St. Catharines Folk Pick Him to Win at Baltimore.

Hilton Believes He Can Beat Gilmore on Friday—Has Kept at Training.

A Canadian Press despatch today from St. Catharines, Ont., says—Hilton Belyea, St. John, N.B., sculler, and former Canadian champion, left last night for Baltimore, Md., to compete in the singles at the N. A. A. O. regatta which will be held there this week.

Confidence that Belyea has a good chance to win in Baltimore is expressed by rowing fans in St. Catharines. They declare that his condition is immeasurably superior now to what it was on Saturday last. Belyea and Gilmore will probably meet again on Friday afternoon in the association singles which is the qualifying event for the American championship. Belyea believes that he can defeat Gilmore at the next meeting.

Paul Costello, present American champion, will not have to row in the qualifying event, but will be pitted against the winner.

As Hiram Sees It "You didn't hev no reporter out to that there convention in the Saddleback woods last week," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter. "Didn't hear a thing about it," said the reporter. "What was it—a camp meeting?" "No, sir," said Hiram. "It was the spruce budworms. They heard about this here British Empire Forestry Association gallyvantin' about the country an' they got together to talk things over. I guess some of 'em was kinda scart, somethin' was brewin' that might hurt 'em. They're jist like human bein's, that way. They look around 'n' say, 'Where's this thing gonto hit me?' Some o' the budworms was afraid they'd be fed on partridge spruce—or somethin' like that. Well, sir, one fat old wotard said he'd bet his pile on Barnjum—an' 't that what they orto be scart of was the firebugs. Jist then a firebug come along an' they tackled him. He told 'em he was sorry fer them, but they was too slow. He said his fust name was Efficiency—an' if a piece of spruce woods hed to be wiped out he believed in goin' to it an' doin' it quick. As fer this here forestry lurch—he said they'd hev to show more speed if they ever expected to see anythin' o' him but his smoke. Then he lit a match an' the convention stopped right there. We'll be loggin' on that strip next winter—yes, sir."

REFUSES BAIL IN AUTO CASE

Magistrate Hears More of the Prince Edward Street Ride.

No Judgment Before Definite Turn in Condition of Owen McCann.

The evidence of Walter W. Leonard to the effect that Thomas Crawford is charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor and with neglecting to stop at the accident in Prince Edward street in which Owen McCann was seriously hurt, was the chief feature of this morning's hearing in the police court. Evidence was given by Policemen Gaudet and Hatt and Detective Saunders and the accused was remanded until Saturday. Magistrate Henderson refused an application of E. J. Henneberry, counsel for the defence, for bail, and remarked that Owen McCann, the injured man, was reported from the hospital to be in a serious condition. He had not regained consciousness since the accident. The magistrate also said that he would not give judgment until there was definite development in the injured man's case. If he died and a coroner's jury inquired into the cause of the death they might be influenced by a judgment of the court. For that reason he would withhold judgment for a time and would not admit the accused to bail. If a sentence were imposed on the accused had been in jail would be taken into consideration.
