Religious Freedom

Emperior Nicholas' Easter Gift to His Subjects of Vast Importance.

Nominal Liberty of Conscience Hitherto a Cloak for Bigotry.

Czar's Act Involves Complete Reversal of Russian Policy.

T. PETERSBURG, May 1.—Religious freedom conferred upon his subjects by Emperor Nicholas as an Easter gift is an historic event of the highest signifimission of millions of arrears of taxes to the peasants, a long list of decorations and six pages of promotions of bureau-cratic officials are worth little comment. cratic officials are worth little comment. Liberty of conscience has been repeated diplomatically, and Procurator Pobiedonostseff in his famous reply to the evangelical petition of 1888 contended that it existed in the empire. The fact that in trysting places all religions have been tolerated in Russia but none has been allowed to trespass upon the orthodox faith as enunciated from the mosque that faces the church on Nevsky Prospect in St. Petersburg. People were free to remain true to the religion of their fathers, but were forbidden to make proselytes. Everybody might enter but none unight leave the orthodox church without forfeiting all civil rights, including the right to inherit or own property, and in the train of that policy persecutions were directed against the "Raskolniki" or dissentient sects, especially the "Old Religary". were directed against the "Raskolniki" or dissentient sects, especially the "Old Believers." Among the Raskolniki are numbered a thousand and one queer and rustic heresies bred of the great schism caused by the reform of the ancient Liturgy and augmented by the suppression of the Patriarchale by Peter the Great. The old believers, who clung to the old Break Up Into Many Sects

New York, May 1.—Possibility of trouble between the Great Northern and Union Pacific interests has been avoided, according to Wall street reports today by the formation of a syndicate to take over the Union Pacific's holdings of Northern Securities Co. stock. According to the report the syndicate is under the leadership of the First National Bank or New York and the price to be paid is $150 per share. In addition to taking over the stock the syndicate is to guarantee that encroachments will not be made in Union Pacific territory by the Great Northern or Northern Pacific. Break Up Into Many Sects

These latter survived countless other sects. Morality and wealth were the secrets of their strength. This branch of the Old Believers includes merchant princes of Moscow, rivalling those of America, but they have never ceased to be regarded as a postates from the orthodox church and have been subjected to all sorts of persecutions as such. The humbler dissenters have had a much harder time, being hunted down until secretly they gave rise to a brood of strange sects. One preached redempa much harder time, being hunted down until secretly they gave rise to a brood of strange sects. One preached redemption by suicide and a fiery or bloody baptism; others worshipped images of Napoleon as the Messiah, believing he escaped to Siberia and would return some day and establish a reign of justice and peace, and still others, like the Flagellants, cunichs, jumpers and admits, which are now practically wiped out. Logically the Emperor's act involves a complete reversal of the Russian policy of seeking national unity in conquered provinces in religious unity. He has accepted the axiom of the Metropolitan Antius: "You cannot hold strange children in the church against their will," and recognizes in religious variety good for the nation as well as for the church itself, a principle which, if acknowledged politically, would mean a federated Russia.

MARKING THE BOUNDARY LINE

How the Division of British Columbla From Alaska Will Be Indicated.

There are now in Victoria three survey parties which the Dominion government is sending north to demark the boundary between Canada's domain in the North and Alaska—that territory which the Unit-ed States bought from Russia for seven millions of dollars years ago.

The Canadian party will be accompanand has already shipped a good-sized tonnage of ore of a high grade. been located by triangulation or astronomy, a wide trail will be cut and monuments placed at points of vantage, on anountain peaks, at river crossings, etc., to mark the new boundary.

Mr. George White-Fraser will be in charge of one party of nine men, who will sail by the steamer Tees on Thursday night for Portland canal, arrangements having been made to land the party at the head of navigation. From the head of Portland canal this party will work north and northwesterly, following the line. Mr. Biggar will have another party, which will go into the Rainy Hollow district, and Mr. Biggar will have another party, which will go into the Rainy Hollow district, and Mr. Biggar will accompany three parties of united States surveyors; canadian surveyors will accompany three parties of united States surveyors, similarly engaged. The surveyors, when a line is agreed upon, will cut a swath of twenty feet through wooded country and will build monuments of aluminum bronze. If the parties agree, the monuments will be creeted at the points agreed upon; otherwise further arbitration will take place.

Mr. George White-Fraser, when seen last night, said his party would go north on the Tees Thursday evening. There would be nine, including Mr. Hordern and his assistant, Mr. Hair of the United States survey. The party would son north on the award of the commission which sat the head of navigation on Portland canal, and follow the line as marked and mapped in, the award of the commission which sat at Paris. The surveyors would continue of their work until October, and the work would be carried on next year from the point reached at the end of the season. The line would be demarked by triangula-tion and also by astronomy. The line will be crearly defined after Gloom Presages The line would be demarked by triangulation and also by astronomy.

The line will be clearly defined after the manner of that at the southern border of Canada, beyond which the "free people" live. A swath or trail twenty feet wide will be cut through the wooded country. On the mountain peaks monuments of a'-uminum bronze will be erected. These monuments will be thrity inches in height and drilled into the solid rock. In the valleys, at river crossings and other points, larger monuments will be erected, set in concrete foundations. These monuments will be practically indestructible.

Mr. Fraser and party worked last year in the vicinity of the Stikiae river, while Mr. Vigor worked in the Chilkat district. There is now in Seattle an American survey party headed by Mr. J. A. Flemer of Washington, D. C., which is going up the Chilkat river to work east to join another party at the intersection of the White Pass and Chilkat rivers.

Other parties are now on their way here, Mr. Flemer states, but he is uncertain when they will arrive. One party is to head up the Portland canal, one to work on the Salmon river, one for the Stikine river and another on the Unuk river. All the parties are starting about a month earlier than usual, as there is much work to be done this year.

For each American party there will be a Canadian survey party, Mr. Flemer states. These parties will have their own sections of the boundary, and as soon as one man is ready to mark his line he notifies the chief of the other party, who has his men verify the line thus drawn. If the surveys of the two parties agree the monuments are erected, but in case of a disagreement the Canadian and American parties will leave the decision to the boundary commissioners, and they will have to visit the field and come to a decision. This is the only system, Mr. Flemer says, that could be hit upon that wou'd not necessitate the commissioners being on the field all through the survey.

The suicide theory was strongly emphasized by Levy, who contended that the stains on Youne's fingers proved he had shot himself. Mr. Levy scouted the idea that the girl would be able to make such an assault on a trained athlete like Young.
