General Lew Wallace, the author of the greatest book of the age, "Ben Hur," also "Prince of India," "Commodus," etc., says in a letter in his own handwriting:

"The fountain pen, Post, was received, and I have taken the liberty of trying it thoroughly. Please accept the excuse for failure to acknowledge sooner.

"I have tried every pen of the kind on the market, and now unhesitatingly give the preference to the Post. It not only feeds itself with less care, but has the immeasurable advantage of re-supply without inking the fingers. I do all my work with it."

Lew . Wallie.

O show our confidence in this pen, we will send you one on trial for a week upon receipt of $1.00, which, if not entirely satisfactory, you can return to us and we will refund you the $1.00 paid us. Mr. Sankey sends the following characteristic letter:

"I have used the Post pen for some time, and have had great satisfaction with its use. It never fails or gets cranky. One can at least have clean hands by using the Post, whatever the heart may be."

John Campbell, Fairview Farm, Woodville, Ont., in his new advertisement in this issue offers a few Shropshire rams and a choice lot of imported and home-bred ewes. The offering should meet with a ready response from breeders wishing to secure Shropshires from a flock of high repute. Besides winning nearly all the first prizes at Toronto this year, a flock bred directly from Fairview Shropshires captured many first prizes and sweepstakes at Winnipeg, while an eastern breeder in Nova Scotia, who had four ewes from Mr. Campbell two months ago, strengthen d his former purchases by another from the same source, winning nearly all in sight at P. E. Island and Nova Scotia Provincial Fairs. Breeders in Iowa, Indiana and Ontariohav Calsocaptured premiums galore with Shropshires from Fairview, which speaks well for the uniform excellence of the Fairview flock. Write Mr. Campbell for circular and prices.

well for the uniform excellence of the Fairview flock. Write Mr. Campbell for circular and prices. A very select herd of Shorthorns is that of Mr. W. G. Howden, at Columbus, Ont. The foundation was laid several years ago on selections made from the Lavender and Fashion tribes, and with judicious mating and management Mr. Howden has a well-selected and typical herd of Shorthorns. Over a dozen females are now doing maternal duty on the farm to the services of the high-class bulls, Golden Robe and Duke of Lavender. Many of the younger females are the progeny of imported Lord Roseberry, the sire employed previous to Duke of Lavender. We have known Mr. Howden for many years, and can assure the interested reader that his facilities and system of management has been strictly in keeping with the high-class breeding of his stock, which insures the purchaser of such stock the proper development of the family names of which associates them in the reader's mind's eye with those of the lusty, short-legged, early-maturing and thick-fleshed sort. Note Mr. Howden's offerings from time to time.

Mr. D. J. Gibson, Bowmanville, Ont., has given the subject of bacon-pig production much thoughtful consideration, and has established a useful herd each of Berkshires and Tamworths with animals having individual merit as well as good breeding. Duke of Snelgrove 6117, one of Messrs, Snell & Lyons' winning animals last fall at Toronlo and locally, and out of a splendid sow which he purchased from Mr. McAllister, by Varna Duke. Of these sows, Mr. Gibson says they cannot fail to make good, useful matrons. Their dam was an exceptionally prolific sow of excellent quality, while they are doing splendidly. Of Tamworths, Mr. Gibson informs us that he has about a dozen boars and sows ready for service and breeding (two litters), sired by King George 12nd, a splendid stock and show hog, and out of sows of George's breeding. Of these, their owner states they are an excellent lot, and fit to head any pure-bred herds in the country, having lots of size, and constructed upon the proper bacon-producing conformation. In a recent conversation with the management of the Dominion Organ & Piano Co., at their factory, at Bowmanville, the writer was informed of the prosperous condition of the firm, their large factory being taxed to its utmost capacity to keep pace with their orders. Those who visited their pavilion at the late Industrial were much taken with the extent and quality of the firm's exhibit, their building being filled with their mots recent product.
