What Is A Half Hour Worth?

"J. P. Morgan figured that every hour of his time was worth $1,000," says Bruce Barton, "and he had no patience with men who were late for appointments or who, when they came to see him, did not give him his money's worth in exchange for the time he took."

How much do you lose, in your business, by being too late—by trusting to inadequate transportation? Bruce Barton goes on to say that Lord Nelson declared he owed all of his success in life to having been a quarter of an hour before his time. Mr. Barton also quotes Napoleon as saying: "I beat the Austrians because they did not know the value of five minutes."

Just because you have never got around to buying the extra automobile you need, you may be losing sales, missing important business appointments. You are frequently a half-hour late and that means—too late.

There never was a time when motor cars were so inexpensive as right now.

The used car columns of The Times-Star list scores of excellent autos, which are in good condition and which will be had at most reasonable prices.

Be on time—beat your competitor at the wire—use an automobile in your business.

PROSPECTIVE HOME BUYERS

Renters and so forth can't guess why they should answer your ad. Instead of somebody else's ad. Full description copy that tells all the facts. The Times-Star is the kind that pays.

WANT

advertising is merely selling with the printed instead of the spoken word. If the "talk" (copy) isn't just right the want ad doesn't inform and cannot do its work.

AN ADVERTISER

Immediately put himself on the defensive when a prospect answers his ad and finds that some important point of description has been omitted or misrepresented. Full description copy that's to the point always pays.

GLAD TO RECEIVE JUNIORS' GIFTS

Several complimentary letters have been received at the headquarters of the Provincial Junior Red Cross, thanking them for their work, gifts and contributions during the last year. The Junior Red Cross had sent parcels containing such things as sweaters, wash cloths, scrub cloths, and the like, made by the children in schools of the province, to hospitals in Woodstock, Fredericton and St. Stephen and to the Lady Byng Health camp at Fair Vale. It was from these that the letters were received. "The things were very heavy welcome as if you ever care to send them again," was what the Chipman Memorial Hospital at St. Stephen wrote.

Boxes are now being made up to be sent to River Glade, Newcastle, Chatham and Moncton. Although no St. John children helped in the work, the Junior Red Cross has done considerable to help the St. John children at the camp for under-nourished children at Fair Vale. Complete outfits of clothing were sent for two children there and sweaters for three more.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

The Fairview Baptist Ladies' Aid carried out a successful strawberry festival last evening in the church hall. There were three large tables well-filled with good things to eat and with people to eat them. White and pink roses, peonies and syringa made a pretty decoration on the tables and about the bright room. Mrs. A. E. Kierland, president of the Ladies' Aid, was general convener and was assisted by Mrs. W. C. Ross, Mrs. J. W. Stevens, Mrs. L. Trafton, Mrs. J. W. Thorne, Mrs. Harry Carr, Mrs. Allan Black, Mrs. William Fox, Mrs. Carey Milton Currie and Miss Ida Wayne. The money raised will be used for church purposes.

CASE ADJUDGED

In the police court yesterday afternoon Archibald Cairns pleaded not guilty to assaulting Ada Kendall in a store in Mill street. He was defended by William M. Ryan, J. Faulkner, for the defence, tested as to the good character of the accused. The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

A ROYAL SCULPTOR

HATS MAKE OR MAR; STYLES OF THE DAY

By HEDDA HOYT

Fashion Editor of The United Press

New York, N. Y., July 17.—Hats are the most important factors in the feminine wardrobe. A woman is made or marred by her hat. The beauty is an unbecoming hat becomes an ugly duckling, and the ugly duckling in a becoming hat becomes, if not a beauty, an attractive person.

Gowns have little to do with one's beauty. A pretty woman looks as well as a plain one. Gowns cannot diminish or accentuate beauty to any great extent. But hats are the flatterers of the feminine wardrobe.

So far this season, the cloche-shaped hat has been the leader of the millinery world. Everyone from grandma to the baby has been wearing them. But milliners say that the time has come for the cloche to go. What shapes will plant the cloche is a matter still under consideration.

However, this much is certain—the large sunnery hat is just a trifle smarter than the cloche-shape at present. Large leghorn horsehair, pressed straw and fancy braids are already being worn by the better dressed women on warm days. Trimmings on such hats are rather inconspicuous, being placed flat on the upper or under brim. The single flower rose is popular where one huge flat hat is placed either on the upper or under brim. Ribbon trimmings are also popular. Garlands and wreaths which extend entirely about the crown are not being used this season. The crown is being used in its loveliness.

One can get an idea of the current brown mode for afternoon wear in New York tea rooms of the large hotels, where there are numerous frocks of brown lace or chiffon worn with large picture hats of the same tones. Often a bit of orange is added to the color scheme, being applied in the corsage or by an underslip. The hat may also carry out the orange color scheme by adding a narrow piping of orange ribbon to the edge of the brim and adding a dill silk flower of orange tone.

Leghorns are popular for summery frocks of past seasons in coloring and trim. The smartest leghorns are tinted in pastel shades, such as yellow, pale green, light brown or dull orange. When tinted in colors, the leghorn is but slightly trimmed. Perhaps there is a velvet ribbon bow of a darker shade than the hat placed on one side of the brim.

Any ordinary hat dye can be used to color the leghorn of previous seasons, thus turning it into a smart hat. If the hat has lost its firmness of line, the brim may be wired and the wire concealed beneath a fold of narrow velvet ribbon.

Trimmed With Lace. A pretty trim for the natural shade leghorn is achieved by means of brown lace. Lace, five or six inches wide, is shirred about the crown and tucked around the edge of the brim with an inch border of the lace extending just beyond the edge of the trim for softness. Both upper and under brim are thus covered with lace and the crown is left plain but finished with a fold of lace. No other trimming is used on this hat, which is dressy enough to be worn with the icy frock and simple
