AILMENTS OF THE HORSE.

The Western Ontario Veterinary Medical Association Formed.

STRATFORD, Sept. 28.—The veterinary surgeons of Western Ontario held a convention in this city yesterday and today.
There was a fairly good representative attendance from Perth, Huron, Waterloo, Bruce and Wellington counties.

William Gibb, of St. Marys, president of the Perth County Association, occupied the chair, W. J. McMaster, of this city, acting as secretary. Interesting papers were read by Dr. Berger, of Listowel, and Dr. Walker, of Clinton. The convention then proceeded to form an organization, to be known as the Western Ontario Veterinary Medical Association, and the following officers were elected: President, Dr. Berger, Listowel; vice-president, Dr. Walker, Clinton; secretary, Dr. Carr, Kirkton; treasurer, Dr.
McMaster, Stratford.

A BIG CHANGE.

For Some Years Back John Riley Didn't Work on His Farm—He Does Now
—The Reason Why.

MILVERTON, Sept. 24.—John Riley a farmer living near here, is able to do his farm work right along now, something he could not do for years. The reason was he had a bad form of kidney disease which set in about ten years ago and gradually grew worse. Latterly Mr. Riley was at times unable to lie in bed or stoop to the ground because of his kidney troubles. Now he can make hay in the meadows, follow a plow or handle a reaper with any man in the country. The cause of the wonderful change is nothing more than Dodd's Kidney Pills. Four bottles effected a complete cure of Mr. Riley's kidney disease. Those pills always cure.

THOMAS NICHOLLS, INDIAN,

Arrested on a Charge Seven Years of Age.

Without a Warrant—Discharged on a Legal Technicality—Said to Have Broken into Sarah Doxtater's House.

About one-third of the Indians from the Onondaga reserve, including squaws and papoose, were at the court house yesterday afternoon to either listen to or give evidence in the case of Sarah Doxstater vs.
Thomas Nicholls. Both the parties are Indians. Nicholls is a big broad-shouldered fellow, and possesses the strength of a Sawdow or a Cyr. He is not attractive enough to win the hearts of the fair young squaws, and was never married. Nicholls was a former resident of the reserve, and it is alleged that seven years ago he went to the house of Sarah Doxstater, broke the door in and demolished the interior fittings. A warrant was then sworn out before Squire Peters, and County Constable Keut came across Nicholls at Southwold station and undertook to arrest him. The handcuffs were put on, but when en route to the jail here Nicholls got away from his captor, had the handcuffs sawed off near Mount Brydges and went to Michigan. He was seen no more until this last Fair week, when Constable Ward arrested him on Dundas street east.
Squire Smyth was on the bench. Mr. J.
McElvey asked that the prisoner be discharged. He claimed that the arrest was unlawful, as the original information could not be produced. The statutes distinctly state that unless an information was laid within six months after the offense no action could be taken. A charge had been made since Nicholls was arrested, but it was useless. Search had been made for the first information, but it had not been found.

Mr. Dromgole argued contra. Squire Smyth consulted Crown Attorney Macree before giving his decision, and found that the contentions of the prisoners' counsel were correct. Nicholls was then discharged.

Mr. McElvey asked that the warrant for Nicholls' arrest be produced. "Have you got it, Constable Ward?" he asked.

"No; I have not."

"And you did not have it when you made the arrest?"

"No."

"I had one but I lost it," joined in an Indian constable.

The crowd then left the court room, Nicholls being accompanied by Constable Nihnam.

Nicholls has seen the interior of the Central Prison, but not since the manufacture of binder twine was begun there. A suit for damages for false arrest is threatened.

THEY'RE AFTER THEM.

Delinquent Board of Trade Members Must Pay.

Municipal Fire Insurance Discussed—
That British Columbia Flood—International Tariffs.

The Board of Trade pulled itself together again last night after a long summer vacation and tackled with renewed vigor the problem of making delinquent members pay their dues. According to the secretary, these gentlemen range back from two to four and five years and are deaf to all solicitation.

"And yet they always show up to vote when the officers are elected," said Mr.
John Campbell.

"Yes," said Mr. Pearce, "and they make more noise than those who pay."

"See the fellows that you can't collect from," was the solution suggested by Mr.
Campbell. It was decided, however, to make a slight draft on all the members who are behind, and at the next meeting it is possible that even more radical steps will be taken.

Mr. Robert Ingles, manager of the Bank of British North America, was elected a member.

An address was received from New Westminster, B.C., stating that the distress had been underrated by reports following the flood, and asking that mention be made of the very serious distress necessary. As the communication was dated Aug. 31 and the civic relief check has been drawn and quartered the letter was filed.

The department of trade and commerce forwarded a copy of all international tariff published to date. The members were grateful.

The president, vice-president and directors of the Ontario Mutual L.F. wrote thanking the board for the use of its rooms to hold their annual meeting.

The Guelph Board of Trade is looking for pointers in municipal fire insurance. They thought that $60,000 a year could be saved by that means in Guelph alone, and insurance rates could be lowered and fire brigades supported. It was thought by the board that what might apply in Guelph would possibly not meet the requirements of every city, and the general feeling was that it was not wise for municipalities to manage either insurance companies or banks. The matter was referred to the executive.

In connection with the above Mr. Campbell said that he thought that insurance companies were not careful enough who they insured. He believed the majority of fires were not honest, and suggested that an inspector of risks be appointed either by the municipalities or the Government.

A. M. Roseburgh, secretary of the Prison Reform Association, asked the board to memorialize the Dominion Government re the establishment of a reformatory for young men.

Mr. J. D. Clarke thought that the Government had already arranged to erect a reformatory in Glengarry, and it was decided to delay the memorial until inquiries had been made.

Thomas Connolly, Ottawa, sent the board some Australian trade statistics, and Sir John Carling returned thanks for the action of the board re mercantile agencies. President Bland was empowered to act with the mayor and Warden Calvert in the matter of investigating the idle hospital trust funds.

The members present were: John Bland (president), M. Maurel, A. B. Greer, J.
Mathison, John Campbell, John Bowman, F. S. Jarvis, J. S. Pearce, J. H. Gunge, J.
D. Clarke, Secretary Nelles, and others.

BIG INSURANCE SCHEME

Proposed by the Toronto City Council.

A Municipal Insurance Bureau—London's Co-operation Asked.

The finance committee last night received a communication from Mr. Daniel Lamb, of Toronto, asking the City Council to co-operate with Toronto in an endeavor to secure legislation for the establishment of a municipal bureau of fire insurance. Aid, Lamb is chairman of a subcommittee appointed by the Toronto council to inquire into the advisability of such a bureau, and a great deal of time has been spent in investigating the matter. A report was recently presented to the Toronto council and was adopted. It dealt exhaustively with every detail of the matter, and showed the small capital required to carry the millions of dollars of risks and the large profits made, ranging from 10 to 75 per cent on the money invested by the shareholders, which, the report said, was paid by the property-holders and ratepayers, as well as maintaining expensive offices and an army of high-salaried officials.
Toronto had gone into an extensive waterworks, fire and police systems during the last twenty years, yet with all these advantages lower insurance rates had not been struck. If the scheme were carried through the Legislature Toronto intended to largely increase their fire brigade. The committee were convinced that the insurance companies had united into a close corporation to keep up rates, which were 50 per cent too high. Debentures to the extent of $1,000,000 were to be issued and invested in other negotiable securities for a reserve fund to meet extraordinary losses. An estimate of the operation of the bureau, charging only one-half the rates, was also given. Two-thirds of the value of buildings, $43,829,811, at 30 per cent would bring premiums amounting to $13,150,437; premium on $130,580,426, value of contents, merchandise, and three times the value of assessed value of buildings, $391,741,28; interest on $1,000,000 debentures, $40,000; total receipts, $662,321,71. The expenses for salaries, rent, etc., for fire losses the same as last eight years, $227,334 would amount to $435,889, leaving a profit annually to be invested and applied to the reserve fund of $226,432,71. Three commissioners were to be appointed—two from the council and one from the Board of Trade.

Treasurer Pope was an encyclopedia on the matter, and furnished information relating to the scheme.

Ald. Pritchard did not believe that such a bill would ever pass.

Ald. Judd—What I cannot understand is how they are going to get people to insure.

Ald. Carrothers—Well, the report shows plainly enough that insurance rates will be reduced one half. That is a big inducement.

Ald. Judd thought there was a large amount of fanciful figuring in the report.
How did it account for losses?

Ald. Pritchard was opposed to the scheme throughout and characterized it as an attempt to take money out of citizens' pockets.

It was admitted that the profits of companies were large, but it was thought that it some municipalities adopted the plan and had heavy losses they would be swamped.

The matter was laid over for further consideration.

The city clerk's memo re inquiry into expenditure at Aged People's Home was up again. The committee will visit the institution a week from Wednesday.

W. A. Hagerman's bid of $2 a month for two rooms in the town hall to be used as a social club was accepted.

Assessment Committee Grant stated that the Home for Incapables was assessed for $1,500, with taxes amounting to $27.75.
Mrs. Pattullo had asked that the taxes be remitted. One-half will be struck off.

M. J. Kent asked that the personal assessment of $400 on the London Rowing Club be struck off, as there were only three boats the property of the club.

Filed in 111 Waterloo street, was granted remission of taxes, and the application of Isabella Biddell, 89 Hamilton road, was referred to Inspector Bell.

The members present were: Ald. Joseph Judd (chairman), E. J. Fitzgerald, John Pritchard, Robert Carrothers, James Fitzgerald, J. W. Jones and Treasurer Pope.

SCIENCE AND SKILL IN THE DAIRY

Improved Appliances and Where to Get Them.

History of the Well-Known Business Firm of John S. Pearce & Co.

Among the pioneers of Elgin county was the Pearce family which settled near Col.
Talbot's, at Tyrconnell. They were among the very first to hew out homes for themselves in the wilds of Western Ontario.
The annals of Talbot settlement show the Pearce family to be one of integrity and high standing in the community from the time the first tree was felled on the shores of Lake Erie to the present day. Some of the descendants of the first settler still farm the beautiful homestead near Tyrconnell; but others have launched out into the business world and still maintain the high reputation of the family.

No firm is better known to the general public of Canada than John S. Pearce & Co., of London. Starting from small beginnings it now controls one of the largest dairy supply and seed businesses in the Dominion. As their ancestors have been the pioneers in civilization on the shores of Lake Erie, so has this firm, at a later date, become the pioneers in the Dairy Supply business. In 1887 John S. Pearce started a cheese factory at Tyrconnell which he continued to work with one in Dunwich and another in Southwold for several years.

Finding that it was difficult for cheese and butter makers to obtain the best utensils for their business, he determined to supply this want and started a dairy supply store in London nearly a quarter of a century ago. The start was made in a small room up stairs on Richmond street, and from that their huge business has grown, which reaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. The most important addition to the dairy is the cream separator. The people of Canada being conservative in their tendencies, have not brought it into that general use to which it has come in the United States and some other countries. It has demonstrated its usefulness and benefits, and in the past year has been used in many factories and farm houses, and the time is fast approaching when the butter-maker who does not have one will be the exception to the rule. John S.
Pearce & Co. early secured the use of the best in the market—the Alexandria—and it has given general satisfaction. There is no more complicated piece of machinery than the cream separator, and the greatest skill is required in their construction.

Messrs. John S. Pearce & Co. find it judicious to have them manufactured in England, where makers have had great experience in their structure. They are made in five sizes, and range in price from $100 to $350. The No. 8, which can be worked by hand, is becoming very popular on farms where from five to fifteen cows are kept, and for the No. 7 from 20 to 50. There are several hundred of them in use all over the Dominion. Ten to twenty per cent more butter can be made by these separators than by the old method; besides, the skim milk can be fed warm to the calves.

John S. Pearce & Co.'s exhibit in the dairy hall at the Western Fair attracted the attention of all connected in any way with butter and cheese making.
Every modern implement used in the dairy was to be seen. Many of them are new to the general dairy public, and a great many questions were asked concerning them of the gentlemen who had the exhibits in charge. None is more puzzling than the Babcock tester, the little machine which makes had factory patrons honest and tells the true value of a cow. It is a good witness and will not lie to save the reputation of either. About $5 purchases a machine, and if it causes three or four cows on a farm who give skim milk to go to the butter-makers it will pay for itself and the interests on the cost.

Much fault has been found with the condition in which farmers' butter arrives in the market. The best article becomes disgusting ere it reaches its destination if it is not properly packed. The firm, to remedy this evil, supply butter shipping boxes which preserve the contents in first-class form while en route or in store. The old way of working butter with a ladle has made many a farmer's wife and daughter tired before the milk was all worked out.
Pearce's lever butter worker is a boon to the dairy. It saves time and labor and is very cheap. In the exhibit were gang presses, hoops, milk cans, scale boards, etc., etc.—in fact everything required in the making of first-class cheese and butter.

THE SEED BUSINESS.
In the south end of the agricultural hall John S. Pearce & Co. made a magnificent display of seeds and vegetables grown on their trial grounds south of the city. The firm in order to give satisfaction to their customers sell all seeds before offering them for sale. Every new variety of grain is carefully planted and everything connected with its growth is duly noted. New kinds of wheat, oats and barley were to be seen in the straw. New varieties of vegetables on the tables were carefully scanned by those interested in market gardening.

The king of the vegetable exhibit was the largest pumpkin at the Fair and weighed 191 pounds.
Old and new customers gathered around the exhibit, and the verdict of all is that John S. Pearce & Co. are entitled to retain that confidence they have so long enjoyed among the farmers of the Dominion. They issue three distinct and separate catalogues, Seed, Dairy and Bulb, and either will be mailed to applicants.
