If Women were Carpenters

Would they follow in the footsteps of men by possessing a complete set of tools for every kind of job, or would they cripple their production, hinder their work by following out their present system of using Kitchen Utensils.

It is an astonishing fact that few women in this advanced age possess a complete set of utensils. And just because they endeavor to make a saucepan fill every cooking need, they become like an amateur carpenter whose only tool is a hammer.

Kitchen drudgery is only drudgery so long as you permit it. You can release yourself from it as an experienced carpenter does by equipping yourself with a complete set of
