GARDENERS NOT AGAINST HUCKSTERS

At Banquet Friday Night Matter Was Brought to the Attention of Mayor Graham.

At Suggestion of His Worship a Deputation Will State Case in a Couple of Weeks.

Successful as have been the annual panquets of the London and District Gardeners, the event on Friday night at a down-town restaurant easily eclipses all precedents, both in attendance and enthusiasm. About one hundred and fifty were present, including many ladies. Supper was served at 8:30, and the programme was entered upon immediately after, with Mayor Regiment Band, will arrive in London Graham occupying the chair. He warmly welcomed the gardeners and their ladies on behalf of the city, and stated the time was not far distant when the adjacent districts would be incorporated within the city limits, so rapid were the expansions being made.
A. C. Johnston, president of the Gardeners' Association, declared that the growers around London produced fruit and vegetables second to none in Can-

The Hucksters.

J. J. Davies, of the winning team made mention of the hucksters being debarred from the local market, and declared if the law was not repealed it would be exceedingly detrimental to he growers on the whole. It was neessary, he said, for them to dispose of heir goods as quickly as possible on the market, as they were very perishable, generally, and the gardener's time was exceedingly precious on the land. The mayor stated there were strong arguments on both sides. The retail growers were chiefly responsible the bylaw being passed. He invited the n two weeks' time before the council, when their grievances would receive the best attention and consideration. e. D. Dawson spoke on behalf of the losing team, They were beaten, he remarked, but not disheartened, and accepted their defeat in a good way. He illustrated his speech with a fund
