THE REBOUND!

By RUTH CAMERON.

A friend of mine has a son who is emphatically a freethinker in matters of religion as to approach the broad-mindedness which is intolerant and narrow in its resentment of anyone who is less tolerant.

The woman herself is a strict member of a strict sect. She believes wholeheartedly in the creed of that particular sect and she thinks all the rest of the world who do not believe the same as she and her co-religionists are hopelessly mistaken. You can imagine with what horror she regards her son's attitude. "It does seem so strange," she says, "that I should have a son like that."

"Of All People!" The "I" is in black type because she says it in a tone which means "I, of all people, I who am such a strict believer in the one true religion."

As a matter of fact it seems to me that she, of all people, is peculiarly predestined to have a son like that. I don't doubt that her son's aggressive broad-mindedness is nothing but a rebound from her aggressive narrow-mindedness.

Few people, I think, realize how strong the rebound tendency acts, especially in young people.

It is of course the natural thing to oppose with all your heart any fault or vice which you have learned to hate, but if you are a parent and you have a child whom you want to guide away from that fault or vice I doubt if it is the wisest thing to be too violent.

Salvage Notes:

Monday 24th, Empire Day, was fittingly celebrated, but not so good as was hoped, owing to the non-appearance of the mail boat Dundee, nevertheless the day will long be remembered as a gala one, and a historic one for Salvage. Flags were flying everywhere and great interest was shown in order to make the day a success. The afternoon was devoted to the children, who met in the schoolroom and from thence went in procession around the harbor during which several halts were made and patriotic songs sung. After the parade the children were provided with a sumptuous repast after which they indulged in games till 6 p.m. After tea a public meeting was held in the schoolroom for older sexes, at which the Rector, Rev. A. E. Tulk, B.A., acted as chairman, and who gave a very inspiring and patriotic address. Addresses on the Empire, Empire Day and the Union Jack were delivered by Messrs. K. Brown, Job Steed, Shears, Dewey and Dr. Macdonald, all of which were interesting, especially the address given by Dr. Macdonald, who interested us with facts concerning the Mother Country and the Constitution of the British Crown. The doctor was listened to with rapt attention and prolonged cheers given by the audience. Patriotic songs, such as Rule Britannia, Tipperary, Marseilles, Russian and National Anthems, Tenth To-night, were rendered. Great credit is due our esteemed and energetic organist, Miss Macdonald, who ably presided at the organ and by her talent did much to make the affair a success. Our noble and patriotic teacher, Mr. Shears, is also deserving of praise for his taste and patriotism as was shown forth by the decorations particularly attractive, was the British Coat of Arms. At the end of the programme was a rifle drill given by some of Mr. Shears' pupils; the performance of this drill is noteworthy of praise to the boys as well as to their teacher, who had taken so much interest in the boys.

Congratulations were bestowed on members of Salvage Branch of the W.P.A., and too much praise cannot be given the ladies for their interest and efforts in this philanthropic work. This patriotic and inspiring meeting was ended by singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem. We have not as yet had a visit from the longed-for Dundee, but it is hoped she will show up Saturday.

Frog's Legs as Labor Test.

How the leg of a frog may be used as an argument in favor of the Ten-Hour Day Labor Law was explained recently by Miss Josephine Goldmark, publication secretary of the National Consumers' League, in a lecture before the economic seminar of John Hopkins University.
Miss Goldmark described how she had taken a frog and attached an electric current to his leg in such a way that the light shocks caused the leg to move. Also attached to the leg was a machine by which the force and rapidity of the leg action was registered on a piece of paper. It was noticed that at first the action was not intense while the muscles were loosening up. During the second period the activity increased and reached its maximum, while in the third it decreased, owing to fatigue. Miss Goldmark maintained that this was the case with human beings and the more they were worked the less efficient workers they become.

She also told how blood extracted from the leg of a weary frog and injected into that of a fresh one caused a decrease of activity of the latter. Thus, she said, poisonous gases exuding from a tired worker might enter and injure a fresh worker unless proper ventilation were provided in the workshop.
