

How to use the LESSONS.

1. It is of course taken for granted that the pupils can read and write their own language before being introduced to these Lessons; and that they have already been through the preliminary spelling course for English. I do not warrant these Lessons to accomplish much unless these conditions be first complied with.

2. Each list of words should be committed to memory, and the spelling mastered by dictation.

3. Those portions which appear in large type should receive special attention, and be explained as clearly as possible by the teacher.

4. The model sentences should be distinctly, and slowly enunciated by the teacher, and repeated by the pupils. at first slowly, but gradually increasing in rapidity of utterance.

5. The exercises should be left entirely to the pupils. but corrected by the teacher. A Key to the Exercises will be printed, D. V., quarterly for special use.

6. All Notes and Rules should be committed to memory.

Notice. The subscription price for these Lessons is 25cts per month, with the privilege of obtaining a bound copy at the end of the year for $2.00.

Price of bound copy to non-subscribers $5.00. Original donors of $5.00 and upwards will receive monthly copies free, and bound copy for $2.00.
