Crime In Canada

For the Year Ending Sept. 30th, 1921

(Dr. J. G. Shearer.)

Statistics of crime are always of widespread public interest. They are of special interest at the present time in Canada by reason of their bearing on the question of the effects of prohibition and of Government sale of liquor. Extremists on both sides are liable to quote what suits them, and reject the others. A representative of "Social Welfare" has had access to the statistical abstract now on file at the Judicial Branch of the Bureau of Statistics. The full Blue Book will not be off the press for some time.

Canada's returns for 1921 show an increase in both indictable and non-indictable offenses. There is an increase of 953 or 5.2% in indictable offenses over 1920. In non-indictable offenses the increase is 13,439 or 9.3%. The increase is due in considerable measure to new laws, creating new offenses. It is well therefore to look at the figures in more detail.

The whole group of indictable offenses against the person, i.e., serious crimes such as murder, manslaughter, rape, assault, bigamy, etc., for immoral purposes, etc., show a decided decrease in occurrence, though an increase in convictions was also secured—a healthy condition. Of certain crimes in this whole group, charges for non-support of family show a decrease of practically 20%, while murder, rape and manslaughter, particularly murder and rape show considerable increase. Burglary, hand-tied, robbery and like crimes, also show a considerable increase in volume. This no doubt is due in considerable measure to the extensive and business depression.

A similar increase is shown in crimes without violence against property such as theft, embezzlement, false pretenses, doubtless due to the causes above cited, but malicious offenses against property are marked by a slight decrease. There is a slight increase in forgery and offenses against the currency. Illicit stills show a decrease though comparatively small, both in offenses charged and in convictions, so that the people who speak of wholesale prevalence of moonshine in Canada must face the disquieting figure of only 2.7 illicit stills for every 100,000 of population in 1921.

Convictions for drunkenness decreased 5,407 or approximately 14%—the total convictions for drunkenness for the year being 34,392 or 4 per 1,000 of population, as compared with 1921 when there were 41,379 or a rate of 6 per 1,000 population. Offenses against liquor, prohibition and temperance acts show an increase of 213 in a total of 10,460, which is 1.5 per 1,000 of population.

Charges of general outlawry, disrespect for laws and waves of crime against the person and property of Canada's official records of offenses against her laws. As has been seen, the offenses against liquor laws have shown a slight increase. Those against her Vehicles Acts and her Income Tax regulations show a considerable increase due to new laws having come into operation. The whole volume of offenses in 1921 arising from drunkenness, violation of liquor laws, etc., amounts to 5 per 1,000 of population, the rate for 1921 being 4.4 per 1,000. The entire volume for the year was 182,647 or roughly 21 per 1,000 of population, and as we have seen, of these 5 per 1,000 were for offenses relating to drunkenness and non-observance of liquor laws.

This, impartial readers will admit, is not abnormal. The corresponding figures for 1921 are 17.5 per 1,000 and 6.4 respectively. The increase from 1901-1921 was 7%. That for 1911-1921, 3 1/2%.

Offenses against motor regulations total 32,641, or 3.8 per 1,000 of population, as compared with 34,392 breaches of liquor laws.

These statistics show also that the claim that the going into effect of prohibition as compared with license or government sale results in the people taking to the use of drugs, is not well founded. Offenses against the drug laws after decisive strengthening of the laws themselves, and more vigorous enforcement thereof, totalled 1443, an increase of only 13 or less than 1%. These offenses represent roughly 16 per 100,000 of population. British Columbia always heads the list in this column which is in considerable measure doubtless due to her large proportionate Oriental population. The figures supplied by the Federal Department of Health for the year ending September 30th, 1921, by Provinces, are as follows: Nova Scotia, 21; New Brunswick, 29; Quebec, 252; Ontario, 312; Manitoba, 36; Saskatchewan, 170; Alberta, 162; British Columbia, 501.

Of course, the record as contrasted with Ontario with over half a million more of population. In any case, the opponents of prohibition in the face of the official figures cannot defend the statement that the prohibition of liquor results in increase of the use of drugs.

Offenses against the law regarding the keeping and patronizing of houses of ill fame total 4138, or 47 per 100,000 which shows a decrease from the year 1911 with a rate of 108 per 100,000, when very high figures in this group were reached.

One gratifying fact of the returns is a decrease of 1.6% in the volume of offenders under sixteen years of age, which suggests that the allegation of a "wave of juvenile delinquency" has been exaggerated. We may have a further report to make when the full returns are received and studied.

CANADA'S PRIDE

Canada has many institutions which she is justly proud but there is one of which at least a million of Canadians are particularly fond. It is the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal which has kept Canada to the fore in the newspaper world. That great family and farm paper goes on year after year improving in every department until it has reached a point of proficiency that places it far in the van. The publishers promise even greater value for 1923. It is already the greatest value on this Continent and no home can well afford to be without it.
