

The newspapers and lecturers are still busy setting forth to children and youth the money value of an education. To this there is no objection, if the dollars-and-cents phase is not made too prominent. Education must be commended to children for its own sake and not for the money it may bring to its possessor. It is to be sought first, not because it will fill the pocketbook, but because it enriches and ennobles the life.—Western School Journal.

ENTRANCE GRAMMAR NOTES

By CHAS. G. FRASER, Principal Crawford Street School, Toronto.
For Third and Fourth Classes.
PRICE, 15 CENTS.

Entrance Grammar Notes is an ideal little text-book of English Grammar, presenting, in convenient form and striking type, the essentials of the science of language which an entrance pupil should know as a preparation for definite work in composition. The order is logical. It begins with the sentence—the unit of a language—and then deals with the parts of which a sentence is composed, before taking up the classification and inflection of the different parts of speech.
