"A reciprocity agreement is give and take, and my impression is that when examine closely this agreement you will congratulate yourselves that we were able to make one that covered so wide a range of subjects." The president declared the criticism that reductions had been avoided purposely on manufactured articles wholly unfounded and that a reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada must of nec-essity relate more to agricultural products than to manufactures.

The Price of Wheat. "The suggestion that the opening of our markets to Canadian wheat and other cereals," continued the president, "will reduce the price of land in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa, is refuted by every table of statistics and presents the comparative increases of land in those states under the influence of the opening of the wheat fields of the states farther west

"To let the wheat of the northwest come down to Minneapolis and Chi-cago will steady the price of wheat, will prevent its fluctuations, will make much more difficult speculation, and will furnish us greater insurance against short crops and high prices. But that it will in the end substantially reduce the price of wheat, which is fixed for the world in Liverpool, no one familiar with the conditions

"It will size the United States much greater control of the wheat market than it has ever had before. It will enable its milling plants to turn Canadian wheat into flour and send abroad the finished product, and it will stimulate the sale of manufactures and other things that, we have to sell to Canada." The president further asserted that in removing the artificial barriers between the northwestern part of the United States and the Casadian provinces, the asreement would result in the bringing over of live cattle to feed on the corn of the American farmer. He added that the rapid increase of population in the United States required "a cource of food sup ply like Canada, right at our doors."

A "Golden Opportunity." "We shall be blind indeed," said the president, "if we reject this golden opportunity to add to the strength and virility of our country by thus increasing our self- supporting capac-

Wilson's Invalids' Port is a standard preparation—prepared according to the British and French Pharmacopœias. It consists of a delicate, pleasant-tasting Oporto wine, containing an exact and constant quantity of the principles of Cinchona Bark-these principles are present in such a form as to obviate the distressing results frequently following the administration of ordinary Cinchona extracts. The following analysis prove that it is a tonic preparation of a superior character : .

The Canadian Government Analyst reports: proportion to act as an excellent appetizer, and a most agreeable tonic and fortifier. I Hereby Certify that I have analysed Wilson's Invailds' Port Wine, and find it contains the best of Natural Port Wine and Extract of Cinchona Bark as its chief principles.
