

HON. J. J. FOY DEAD HAD LONG ILLNESS

Late Attorney-General Was in Bad Health for Two Years.

PREMIER'S TRIBUTE

Was Recognized as Man of Ripe and Wise Judgment.

Hon. James Joseph Foy passed away at his residence, 90 Isabella street, yesterday, after an illness lasting two years and compelling him to resign his portfolio as attorney-general. Since that time he has been a member of the provincial cabinet without portfolio. His condition has grown rapidly more critical during the last two weeks, owing to arterial hardening. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Foy was recognized as a man of ripe and wise judgment, of most kindly nature, of sterling integrity and of unwavering devotion to the public interest of the province. As the counselor and friend of his late leader, Sir James Whitney, alike in prosperity and adversity, Mr. Foy did splendid service to the public, his name will be inseparably connected with the great administration whose policy and traditions it is my privilege to maintain and carry on.

Mr. Foy is survived by two sons and two daughters. Both sons are with the colors. Capt. James Foy is with the 7th Battalion at Ottawa. The other son, Edward, wounded at St. Julien, is at Shorncliffe. Born in Toronto. The late minister was born in Toronto on Feb. 22, 1847. He was the son of the late Patrick F. Foy, who came to this city from Ireland in 1823, becoming partner in the business house of the late James Austin, president of the Dominion Bank. He was educated at St. Michael's College and at the University of Toronto. He was married in 1879 to Miss Marie Cuvillier, daughter of the late Maurice Cuvillier of Montreal. He was admitted to the bar in 1871, became a member of the law society in 1881, was made K.C. in 1883 and successfully practiced his profession in Toronto, being a partner of J. Stewart, Tupper, McEwen & Macdonald, and then becoming head of the legal firm of Foy & Kelly.

Mr. Foy was first elected to the provincial legislature in 1896, and was re-elected at the general elections of 1902, 1905 and 1908 and in 1911. He was appointed commissioner of crown lands by the late Sir James Whitney on May 30, 1905, and attorney-general on May 30, 1905. In December, 1914, he was compelled to resign his portfolio through ill-health, and since that time has been a member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Had Big Interests. Mr. Foy was vice-president of the Albany Club and of the National Life

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

This time they must be pretty close to their immediate objective, Kolomea.

In winning this striking success, the Russian method appears to have been, first, the piecing of the Austrian lines at several points where wide gaps were made, and next, the rolling up of the various fragments of the lines of the enemy, as a preliminary to an advance. The enemy in the meantime was held as much as possible to his positions by threats of frontal attacks. No doubt exists that the quality of the Austrian and German troops used for manning trenches has much deteriorated, from the lack of fighting spirit just shown by the bulk of the formations. It has been calculated by the allied staffs that by this time the reserves of the enemy can have no chance of recovery from the blows that henceforth will be dealt him. The present Russian success is only the beginning of the summer campaign and at least four or five good months for fighting lie ahead.

It is not improbable that the grave defeat suffered by the Austrians will compel them to retreat to the Carpathians. The full effects of this the first Russian success in the Caucasus has brought them down to Erzzerzoum, Trebizond and other points before the Austrians and German counter-measures by the aid of German and Austrian reinforcements, so it may be expected that with an energetic commander like Brusiloff, the big patch on the map. It does not seem for the enemy a mere matter of retreating 20 miles and reforming his organizations, for the survivors of the present battle will hardly be in their former fighting trim again for months.

One immediate effect of the Russian victory will probably be its damaging the prospects of the German war loan. Some of the speeches of Von Bethmann-Hollweg were made with an eye to this flotation. With the Teutonic arms receding in the east after the German boasts that their lines were impregnable and that the Russian army was out of the reckoning, the German money-lender will have much further cause to doubt the credibility of the official accounts of affairs.

Australian troops have made their presence felt on the western battlefield, south of Bois Grenier, where they entered the trenches of the enemy. They took six German prisoners, killed twelve and destroyed two trench-mortars. Only one officer and one man of the Australians became casualties, both being slightly wounded.

No infantry engagements were fought before Verdun yesterday, and the artillery firing was intermittent. All the previous night the enemy violently attacked the French sector east of the Thiaumont Farm and gained a footing in some advanced French trenches on the slopes of Hill 221, west of the farm.

What the war office at Rome describes as a strong line was captured by the Italian troops in the Lagarina Valley by a brilliant attack after strong artillery preparation. This chain of positions runs from the Farnesean height to the east of Aïn and the Amezano Mountains along the whole of the Rio Romblin. The fact that the Italians were able to launch so successful a stroke shows that the Austrians have considerably weakened their forces in order to send aid to their sorely tried armies in Galicia.

PRESENTATION OF COLORS TO PALS' BATTALION

Will Take Place at Annual Open Air Horse Show on Dominion Day.

A very keen interest is being taken in the 14th annual open air horse parade and show to be held in the Queen's Park on Dominion Day, and children's ponies will be in the east side of the park. The presentation of colors to Col. Chadwick's Overseas Pals' Battalion, 124th, will also add to the interest of the occasion. The Niagara will arrive in town from the presentation will take place in front of the parliament buildings at 10 a.m. The executive have arranged to extend the time for receiving entries until Saturday, June 17, but exhibitors are requested to make their entries at once. The association have arranged for the distribution of small prizes to the exhibitors for decorations, which should add greatly to the attractiveness of the parade.

MILITARY CROSS FOR LIEUT. AULD

Brought in Wounded Under Fire During St. Eloi Battle.

LIEUT. JARVIS HURT

In Boulogne Hospital Suffering From Broken Ankle.

Lieut. Aemilius Jarvis, 35, son of Aemilius Jarvis, is stated to be suffering from a broken ankle, at Boulogne. He is a brother of Lieut. "Bill" Jarvis, the noted rugby player and yachtsman, who was killed in action at the battle of St. Julien, a year ago. Lieut. A. Jarvis is a well-known cricketer and noted as a rugby player and cricketer. Got the Military Cross.

PRETTY WEDDING AT SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Salvation Army Temple on Albert street on Monday, June 12, when Colonel and Mrs. Jacobs gave in marriage their daughter Edith, to Ernest H. Green, the only surviving member of his family, the rest of whom perished in the "Empress" disaster of two years ago.

The colonel is well known, having held the position of chief secretary to the Army in this country for a number of years and has won the admiration, confidence and esteem of the organization to which he belongs.

Colonel A. Gaskin, the present chief secretary, was master of the ceremonies, but the actual nuptial knot was tied by the father of the bride. The bride was a member of the organization, and the ceremony was participated in by some 200 guests. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and useful presents.

SUMMER SUIT FOR TEN DOLLARS

Hickey's Have a Wide Range of Styles Summer suits for ten dollars! How can a man, these hot, hot days, afford to be without a summer suit at such a low price, at a time when war has sent the price of cloth soaring? Hickey's service has risen to the demands for such a suit, and carries with it the usual Hickey qualities of appearance and service at the very minimum price.

They have a wide range of summer styles in crash, silk, mohair and Palm Beach that are just the ideal material in which you can be well-dressed and cool enough to enjoy even the warmest of summer days.

but come home and face my accusers, the question of holding the Ypres salient remains in abeyance, and owing to me left to hold a position that was most defensible. Had remained in England, I believe I would have succeeded in convincing Kitchener to abandon the salient, and the bloody battles of the past few days, with their losses on our best and bravest, would have been avoided.

The letter from General Hughes to Kitchener, published today, is, however, dated March 24, and according to General Hughes' interview last week, was written on March 24, April 8, when General Sir Sam Hughes sailed back to Canada on account of the Ypres charges.

This does not agree with the latter part of the interview, in which it was stated that the cable calling the Ypres salient was followed by the interview with Kitchener, but six days after. The cable was on the day after the interview, and it could not have been later than March 23.

General Hughes' letter to Kitchener was as follows: "Dear Earl Kitchener, Since leaving Ypres I have met a number of Canadian officers who have been discussing the Ypres salient, which our Canadian boys have drawn plans to hold. They have shown that it is practically new territory, and that the Town of Ypres is no longer for habitation. The British locating them from new positions, taking in fact, the sides of the worst possible ground. They point out, however, in building their new trenches—if the present lines are followed—it must be done practically in the open and under fire, and entail great and unnecessary sacrifice.

I do not know whether or not your attention has been drawn to this fact, but there can be no harm in making the suggestion. I presume, however, the whole matter rests with our mutual protection, and a complete new defence line will have to be made.

COLONIAL VISITORS TO ATTEND REVIEW

Legislators of New Zealand and Australia at Ex. Camp Thursday.

FIELD DAY FRIDAY

All Battalions Training in Toronto Will Assemble at Cedarvale.

Owing to a change in arrangements the Australian and New Zealand parliamentary party postponed their visit to Exhibition camp until tomorrow. A brigade review with the 166th Canadian Buffs, Sportsmen's and 18th Canadian Trench Battalions marching past, under command of Lt.-Col. R. C. Levesconte, will be carried out as a military exercise for the visitors' pleasure. The review will be directed out as a military exercise by camp commander and Lt.-Col. John S. Campbell, inspector of overseas troops.

On Friday the various battalions training in Toronto will assemble at Cedarvale for a field day. Route marching and ceremonial training will be featured.

Recruits volunteering for enlistment at the Toronto armories yesterday totaled 75, the number accepted being 28. On the corresponding day last week 60 offered and 27 were accepted. The fact that 75 men offering only 28 were found suitable for immediate enrollment with active service units was an unusual phase of yesterday's recruiting efforts.

Although a few of those turned down had previously been recruited, the total offering formed a fraction of the men who offered and failed to pass. Of the total offering yesterday, less than 40 per cent passed the examiners.

Construction Unit Led Again. The Construction Battalion again led in recruiting, having 10 men accepted. The Beavers and Irish Canadians each secured four recruits. The battalion totals now compare as follows:

Mississauga, 824; Buffs, 824; Toronto Light Inf., 538; Beavers, 1029; Irish Canadians, 1029; Bantams, 670. Five chauffeurs and two cooks are required by military headquarters. Recruits for these duties may apply at the armories recruiting depot.

The officers of the 10th Regiment, with Major W. R. Dimick, O.C., went in a body to Exhibition camp last night to visit the officers of the 84th Battalion and bid them farewell.

The 84th Battalion, Lt.-Col. W. T. Stewart commander, was formally reviewed at Exhibition camp yesterday. The battalion created a splendid impression by its steadiness on the march and the precision with which it went through the march-past manoeuvres.

Lt.-Col. R. C. Windyler, camp commander, took the salute. With him were Lt.-Col. J. S. Campbell, inspector of overseas troops, and Hon. Col. W. K. McNaught, who took an active part in the 84th's formation. The review ended with an address to the battalion's officers and men by Col. Windyler, in which he complimented the battalion on its work, and said he expected them to maintain the traditions of their predecessors at the front. He closed by calling for three cheers for the King. After the review both Col. Windyler and Campbell expressed satisfaction with the 84th's showing, and declared it to be a fine showing.

The funeral of the late Quartermaster-Sergeant David MacIntyre of the 170th Battalion, formerly of the 35th, who died on Monday at Exhibition Camp Hospital from cancer of the stomach, will take place with military honors this afternoon from 105 1/2 Givens street to Prospect Cemetery.
