ANCIENT "DOGS OF WAR."

The "dogs of war" have been more than a figure of speech for thousands of years. They were used in Egypt in the year 400 B. C. The Romans, the Teutons, and other fighting nations of antiquity depended on them for sentinel and defence purposes. In the middle ages they are said to have even worn armor. Like the foxes with the burning brands in the fields of the Philistines, sometimes packs of them, with port fires on their backs, carried flames and destruction into the beleaguered town or camp. The Spanish discoverers used bloodhounds in tracking the Indians in this country.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 24, 1902.

HOPELESSLY AT SEA.

There is a hopeless lack of agreement among liberal members of parliament on the tariff issue. When they were in opposition that was the great issue, and they were loud in their denunciation of protection, and profuse in their promises of a sweeping reduction in duties should they come into power. They came into power, and protection remains. The conditions are not satisfactory to all of them, but for the sake of holding on to office they content themselves with speeches, leaving Mr. Fielding to announce that no tariff changes will be made. To leave the tariff as it was in Mr. Fielding's compromise between the higher protection and freer trade factions of the party. Mr. Tarte wants more protection. Sir Richard Cartwright wants less. In the rank and file Mr. Charlton demands higher duties. Mr. Edwards declares himself a free trader. Each speaker on their side of the house apparently has a little theory of his own, and Mr. Fielding has to resort to what Lord Palmerston quaintly styled judicious bottle holding, between the contending factions. As time passes the difficulty of holding these warring elements together will increase. The people of the country will become impatient and entertain a steadily decreasing respect for and confidence in a leadership which does not know and apparently does not care whether it is tending. A liberal paper states that the liberals in the house cheered Mr. Edwards, the free trader, when he declared that protection was immoral, and that if ever he became a thief it would not be "a protectionist sneak thief." Yet protection is the policy of the government today and Mr. Edwards votes with the government every time.

Compared with the steadfast and patriotic attitude of the liberal conservative party on the tariff issue, the everywhere-nowhere policy of the liberal government presents a humiliating spectacle, not the least shameful part of which is the arrogant hypocrisy of men of the Edwards stamp.

DEMOCRATIC ARROGANCE.

One hardly knows whether to be amused or nauseated by the comment of a portion of the American press on the decision of President Roosevelt not to permit his daughter to attend King Edward's coronation. The president is commended because it would not be democratic and republican to permit a president's daughter to rank among princesses and take part in a royal function. This is not an evidence of democratic feeling, but an example of a pride and self-conceit more offensive than the pride of kings. A man who is the constitutional and chosen head of a great empire is to be crowned according to the custom of his country and in accordance with the wishes of a free people. The government of the United States will be formally represented, along with those of other nations. It will not be contended that the daughter of a president, however amiable and gifted, is too great a personage to mingle with the daughters of kings and emperors, and it will certainly not be contended by any American that she is their inferior. That being so, there is no reason in the world why Miss Alice Roosevelt, who is charming and clever as well as distinguished, should not, if she desires to do so, attend King Edward's coronation. To suggest that there are any state reasons why she should not go is to offer a gratuitous affront to a people who have as much right to choose and crown a king as the Americans have to elect and "inaugurate" a president. King worship is no more an attribute of the British nation than it is of the Americans! The movements of King Edward do not excite nearly so much attention in England as do the travels of a visiting prince in the United States. The latter country is too great to afford to go on making itself ridiculous. The traditional chip should be removed from its shoulder, and it should rise to a recognition of the fact that the centre of the universe has not yet been formally established in the District of Columbia.

KEEP THEM OUT.

The Star has quite frequently recorded the fact this winter that immigrants have been landed here who were suffering from trachoma or from favus. Such persons are not permitted to enter the United States, but they are not shut out of Canada. Trachoma is a disease of the eyes, causing a thickening of the eyelids, the formation of pustules under the lids, and ultimate loss of sight. It is infectious, and in its pronounced stages incurable. Favus is a disease of the scalp, and can also be communicated. American immigration officers are always on the watch for these two diseases. One of them, Mr. John Francis, who was formerly in Montreal, but is now stationed at Niagara Falls, has been interviewed by the Montreal Witness. What he says is of special interest, in view of the landing of so many immigrants at St. John.

"There is any amount of trachoma today in Canada," he remarked, "in the course of some talk. Just because your government has no law on the subject, you allow all sorts of persons to come into the country, and the result is that the disease spreads. In the United States there is the greatest precaution taken, and my business is to carefully see that there is no evasion of the law. Trachoma comes on, and you do not feel it. There is no pain. At the same time it is quite unmistakable. Try to lift the eyelid of a person who has trachoma and you cannot do it. It is thick and heavy. It is covered with pimples in the inside. Don't you think the United States is right in preserving its own citizens from the ravages of such diseases? There was a time when the United States was careless, because it desired population, just as you are careless now because you desire population, but the time will come, and come soon, when you will be glad to enforce such a law as we have. It costs money to examine and deport, but the process saves our people from disease, and the result is worth the expenditure."

"Sometimes," Mr. Francis continued, "the medical man may be deceived, but from the experience I have gained, I can always tell whether the person coming forward for examination has got either of the diseases. Some are conscious of the existence of the disease resort to all sorts of evasions. That is to say, rejected at one port, they will find their way to another, until they are ultimately caught. In the matter of deporting the rejected persons, I may say that I have never known a case where the person being for the most part willing to come with me, but, of course, in the last resort, I would be at liberty to handcuff them should resistance be offered."

Another evidence of the worthlessness of the recent census, which cost Canada such an enormous sum, has come to hand. The town of Kingston, Ont., being convinced that justice had not been done to its population, had a police census taken on March 2nd, and discovered some fifteen hundred people more than had been accounted for by the dominion census enumerators.

A thousand Mormons will leave Utah this week to settle in Alberta. At Cardston, in Alberta, there is already a Mormon settlement, and the newcomers will make their home in that neighborhood. A Utah millionaire has made large land purchases and will establish a beet sugar factory at Cardston. In view of all that has been said of late in the United States about Mormon polygamy, the authorities will do well to look sharply after the manner of living of these people in Canada.

DROWNED AT BELLEISLE.

Councillor Gilbert Crandall of Springfield Meets a Sad End.

Councillor Gilbert Crandall of Springfield, Kings Co., was drowned on Saturday afternoon within sight of his own home while endeavoring to cross the swollen tide of the Belleisle in a canvas canoe. The ice had gone out of the upper part of the river, but had jammed solidly further down, causing the accumulated waters of the fresh-swollen stream to rise rapidly. Shortly before five o'clock Mr. Crandall, whose residence is close to the bank and not far from the wharf where the steamer Springfield lands, noticed a quantity of lumber across the river to be in danger of breaking loose. Taking a canoe, with R. Neely as a companion, he started across with the view of securing them.

But the water was high, the current intensely strong, and there was a high wind blowing at the time, which tended to fill the frail craft, so that before the middle had been reached the occupants were in great danger. Recognizing this, Mr. Neely threw off his coat and boots and prepared for the worst. Mr. Crandall, either more reckless or more hopeful of the result, retained his. It is possible that the motion attending Mr. Neely's action hastened the result, for hardly had he removed his clothing than the canoe swamped and capsized, throwing both the men into the icy waters.

Bound by his heavy coat and weighted down by his long rubber boots, which filled with water, Mr. Crandall sank immediately and never reappeared. His companion, less hampered, was able to swim to the canoe, upon which he was able to climb. The accident was observed from the shore, and in a very few minutes a boat put out, rescuing Mr. Neely, who beyond his exposure, was little the worse. Grappling irons were at once procured, and after a couple of hours' work the body was recovered only a short distance from where it went down, and taken to the sorrow-stricken family. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

The deceased was a son of Joseph Crandall, formerly postmaster at Moncton and still a resident there. His brother, Steadman Crandall, is at present postmaster at Moncton, and another brother, William, is with the Western Union there. He leaves a wife and two children, both girls, and aged about ten and twelve. His wife was formerly a Miss Hunter and has relatives in this city. He was aged about forty-five years, and has always been a resident of Springfield. He has many friends in this city, who heard yesterday of his sad demise with deep sorrow.

Mr. Crandall, who represented Springfield for quite a time in the Kings Co. Council, with an aggressive politician of the Dominion school. In more recent years his fighting worth was recognized by Mr. Blair, and he was employed in the interest of the I. C. R. on matters that necessitated his presence in Cape Breton for months at a time. Recently he has been inspecting the works at Port Maitland. The liberal party of Kings has lost a fearless fighter by Mr. Crandall's death.

HALIFAX DEATHS.

HALIFAX, March 23. — Michael Brown, a well known accountant and son of the late W. M. Brown, died suddenly of bed fever on Saturday. He was there looking after a summer residence for himself.

Major Harwood of the army pay department died early Sunday morning.

THE LEGISLATURE.

FREDERICTON, March 22.—Mr. Allen of the committee of municipalities reported recommending the Moncton Building Act, the St. Stephen Debiture Act, the St. Stephen Incorporation Act, and the act to authorize the town of St. Stephen to assess in aid of the Chipman Memorial Hospital. They reported without recommendation the bill relating to an issue of debentures for wharf purposes in St. Andrews.

Mr. Fish introduced a bill to change the name of the town of Newcastle; Mr. King, a bill to amend the act for increased fire protection in Sussex; Mr. Todd, a bill to incorporate the J. & L. E. Knight Co., Ltd.; Mr. Copp, a bill to amend 59 Vic., chap. 68, relating to the arrest, imprisonment and examination of debtors; also a bill to amend chap. 100 of the consolidated statutes rates and taxes.

The bill to incorporate the Union Telephone Co., Limited (a company to operate telephone lines in York, Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska counties), was agreed to with amendment. The bill authorizing the South West Boom Co. to charge 75 cents for rafting small lumber was also considered by the committee and agreed to with certain amendments.

A bill to confirm the proceedings of the last annual meeting of the French ratepayers of the parish of Shediac was agreed to.

The bill to incorporate the Fraser Electric Light Co. (incorporating certain persons for the purpose of generating and selling electricity for lighting, heating and mechanical purposes in the city of Fredericton) was agreed to with amendment, the title being changed to the Aberdeen Electric Co. The house adjourned at 5 o'clock.

THE BOYS' MISSION.

Interesting Mass Meeting in the Opera House Last Evening.

A very interesting meeting in behalf of the Boys' Mission, Mill street, was held in the Opera House last evening at 8.30 o'clock. The house was filled and the people listened with close attention to the various speakers. Mayor Daniel presided, and with him on the platform were Ex-Mayor Sears, Judge McLeod, Judge Forbes, Rev. H. H. Beach, John E. Irvine, J. F. Bullock, J. R. Woodburn, Ald. Maxwell, William Hawker, E. R. Chapman, E. L. Rising, Col. A. J. Armstrong, J. N. Harvey, N. C. Scott, D. J. Purdy, M. P. P. W. C. Whitaker, T. H. Bullock, J. Fred Payne, and many others.

The speakers were Mayor Daniel, J. E. Irvine, Ex-Mayor Sears, Rev. Mr. Roach, J. F. Bullock, and H. E. K. Whitney, superintendent of the mission.

Music was rendered by boys of the mission, led by W. B. Scarcliffe, and by the St. Andrew's male quartette, the Victoria Street Free Baptist made quartette and DeWitt Cairns.

The most interesting portion of the addresses was the personal testimony of Ex-Mayor Sears, Rev. Mr. Roach and J. F. Bullock, to the earnest and very devoted manner in which Mr. Whitney has conducted the mission work, always without salary, and sometimes at the cost of real personal hardship and deprivation to himself.

Mr. Whitney himself made a very interesting address, setting forth the need of this mission work among the boys and urging that greater support be given by the general public. He suggested that if a hundred people would guarantee each to give one dollar per month for the next year it would not involve a sacrifice for them, but would greatly strengthen the mission, which needs better accommodation and facilities.

It was the intention to have made an appeal to raise the amount at the meeting, but the lateness of the hour prevented.

OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, March 23.—The insurance case of Josiah Wood against the Confederation Life Co., growing out of a policy on the life of the late Charles A. Palmer, which had been appealed to the supreme court of Canada from the supreme court of New Brunswick, will not be argued. It is understood that a settlement has been effected by the company paying $2,500. H. A. Powell, counsel for Senator Wood, who is here attending to this matter, will probably return tomorrow.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST.

The Misses Thomson left for Ottawa Saturday evening to visit Mr. A. G. Blair. Miss Tilton, Lancaster, St. John, has been added to the Chipman hospital. (St. Stephen) state of affairs.

Miss May Toller has recovered from smallpox, and returned to her home in Ottawa. C. B. Foster, the new general passenger agent of the C. P. R., arrived from Montreal Saturday.

Charles Miller, the mill owner, is home from Boston. Frank H. Olive of Boston, who brought here for burial the body of his father, the late Capt. Peter Martin, returned home by the str. St. Croix Saturday evening.

W. S. Davidson of Moncton is in the city to enter on his duties in the mechanical department of the I. C. R.

NOVA SCOTIA AND PROHIBITION.

The Toronto Globe's Halifax correspondent says: Prohibition is not likely to come before the legislature of Nova Scotia this session. Several days ago a large deputation of temperance people waited on the provincial government and asked for the introduction of a prohibitory law upon the line of the Manitoba Act. The government made no definite reply to the delegation, nor have they made public their policy on this question. Your correspondent, however, learns that the government will not undertake the responsibility of passing a prohibitory law at this time, and this decision will probably be conveyed to the prohibition convention.

THIRTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY.

The thirty-second anniversary of Victoria Temple of Honor was celebrated yesterday afternoon by a thanksgiving service held in their hall on Main street. Geo. Blewett presided and addresses appropriate to the occasion were given by Rev. D. Long, Rev. Geo. Steel, Rev. A. H. Foster and the chairman. A choice musical programme was furnished by the Male Quartette from Exmouth street Methodist church and by the Symphony Quartette. A large audience was in attendance.

FEAR THE PEOPLE.

FREDERICTON, March 22.—It is now the general impression here and the opinion is openly expressed by knowing ones that there will be another session of the house of assembly before the general elections. The term of the present house expires in June, 1903. The feeling prevails that there will be a short session in February next year, and that the election will be brought on immediately thereafter. The matter was discussed, it is said, at a government caucus the other night, and the gang almost unanimously favored the idea.

SIX BRIDGES GONE.

YARMOUTH, N. S., March 22.—The six bridges spanning the Tusket River, including the main one between that village and Yarmouth, have been carried away. The latter and one or two others are of steel, and the cost of replacing them will be large.

Germs, Germs.

We hear a great deal about them these days, and rightly too; for they are the direct cause of whooping-cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever and other diseases of childhood. When any of these are in the neighborhood, you should use Vapo-Cresolene. Every evening purify their sleeping rooms with this perfectly safe remedy. It is so easy to prevent the disease in this way. For whooping cough and croup, the doctors say it is a perfect specific.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents.
