Beginning next Saturday, Youell & Wrong will put their entire $50,000 stock of merchandise on sale at greatly reduced prices. This will not be a sale of just special lines. Everything in the big store will be offered in this gigantic dissolution sale. This firm has been doing business in Aylmer since 1886 and this big sale has been made necessary by the death of the senior member of the firm, Mr. George W. Youell. The firm must reduce their big stock and the buying public in Aylmer and this district are to get the benefit of the event. Coming at a time of the year when winter requirements have to be considered, it is most opportune. You may have your choice of anything in the store, staple dry goods, ready-to-wear, gent's furnishings and house furnishings, etc. Everything will be ticketed and must go in this money raising sale. Prices will be made low enough to keep the store crowded every hour. You are invited to read the full page announcement on page 5 of The Express this week, where space was only available to announce a few of the hundreds of bargains which will be offered. The store will be closed all day Friday, Nov. 28th, to prepare for the sale which begins on Saturday. When we say the entire stock will be offered everyone knows the class of goods this means; goods which will compare favorably with any city store, no odd lots, but all legitimate merchandise. Extra sales people have been secured and the public will be given service in their buying.

The Aylmer firemen were called out to two fires on Thursday. In the morning to the home of L. C. Kilmer, St. George Street, and 10:30 p.m. to the home of Jack Taylor, Sydenham street east. Both were chimney fires and very little damage resulted.

Death came with startling suddenness on Sunday afternoon, November 23rd, to William Frederick Fairbrother, St. George Street, Aylmer. Mrs. Fairbrother and daughter, Doris, had gone to Sunday School and Mr. Fairbrother and his son, Russell were at home. The former was lying down on the sofa reading and about 3 p.m. Russell went outside to talk to some friends in a car. He was gone but five minutes and when he returned to the house he found his father dead upon the floor. Dr. McNeice was summoned but found life extinct. Deceased had never complained of being ill and was apparently in good health. Heart failure was the cause of death. William Fairbrother was in his 48th year and was born on the first concession of Fairbrother, a son of the late Edward G. Fairbrother. For twenty years he has been a resident of Aylmer, where he followed his trade as carpenter. He was a member of the Baptist church, secretary of the C. O. F. chairman of the Public School Board, and for some years has been town assessor. Besides his widow he is survived by one son, Russell, and one daughter, Doris, both at home; also by one brother, Edward, of St. Paul, Minn., and three sisters, Mrs. Ed. Whitcroft, Malahide; Mrs. William Melvin, Stratford; and Mrs. Chas. H. Satchell, Des Moines, Iowa. The funeral took place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended. Interment took place in the Aylmer cemetery. The public school was closed during the afternoon, out of respect for the deceased chairman of the Board.
