A Notable Song Writer.

A fortnight or more ago there died in Buxton, England, one whose songs have been sung the world over for years, but whose name and personality were known to very few. He was the author of that splendid song, "The Holy City," which breathes the very soul of Christianity and the Resurrection. His nom de plume was "Stephen Adams," but his real name was Mr. Michael Maybrick, he being a brother-in-law of the famous Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who was condemned to death for poisoning her husband and whose case was taken up with such zest by prominent Americans at the time. The result of that agitation was the commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment, and the Maybrick children were taken by their uncle and brought up in ignorance of their parentage. Mr. Michael Maybrick was born in 1844, at the age of eight he learned to play the piano well, and at fifteen became the organist of St. Peter's Cathedral Church, in Liverpool. At the same time he began composing anthems, and having a fine voice, he soon afterwards became prominent on the concert platform and the operatic stage, making the grand tour in 1871. During this tour, while confined to bed by a severe cold, he wrote "A Warrior Bold" which immediately became popular. A few days afterwards he composed that beautiful song reminiscent of the sea, "Nancy Lee," in some ways the best sailor song ever written. For the former song he received five shillings from a publisher who quickly made a fortune out of it. Mr. Maybrick took the song "Nancy Lee" to a publisher of the significant name of Boosey, who refused the requested twenty guineas for it. The author therefore took his manuscript away with him and sang the song at a concert in St. James' Hall, London, and Mr. Boosey offered one hundred guineas for it. Mr. Maybrick refused, however, and published it on the royalty plan, making thousands of pounds by the tremendous sale of the piece. Among other notable songs produced by him may be named "Thora," "Long Live the King," "Valley by the Sea," "Children of the City," "Midshipmite," "The Blue Alsatian Mountains," "Little Hero," "The Maid of the Mill" and "The Holy City." Of course, these are but a few of a great number of pieces composed by him. For many years he had lived at Ryde, Isle of Wight, and had been mayor of the city five times. He was chairman of the Isle of Wight County Hospital, and was active in municipal politics, cricket, cycling and yachting. Through all his work he maintained the high level of lyricism and his noble pieces helped to save the English speaking world from being entirely given over to the unspeakable reign of "rag-time." Not only were his airs of stately melody and pleasing harmony, but his verses were genuinely poetical, not mere rhythmical balderdash wherein the tune is everything and the words mere "filling," like cobblestones set in a golden setting. The verse as well as the music of "The Holy City," is stately and moving, expressive of sublime emotions:

Last night I lay a-sleeping,
There came a dream so fair;
I stood in old Jerusalem,
Beside the Temple there,
I heard the children singing,
And ever as they sang,
Methought the voice of Angels
From Heaven in answer rang.
And then methought my dream was changed,
The streets no longer rang,
Hushed were the glad hosannas,
The little children sang,
The sun grew dark with mystery,
The moon was cold and still,
As the shadow of a Cross arose
Upon a lonely hill.
And once again my dream was changed,
New Earth there seemed to be;
I saw the Holy City
Beside the fabled sea.
The light of God was on the streets,
The gates were opened wide,
And all who would might enter,
And no one was denied,
No need of moon or stars by night,
Nor sun to shine by day;
It was the New Jerusalem,
That would not pass away.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the diseases of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs:

People Indignant.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—It is rumoured here that Harbor Commissioners are about to be appointed and that one of them is now Captain of one of Reid's boats and the other an ex-Captain of the same.
It seems that nothing can be done in public matters without the sanction of Reid's men. Even the leading lights were put in position under the supervision of one of their captains. The fishermen have no say. All must bow down to Reid and his minions.
The people here are justly indignant over this last outrage and ask if there are no other interests to be considered but Reid's. What about the public? Have the people no interest which should be considered? It seems not. This is another nail in Morris's political coffin, and we won't forget his insult in November next.
Those whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad.
Yours truly,
VOTER.

Political Conversations

What is Going to Happen in St. John's.
A day or two ago a certain prominent Tory heeler, who is locally famous for all the Government patronage that he gets, was confronted by Morris, who began the conversation. "Well, what's your opinion of the East and West Ends now? What do you think of Howley and Higgins?" (The Plentic Chief forgot that Bartlett was in his camp.)

Answer:—"The East End, Sir Edward, is stronger Liberal than ever and I'll be surprised if they don't get a worse defeat than the three candidates got at the last election."

Here the swelled headed chief (losing his temper) said: "Tut, tut, man, you don't know what your talking about."

"Hold on, Sir Edward, interrupted the Tory henchman, you're not certain of your own election in the West End yet. The tide is flowing against you. Will Ellis seems to be like a magnet for getting votes. The people are with him and he's with the people. The West End is in his favour. The people are tired of graft. They are going to vote for Bond and a clean progressive Government."

There the conversation ended abruptly and the Plentic Chief is beginning to realize the fact that

C.L.B. Fall Dance.

The C. L. B. held its annual Fall dance in their Armoury, Harvey Rd., last night and it eclipsed all previous successes of the Church Lads. Over three hundred persons were present and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The spacious hall was nicely decorated and arranged for those who tripped the light fantastic. The music was discoursed by the Battalion's Band and was of that excellent order for which these musicians are specially noted. The affair was brought to a conclusion at an early hour this morning. The success of the dance is mainly due to the untiring and zealous efforts of the non-commissioned officers, particularly to Chairman Ebsary.

Met With Accident.

Patrick Earles, a workman at Harvey & Co.'s premises, met with a painful accident yesterday. He was engaged operating a machine which is used for packing fish tightly into drums. Suddenly his left hand got caught and the flesh was badly torn and lacerated. Blood flowed profusely from the wound and the suffering man had to be brought to Hospital for treatment. It will be several weeks before Earles can resume work.

Children Hate Oil Calomel and Pills

"California Syrup of Figs" best for tender stomach, liver, bowels—tastes delicious.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Bath Tubs.

The bath tub is a form-fitting device which never fits anything but the feet, and then sometimes it is a tight squeeze.

There are two kinds of bath tubs—stationary and portable. The stationary tub is a heavy piece of cast iron overlaid with a white coating surface, which is rendered as slippery as possible by the manufacturers, who are in league with the free clinics. This kind of a tub is recommended highly by "vicious-minded" plumbers, who attach four legs to it and then drag them over a hardwood floor with the utmost nonchalance. One of these tubs can leave footprints on a waxed floor which will be commented upon by free-spoken guests for fifteen years.

The portable bath tub is a handy article which enables forehanded men to beat rasping hotel proprietors out of the rent of a room with a bath. A man can take one of these tubs out of his grip and set it up in his room in less time than it would take to erect a 12 x 16 tent. The water is then heated and poured in equal portions into the tub and on the floor, after which the bather pulls an alpaca shawl over his head and sits on top of an alcohol lamp until he can persevere with perfect freedom. These portable tubs have the unpleasant habit of suddenly collapsing without a word of warning, and throwing the bather head first into the chiffonier, but the use of these is now prohibited by law.

The family bath tub is usually picked out by the wife, and is generally of a size which compels her husband to fold up both knees like a pair of scissors before climbing in. After a man has wriggled around in one of these close-coupled bath tubs for thirty minutes, in the attempt to reach his feet with a bar of soap, he will contract a set of double-acting cramps which will follow him around for a week. This is the main reason, in fact the only reason, why men look forward to Saturday night with undisguised horror.

Should Be Rounded Up

A report was made to the police a few days ago that there was a foreign seaman hovering around the Torbay Road, and children going to and returning from school were chased by him and women were afraid to come out of doors at nightfall. He has been sleeping in hay barns, and if such conduct is allowed to continue fires may follow. A police officer has been sent to Torbay Road who will, no doubt, bring him to book.

Police Force

Two recruits were admitted to the police force yesterday. They will replace two others who have gone abroad to look for a living wage. There is great demand for new members ever since the Plentic Party came into power, as the trained men are constantly leaving, because they cannot see out an existence on the sympathy of the Tory leader, along with a paltry $1.00 a day.

SPORTSMEN BACK.—Several sportsmen who were shooting on the Cape Shore grounds since Saturday last, returned by last night's train. They had poor bags; a partridge were scarce.
