FATHER CALLAGHAN DEAD:

Distinguished Sulpician Passes Away In -Montreal.

Universal regret will follow the announcement that Rev. Father Callaghan, for many years connected with St. Patrick's Church, Montreal, died rather suddenly last week, though he had been ill for some time, and his physicians had declared that he could not recover. He had wen alling for months, but for the past four weeks had been confined to the Hotel Dieu. The funeral took place on Monday morning at the Church of Notre Dame from which place all the local members of the Sulpician Order are burded. The body layin state at the Hotel Dieu until Sunday afternoon, when it was transferred to Notre Dame. The interment took place in the vaults of the Sulpicians at the Grand Seminary. May his soul rest in peace.

Rev. Father James Callaghan was in his fifty-first year at the time of his death. He was born in Montreal on November 25, 1850. He received his early education in the Christian Brothers School; and then went to they Montreal College. He commenced his training for the church at the Grand Seminary, and then went to Paris; where it was completed, and he was training for the church at the Grand-Seminary, and then went to Paris, where it was completed, and he was there ordained in the work/which he so faithfully carried out until hist death. It was intended that he should take a professorship in the Boston, Seminary, but when the late Rev. Father Dowd went to Paris with the Irish pilgrimage, he brought Rev. Father Callaghan back to Montreall, and he was professor at Montreal College for two years, and, afterwards went to Str Ann's parish as curate for a short term. Then he was transfered to Str Patrick's parish, where he labored for sixteen or seventeen years.

a short term. Then he was ransier-red to St. Patrick's parish; where he labored for sixteen or seventeen years. The Rev. Father subsequently became professor of Scripture and Church History at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, but returned to Montreal a, year later. He was then appointed chaplain of the Hotel Dleu and Royal Victoria hospitals, but the parishioners of St. Patrick's always looked upon him as their own. He was exceedingly popular with the young men, and for a long time was spiritual director of the Catholic Young Men's Society. He was a brother of Rev. Martin Callaghan, of St. Patrick's 1, Rev. Father Luke Callaghan, secretary to the Archbishop; Mr. Thos Callaghan, of the Post Office; and Mr. John Callag ana, fruit merchant.

OBITUARY. MRS. MASON.

We regret to be obliged to chronicle the death of one of our old Catholic citizens, Mrs. John Mason, who passed away at the Precious Blood Convent, St. Joseph St., on Monday last. Mrs. Mason was nearly eighty-eighty years of age, and retained her faculties to the very last. She was a grand Irish-Catholic character; one of the old guard, with whom the Faith is always as strong as life. Born in Cork, she came to this country when a young woman. She had lived in Toronto for fifty years and more, salways identified with the Church in its every movement. Her church and her family were her care, and well and nobly did she do her duty oward both. For some years past Mrs. Mason has lived at the Precious Blood Convent, where she died. Her husband predeceased her. She leaves behind three sons; Colonel J. John R., and Wm. Mason, and one daughter. We regret to be obliged to chronicle and three sons;—Colonel J. John R., and Wm. Mason, and one daughters. Mrs McCarthy. Her remains were buried from St. Basil's Church, on Wednesday, morning. May her sould rest in peace.

GODERICH.

In the course of his weekly instruc-tion, our pastor, last Sunday dwelt on the necessity of there being particu-lar attention ollutted some Catholic lar attention of lotted some Catholic paper of papers, in those days of religious indifferentism. That the laity be most thoroughly and minutely, instructed in their religion, thus being able fully and clearly to account for the faith that is in them, particularly to our separated brethren many of whom would be auxious to embrace the one true faith were till properly explained. His pleasure upon his next visit to the different families of his parish would be freatly increased to find, in every home a Catholic papers or number of papers, and to learn that such papers be thoroughly read and understood, that you all may be readous Catholes, Catholics that are not estamed to proclaim yourselves.

"Among men, the Catholio College. man has a tremendous responsibility in this work of saving, society, to Christ. He has had the training, to fit him for life, he has obtained the knowledge by which he is able to understand the relations between man and man, between man and society, and between both and God.

"Our hope for the future is in the Church of God. It is in the lives of men of faith. It is in organizations like our Young Men's Catholic Association. Our congratulations to your association upon your work of twentyfive years. Our prayers for you that the work may continue, that you may lead men to know the one true God. and Jesus, whom He has sent, forthis is eternal life."

Mgr. Martinelli has already been informed of his promotion, and he is preparing to leave for Rome. This is not of great surprise to him, as he received an intimation of it last December, though there was no confirmation.

Mgr. Martinelli will come to Rome to receive the red hat from the Pope as soon as the official notification of bis appointment reaches America and a successor, as Papal Delegate is an-

Mgr. Martinelli was appointed Apostolic Delegate to the United States in August, 1896, and his recall, after, three, or four years' residence in this country, was almost a foregone conclusion. He came to Washington as successor to Cardinal Satolli, and his administration, has been pronounced. successful beyond the expectations of his most sanguine friends. It is said that he received practically no diplomatic training, that he is by choice a monk, and loves the monastic life. A year or so after his assuming the duties of Apostolic Delegate the late ter became so an luous that he was relieved of the office of Superior General of the Augustinian Orders throughout the whole world—the highest position within the gift of the Hermits of St. Augustin. Notwithstanding that he now becomes a Prince of the Church and in line of elevation to the Papal chair, he will remain, to most intents and purposes, an Augustinian monk.

Speculation is already rife regarding his successor. In this connection the name most generally mentioned is that of Monsignor Diomede Folconio, Archbishop of Larisse, Apostolic Delegate fithe Domnion of Canada Mgr Ealconio was appointed to the latter office, August 3, 1899, and re-sides in Ottawa, Ont. Nearly four-teen years of his life were spent either as, a Franciscan friar in a New York Monastery, or as a professor in St. Bonaventure-s College, Alleghany, N.Y. He was born in the Neapolitan in Italy, and first came to this country more than thirty, years, ago. After completing, his theological course in St. Bonaventure's College, be was ordained to the priesthood by the late Bishop Timon, and remained some time after his ordination in the college, where he became an instructor. And after a few years he became Professor of Theology and Prefect of the College. Later he was sent as a mission priest to Winsted, Coun, where he laboreds for several years with great success. Thence he was transferred o the Franciscan Monastery in New York. In 1878 he was sent to Har-bor Grace, Newtoundings where he was appointed Vicar General of the diocese. After five or six years in Newfoundland be returned to the New York Monastery, where he was cleeted prefect of St Donnventure's College.

As it was hearly twenty-five years since he had seen his father, who was then nearly eighly sears old; he got permission to visit Italy. When he reached there the General of the Franciscan Order would not allow him to return, and he was shortly afterwards elected Provincial of the Order at St. Bernardino, in Calabria. Three. years later he was unanimously re-elected, and before his second form expired he was shosen Procurator. The Pope having conceived a high opinion

NEW ORLEANS CATHOLICS.

The canvassers who have been engaged for the past two weeks making a religious house-to-house canvass of New Orleans for the purpose of determining the religious inclinations of the people, reported to-day that the canvass had been completed for one-third of the city, and showed the following result;—Roman Catholics, 57,520; Episcopalians, 11,033; Presby-terians, 7,430; Methodists, South, 5,532; Lutherans, 5,225; Hebrews, 4,553; Baptists, 2,370; Methodists, 1,122; other minor denominations, 1,132; other minor denominations, 1,231; no religious preferences, 3,098. The result creates some surprise. Its accuracy is generally recognized. There has been some dispute as to the proportion the Catholics bear to the footal population. They claim half, but they have been decided by the event. The canvassers who have been enproportion the Catholics bear to the ctotal population. They claim half, but this has been deviced by the evangelical churches, yet this canvas, made by the evangelical churches, shows that if the same ratio is preserved throughout the city, of which there is no reasonable doubt, the Catholics constitute 101,800 of a total population of 27,000 or year, were population of 287,000, or even than they themselves claimed.

The quality of fat entile was not as good as it should be at this season of the year. Fully one-half of the offerings in both the shipping and butchers' classes was composed of undinished earlie; that ought to have been left in the stable for a month or, six weeks longer. It is hard to understand why it is that farmers will sell young steers and helfers, that have only commenced to be in good thriving condition, to say nothing about not being fat. These animals, if kept longer, would become more suitable for the market and pay handsomely for being kept. There were many two-vear-old steers and helfers of this kind sold to-day that would have paid a farmer that understand were readily bought up at about the same prices as were quoted last week. But in the comment to medium classes, especially the butchers', prices were easier and many of the drovers found—it very difficult to realize the prices they had paid in the country, to say nothing about expenses incurred in bringing them here.
