SUNDAY, JUNE 20.

BREAKFAST—California cherries. Wheat flakes, cream and sugar. Watercress. Creole kedgeree. Buttered toast. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Beef-kidney stew. Green bean salad, romaine dressing. Baked southern waffles. Waukesha cream cheese. Russian tea.

DINNER—Cream of onion soup. Lamb chops in batter. Stewed potatoes. Green peas. Chilled tomatoes, mayonnaise dressing. Raspberry custard. Perfection sponge cake. Black coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Creole Kedgeree—One cup of cold salmon or codfish steak (left over from yesterday's dinner), flaked and freed from bones, one cup of rice, one cup of boiled egg, chopped fine; one-half teaspoonful of salt; one-fourth of a saltspoon of cayenne pepper; one level teaspoonful of butter, and if you have it, a saltspoon of curry powder. Mix the ingredients together, cook for five minutes and serve with thin slices of nicely-browned buttered toast.

Green Bean Salad—Pour the liquor from a pint of well-cooked, cold string beans and lay them upon a towel to drain perfectly. Dress with a romaine salad dressing, made as follows: Grate a teaspoonful of onion, mix with an equal quantity of lemon juice, a heaping saltspoon of salt and one of powdered sugar, a level saltspoon of each of pepper and dry mustard, and a tablespoonful of salad oil. Sugar may be omitted.

Baked Southern Waffles—To one pint of flour add one cup of warm—not hot—cornmeal mush, a small teaspoonful of salt, four eggs beaten light (yolks and whites separately), a half cupful of cream, and a cup of sweet milk. Stir the cream and the beaten yolks of the eggs into the mush, then add the flour and the milk, stirring well and mixing perfectly smooth. The whites of the eggs should be beaten to a stiff froth and added the last thing before baking. Have your gem-pans warm and well-greased and bake in a hot oven eight minutes. This quantity will make two dozen, but they are of so melting a quality that I think you will find them none too many for five.

Raspberry Custard—Mix together the yolks of two eggs, two cups of milk, two level tablespoonfuls of sugar and one scant tablespoonful of cornstarch. Cook slowly over the fire in a double boiler, removing when it reaches the boiling point. Mash one pint of red raspberries with the back of a spoon. Place in pretty glass dish, pour over the custard and set away to cool.

Just before the dinner pour the two whites as stiff as possible, color with one scant article of rose meringue, mix with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Spread this over the custard and serve with perfection sponge cake.

Perfection Sponge Cake—Measure carefully one-third of a cup of flour and one-half a cup of granulated sugar, sift four times and set aside. Separate the yolks and whites of four eggs, reserving two of the yolks for salad cake.

Whisk the whites of the two eggs to a stiff froth, add the remaining two yolks, the sugar and flour, and mix thoroughly.

Put the mixture in a greased cake pan, and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

Remove from the oven, and let stand for 10 minutes before turning out.

Serve with raspberry custard and waffles.

dressing. Whip the whites as stiff as possible, adding when half-beaten one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cream tartar. Beat in the sugar, then the two yolks, and lastly the flour, stirring very lightly after adding the flour. Flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla and bake in 25 minutes. This quantity fills a pan 7½ by 7½ inches and 1½ inches deep, making a medium-sized cake, but more than sufficient for one meal.

The National Conference of Charities and Correction, which meets in Toronto from July 7 to 14, was organized in 1874, and has met annually since that time. It is composed not only of representatives of charitable and correctional institutions and societies, but also of other men and women who are interested in the broad field of charity in the United States, Canada and Mexico, and has at the present time nearly 1,200 members. The meetings of the conference are very enjoyable. They bring together a large body of people who are earnestly interested in good works, and who constitute a delightful fellowship. The conference holds for a week. General meetings are held daily, and section meetings are held both morning and afternoon for the discussion of special subjects, such as college settlements, charity organizations, dependent children, insanity, juvenile reformation, prison reforms, hospitals, municipal and county charities, etc. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in these subjects. Further information can be obtained by addressing Mr. J. J. Kelso, Toronto.

LOSING NO TIME.
Now Swine Building at the Fair Grounds to be Begun Next Week—Other Improvements.

Queen's Park will undergo somewhat of a transformation during the next few weeks.

Work will be begun on the new swine shed next week. Messrs. Davidson & Hessel, of South London, are the contractors. A gang of carpenters have been at work for the past two days making alterations in the present building, where the swine were formerly kept, and it will in future be for cattle and sheep exclusively. The track will be greatly improved. The building formerly used by the W. C. T. U. dining hall has been moved southwest about 200 feet, and is being fitted up as a waiting room for patrons of the fair. It will be a great convenience. The new W. C. T. U. dining hall, near the Campbell street entrance, is being enlarged. A meeting of the fair board was held this afternoon.

SOLDIERS WILL NOT PARADE
Through the City Streets on Tuesday—Citizens Can Witness Them at Queen's Park.

The military will not parade through the city streets on Tuesday morning, as most people expect. The troops will march at 9 a.m. direct from Carling's Heights to the fair grounds, where a grand military maneuvers will be performed. Many will be disappointed at not seeing a free military show, but they can witness it at Queen's Park and at the same time contribute something to a charitable object.

The jubilee demonstrations will be inaugurated tomorrow by the Sons of England parade to Princess Rink. In the great majority of city churches, special jubilee services will be held, while in none of them references to the great event will be omitted. The collections in most of them will go to the Victoria hospital fund.

A Perfect Lawn Hydrant.
Mr. Robert Skelly, 245 Dundas street, has applied for a patent on an invention of his own—a very useful one, as scores who are using it will testify. It is a lawn hydrant, minus the defects of the regular article known by that name. The peculiarity of Mr. Skelly's hydrant is that it is seatless. The seat of the average hydrant, as every citizen who uses one knows, is always a seat of trouble. It is made of brass which continually wears away, requiring repairs and fresh washers with annoying frequency. There is no such difficulty with Mr. Skelly's invention. It has no seat to wear away, and will last a lifetime. Should repairs be needed they can be made without digging up the ground. Every one who keeps a lawn service should have one. They can be seen at Skelly's establishment, 245 Dundas street.
