Editorial Notes

The usual amount of vandalism occurred this year on Halloween. There is a vast difference between the harmless frolic of young people on this time honored anniversary and the malicious destruction of private property. The town authorities should see to it that the belongings of citizens are duly protected. Halloween gives no such license as is evidently understood by some of those who yearly participate in the riot that takes place.

Monday of next week is the day set apart by the government as a day of general thanksgiving throughout Canada. No people on earth have more reason for thankfulness than those of this section. Abundant crops have rewarded those who cultivate the soil, and peace and plenty are evident on every hand. To the great Giver of these and other blessings, which we enjoy, our people should with grateful hearts celebrate the day.

Attention is directed to the proclamation of Mayor Fitch concerning Armistice Day, November 11th. It is fitting that at least such observance of the day as is indicated, should be made by every citizen out of respect to those who gave their lives for us in the Great War. For those who returned, the day should likewise have recognition but so far we have not heard of any action along this line.

G. W. V. A. NOTES

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Great War Veterans Association was held on Wednesday evening. Among other business a resolution was adopted requesting the Mayor to proclaim two minutes of silence at eleven o'clock on November 11th, also requesting that a signal be arranged for the commencement of the period of silence. The memorial committee submitted further photographs of bronze figures and were ordered to place an order with the Wm. A. Rogers Co, Toronto. As yet about $300 is needed but with the support that has already been received the committee feel confident that this amount will be forthcoming by the time it is needed. It is expected that the figure will be placed before Christmas.

RETURNED SOLDIERS.—All returned soldiers of Wolfville are requested to meet at the G. W. V. A. rooms at 6:30 Sunday evening (Memorial Sunday), to parade to service at the Baptist Church. Everybody come. "Fall in" sounds not later than 6:45 o'clock.

NEWFOUNDLAND HAS GREAT STORM

The East coast of Newfoundland was ravaged by a terrific storm of Wind beginning on Friday last and continuing for five days with heavy loss to property. As the days pass stories come in from outlying sections showing the damage done by the gale and breakers, to shore and property, will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Scores of wharves and buildings used by the fishermen for the cure and handling of fish have been swept away and although this destruction has occurred after the close of the season's fishing voyage and will therefore not affect operations of 1921, it still entails big investments and much hurried work early next spring if the fishing operations on the coast of Newfoundland for 1922 are not to be curtailed seriously. Apart from a knowledge that all the coastal steamships are safely harboured from the storm little is known here of the effects of the tempest on shipping around the coasts. The storm started at a time when hundred of small fishing craft were enroute from their fishing stations on the Labrador coast to their home ports. As local land telegraph lines are down in many sections, the meager reports have come to hand of the fate of these craft which must have been caught off a lee shore in the heaviest gales experienced in Newfoundland for generations.

A number of the Newfoundland foreign going craft were likely near the coast when the storm broke and doubtless put off to sea to await the abating of wind and waves. Along the waterfront of St. John's harbour the tide was the highest experienced for many years. In the lower part of the harbour the high seas running in through the narrows forced steamers and other shipping to leave the wharves and anchor off in the stream.

The Reid Newfoundland Company face a big job on the repair of coastwise tracks washed away in the storm. In one place the road-bed is gone for a distance of five or six miles and it is scarcely possible for the train service which was discontinued on Saturday to be resumed before the end of this week. Meantime, trains coming eastward, across country, are being stopped at Avondale, where the passengers are taken on motor cars for a twelve mile trip or are being brought right in to the city, a distance of over 20 miles from Avondale. The railway companies reports the washout as the worst during the twenty odd years the railroad has been operated.
