commission appointed by the Natal government to inquire into the admin-istration of native affairs must not be forgotten. We gave a long report of it in our issue for Oct. 18, 1907. The re-port declared that it is not only in the power of the government, but a posi-tive duty to begin by some immediate administrative act to exorcise the evil which, like a canker, "is insiduously destroying our reputation for morality which, like a canker, "is insidiously destroying our reputation for morality and equity." The report, it will be remembered, spoke of the debatchment of the Zulh women by whites, and the commis-sioners did not hesitate to say that "nothing was more calculated to stretch the endurance of even the most submissive people to the break-ing point than this hideous crime, which the natives regard as one of their principal grievances."

their principal grievances." But other grievances were mention-ed—the conduct of the police, lack of educational facilities, unjust fines, educational facilities, unjust fines, high rents. "All who have at heart the peace and security of our sorely-tried South African dominions will rejoice at the news of Dinizulu's quiet surrender to take his trial on the serious charges brought against him by the Natal gov-ernment," writes the Times (Dec. 11).

These general phrases require to be made good by specific information. Nothing in recent months has been heard in this country of murders and neard in this country of murders and outrages in Zululand, and, so far as we can judge from colonial newspap-ers, the South African public is equally in the dark. The suspicion of Dinizulu may be well founded, but none of us know on what it is based, and Din-izulu bimself appears to suggest that CHANGING HANDS Izlulu himself appears to suggest that it should be tested by putting him on trial in the ordinary way.

IN ZULULAND NOW

Hard Things Are Being Said Against Government of

Natal

Something is happening in Zululand which requires most careful handling and the greatest wisdom on all sides, otherwise we may be plurged into otherwise we may be plunged into a great native war with untold ill effects. Hard things are already being said against the Natal government. "For good or ill, says the Westmin-ster Gazette, "the Zulus are British subjects for whom we have assumed responsibility and trusteeship, and who cannot therefore be treated as common enemies. That is true in a very special sense of Diriguly whose very special sense of Dinizulu, whose alleged seditious conduct is the cause of the action now being taken by the Natal government. For in 1897, when Zululand was annexed to Natal, Mr. Zululand was annexed to Natal, Mr. Chamberlain stipulated with the col-ony that this chief, who was then in Position of the Imperial Government The Birmingham Daily Post, writing, with regard to a statement made by Sir Albert Hime, says: "We regret to see that Sir Albert Hime, whose dis-tinguished services to the empire dur-ing the war period will be gratefully remembered and whose official or for Imperial co-operation whenever difficulty arises in South Africa, per-mitted, himself to say that he 'hoped there would be no interference on the part of the Imperial government or by busybodies at home.' In such a mat-ter there can be no such thing as 'in-terference.'' Local self-government notwithstanding, the Imperial cabinet is responsible for the security and peace of every portion of the empire; and that responsibility is especially heavy where great native populations past few days, when the First Na-tional Realty company purchased the estate of Capt.
