tone, with trimming of velvet ribbon bows in the dark shade

Extra Waists

At the beginning of each season the merry croakers used to predict the extinction of the blouse. They have been long since reduced to silence, and now the only trouble about extra waists with the average woman is to secure enough of them and select them so cleverly that they may stay in style as long as their materials remain fresh.

A Good Luck Box. A "good luck" box of Japanese paper has a frill and twisted top. When opened the box is like a flower, which reveals a second box inside. This inner box is a repository for some small gift.

Club Sandwich. Cut bread in slices three-eighths of an nch thick and cut the slices into triangular pieces, trimming off the crusts. Toast the bread and let it become cold.

READY TO SERVE.

Spread with butter or mayonnais Lay a thin slice of cold roast chicken above the bread, above this a slice of broiled bacon and a let-tuce leaf dressed with mayonnaise and cover with a second piece of toast. Prepare a second sandwich and finish with other lettuce leaves containing mayonnaise dressing.

ENGLISH SPORT

It Abounds In Graft That Would Not Be Tolerated Here.

If there is any man on this earth, white or black, who insists that his expenses in competitive sport must be no drain on himself, that man is the Britisher. And he is quite right. An amateur should be neither in nor out a dollar. It is entirely proper that his club, his college, his association or such collection of bodies as he represents should pay his legitimate expenses when he is sent to compete for that college or club or association or union. England goes much farther and gives much more latitude in the matter of expenses than we do. In cricket, for example, "amateur" players in England whose services are desired for the county championship series are literally "found" during the entire season. No graft of this kind could exist in America without raising such a storm as would blow the whole thing to kingdom come. Nor would we toler ate the conditions that obtain in Eng-lish track athletics and "amateur" football, both of which are steeped in cov-ert professionalism. And as for junketing—why, that comes near to being the Englishman's alter ego—it is a part of the English game. You might as well deprive him of his dearest pos-session—his prejudice, for instance—as deprive him of his junket. Let the stewards figure up how many good American dollars have gone to satisfy this national predilection through the medium of cricketers, golfers and other English athletes that have visited us.—Caspar Whitney in Outing Maga fs a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down or debilitated, especially for women whe work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pferce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine. "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgis, hysteria, spasms, chores, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvie organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "Favorite Prescription" and also that famous alterative, flood purifier and stomach tonic, the "Golden Medical Discovery." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him art the invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo. N. Y., of which he is chief copsulting physician.

Don't Talk Much to Your Horse. A horse who has always been made to obey quickly will respond to commands from any one, whereas the creature who has been petted and talked to accords, unless hungry, scant attention to any one. We talk to horses altogether too much, and it is a silly and dangerous custom. "Whoa!" should mean but one thing and, silp, silde or fall, should meet with instant obedience. Not another word should ever be used, beyond possibly the order to "stand over" in the stall (although even that is best unsaid) except the "click" of the tongue for increased speed. The animal's attention is kept if you are silent. He does not know what you A horse who has always been made silient. He does not know what you are silient. He does not know what you will do next, and as he distrusts and merely tolerates you, even as he fears you, his anxiety is always to find out what you wish done or what move you will next make.—F. M.
