

CONTENTS.

(Vol. II.)

CHAPTER I.

	PAGE
Ujiji, its scenery, residents, market, and vicinity — Arab rivals —
The circumnavigation of the Tanganika — Commander Cameron and the outflowing Lukuga — The encroaching waters — The legend of the lake — Evening	1

CHAPTER II.

The Lady Alice afloat again — Her mate and crew — Anxiety on her behalf — On hallowed ground — Unwelcome visitors: in the haunts of the Ruga-Ruga — The aborigines' last retreat — A scene of blood — The robbers of the Lake, and their tutelary spirits — A geological problem: were there once two lakes? — Rising waters — The abode of the genii — A storm — Forest fires — At the mouth of Cameron's "outlet" — The Lukuga
creek	18

CHAPTER III.

Back in camp — An epidemic of small-pox — Panic of desertion — Kalulu's disloyalty — Livingstone's lenience — Imaginary terrors — Hairdressing ad absurdum — Ruanga's opinion of white men — A village sketch — The villagers of Uhombo — In puris naturalibus — A touch of human nature — On Livingstone's traces — What is there in feathers? — The Manyema: their life and manners — Our ass astonishes the natives — Bloodless wars — Nicknames — A tribe with beards but no wives — The confluence of the Luama and the Livingstone	61

CHAPTER IV.

At a swinging pace — Tippu-Tib, the Arab trader — News of Cameron and his difficulties — The river that flows North for ever — In Dwarf-land, fighting the dwarfs — Tippu-Tib's conditions — Friends in council — Heads or tails — Kalulu's accident at Nyangwé — Its residents and market — A muster of the Expedition	94