

Program managers

Program managers are evaluated in the same fashion as all other employees. However, raters are required to seek input from appropriate geographic and functional bureaus and others as appropriate.