A WHITE ELEPHANT AND HER HUSBAND. The Happiness of the Family is often Depleted by Fat Diseases.

To have a saddling whopping big wife is of course a misfortune for any ordinary man, but it is more of a misfortune to the wadding wife. Though she may be caged up in her own house most of the time, ashamed to go out doors, the ridiculous she suffers on the street is nothing compared to the suffering she undergoes when she is taken to her housework, unless she is furnished with enough, of course, to have a servant.

To have to grunt and toddle upstairs was then grunt and toddle down again, a dozen times a day, to have to stomp around the house all day, eternally doing something, and not be able to sit down and draw an easy breath, and then when night comes to have to short step around in a hurry and wind up the duties of the day, is a terrific wear upon any one, more so for a woman.

Such a condition is simply insufferable. Complains of it all the loveliest and loveliest forms, which is dear to every woman, the dangling flesh from cheek and chin that makes the very air seem heavy, the fat-squeezes at the lungs that smother the breath, and the fat-clutch at the heart, it certainly does seem as though there were no more severe affliction to bear in life.

The home seems top-sided, with a heavy, ponderous wife, or an elephant husband, trying to wheel round and make the happy lightweights believe that they are not at all in the way. It is misery trying to make other people believe you are happy and well. It is often the forced smile which burns the heart to ashes. No one likes fat, and even the owners of our fat faces must naturally feel a repugnance to you.

It can all end by using Rengo for a little while. Found by pound will begin to drop away, melt away, vanish, safely and surely. You haven't had to change your ways, my eating or my habits and the flesh is going away. Just the same, you will say to yourself with the most intense satisfaction, after beginning to eat Rengo. The one who doubts this will still be fat years after the man who believes it and who uses this remarkable fruit fat cure, Rengo.

The St. Peter's, the city champions, are endeavoring to bring their outdoor teams here for games on the remaining Saturdays in this month. The North Enders when they play are as good a team as can be found in the provinces. If games can be arranged with good fast teams a large number would be pleased to be shown by the attendance at the championship series.

The presentation of the R. D. Isaacs trophy to the St. Peter's contingent is being made a part of the programme. A number of the states they will take in the series of games for the R. D. Isaacs trophy between the winners of the National and American leagues.
