In it he says that one of his creditors, a country-man of his own, pursued him so re-lentlessly and unremittingly for the amount of his account, with such Shy-lock-like meanness, that he was al-most driven insane. Try as he would to make his business productive, he found his assets rapidly fading away, while his liabilities grew larger and larger. Finally, in despair, he sought relief from his troubles in flight. In concluding his letter, which really is a pathetic one, he states that he has no intention of avoiding one cent of his debts, and hopes to be able to re-turn to Victoria before very long, pay all he owes, and not be ashamed to look any man fair in the face.

The body of a boy named Steinfalt has been found on a road near the city of Hamburg. The throat had been cut and the abdomen ripped open, the entrails removed and the body other-wise shockingly mutilated. The body of Seymour Porter was found in Toronto harbor, near Good-erham & Wor.s' wharf on Tuesday. Porter was the bookkeeper at Rice, Lewis & Co.'s, whose strange disap-pearance last New Year's excited so much interest.
