CHATHAM, MAY 18, 1882.
"Advance" Scientific Miscellany.
A transparent leather, said to possess great strength, is now made in Germany by a new process.
A careful examination has convinced a French chemist that what normally contains copper to the extent of eight to ten parts per million.
A peculiar and newly observed property of tin is being investigated by a Moscow scientist. Some tin can be kept in one of the Government buildings during the cold weather showed blisters then holes, and finally fell to powder.
The frog, toad, salamander, newt, etc., are found in numerous species, and are poisonous. From the glands on the neck of a frog Mr. Paul Bert has obtained a liquid which caused the death of a sparrow to which it was administered.
Insects, caterpillars and larvae are destroyed—as is often believed—by intense heat or heavy frosts. After an exposure to a temperature of eleven degrees below zero the common caterpillar has revived on the return of sufficient warmth.
Dr. Wallaston's observation that certain sounds are inaudible to many ears was recently illustrated by Prof. Tyndall. During a lecture he blew a small whistle, the low shrill note of which instantly agitated the sensitive flame, while full half of the audience failed to hear the sound.
Prof. Fairchild thinks there are reasons for believing that the common house fly, with its numerous legs, capable of change of focus like the human eye, can avoid the difficulties we encounter in microscopes, and may distinctly recognize objects only a twenty-millionth of an inch in diameter.
The path of destruction of American tornadoes has averaged 1,000 feet in width, according to Sergeant Finley. The storm cloud moves at the rate of twelve to sixteen miles an hour, while the wind within the vortex sometimes reaches the tremendous velocity of 800 miles an hour—392 miles being the average.
The theoretic work obtained from the consumption of an ounce of various substances is thus stated by Prof. Sylvanus Thompson: One ounce of hydrogen gives 2,925,000 foot pounds; zinc, 695,000 foot pounds; zinc, 113,000 foot pounds; gunpowder, 100,000 foot pounds; and copper, 69,000 foot pounds.
In concluding a course of lectures upon the "Ancient World and the Appearance of Man," Prof. Boyd Dawkins said that a study of the past had shown that continued struggles with nature had developed man's powers until he had reached his present condition; and it was his belief that in coming ages man would be elevated as far above the level of civilization of to-day as we are advanced from the state of savagery of the primal man.
A French journal recommends a fire test for determining the quality of seeds. Samples are placed one at a time upon live coals. If the combustion is slow and quiet, it may be safely decided that the seed contained a diseased germ; but if the seed turns and leaps about, producing a dry sound, it may be inferred to have good germinative qualities. The good quality of larger seeds, such as acorns and chestnuts, will be indicated by a detonation of the seed soon after being thrown into the fire.
Prof. Fofe, of Philadelphia, has a group of quartz crystals measuring about four feet by three in superficial area. A group in the University of Naples weighs nearly half a ton. A crystal of Milan is three and a quarter feet long and five and a half in circumference, and weighs 870 pounds; and another crystal, at Paris, is three feet in diameter and the same in length, weighing 800 pounds. Fifty tons of crystals were discovered in one cavity at Zinken, more than a century ago, and were sold for $300,000.
It is very generally known that the existence of a planet between Mercury and the sun has long been suspected by astronomers, but if such an object exists it is certainly rendered invisible to telescopes by the diffusion of the solar rays. During a total eclipse the glare of the sun is removed, and it is hoped that the hypothetical planet may be discovered on such an occasion.
With that purpose in view, many observers eagerly scanned the heavens about the sun during the eclipse of yesterday, May 17th, which was chiefly visible in Africa.
Colladon long ago noticed incidentally that obstructions in the path of a sound decidedly lessen the intensity of the vibrations. These "sound shadows" are known to be much more distinct in a dense medium like water than in air. Prof. John LeConte has recently given results of some further experiments on the subject, in which he took advantage of some dynamic blains being made under water. He immersed a vertical pipe, about a foot in diameter, at a distance of about forty feet from the explosive cartridge. Bottles and glasses were shivered by the concussion of the explosion when placed outside the geometrical shadow of the pipe, but protected when within it. The sharp definition of these sound shadows has led Prof. LeConte into an exposition of the theory of the effects. Like shadows of light, the distinctions of the sound shadow should depend on shortness of wave-length and the sudden detour of dynamic mass to generate a very sharp and intense wave, making a very sharp-defined shadow whenever an obstacle is met. It follows that less sudden sounds, like the explosion of gunpowder, must produce less definite shadows.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICCUM HAIR RENEWER
This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are so wonderful and satisfactory as to restore gray or faded hair to its youthfulness. It removes eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp by its use becomes healthy and clean. By its tonic properties it restores the capillary system to its normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.
As a dressing, no other has been found so effective or so durable.
Dr. A. Hays, State Surgeon of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."
Buckingham's Dye,
For the Whiskers.
This elegant preparation may be relied on to color the hair of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at the same time, and quickly and effectively, producing a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.
