BOOK REVIEW.
MANAGING GAS ENGINE.

With the advent of gas engines of various kinds, and their use in farming operations, farmers find it necessary to become more or less experts in the installation of such machines, and in order to remedy troubles that arise from time to time. They cannot well leave home and take a course in some technical institution, what is needed is a plain, understandable text-book on the subject of installing and operating gas and gasoline engines, how to make immediate repairs, and keep them running. This is precisely what J. B. Rathbun, Consulting Gas Engineer and Instructor at the Chicago Technical College, has produced in a book called "Gas Engine Troubles and Installation," published by Chas. C. Thompson & Co. Knowing the need for such a work, we have had this one carefully examined by a London engine expert, who heartily recommends it as practical and reliable, and well calculated to prevent a great many troubles in the use of engines. We have therefore made arrangements with the publishers for supplies of the volume, which may be ordered through this office at $1, postage paid; or any present subscriber may obtain it as a premium by sending us one new subscription to "The Farmer's Advocate," accompanied by $1.50.

A GREAT EXHIBIT OF APPLES.
There will be three times as much fruit exhibited at the coming Ontario Horticultural Exhibition as was exhibited last year, according to the press agent's promise. The St. Lawrence Arena, where the exhibition will be held, will be crowded with apples. Some of the principal exhibits are: Norfolk County, with a carload of 600 boxes of their best apples; Prince Edward County, 300 boxes; Northumberland and Durham, with 200 barrels; and a ship 30 feet long made entirely of apples; Lambton County will have a complete map of the county in boxed apples, showing the towns, rivers, and other principal features of the county; Ontario County, 100 boxes; Elgin, 50 boxes; Leeds and Grenville, 60 boxes of McIntosh; Brant County, 50 boxes. From the Ontario Government Experiment Stations, 200 boxes will come from Georgian Bay; 60 boxes from Northumberland and Durham; Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry, 60 boxes; Hastings, 50 boxes; Wentworth, 50 boxes. These quantities are entirely separate from individual and other kinds of exhibits. There never was a time in the history of Ontario when so much really first-class fruit was on exhibition in one building as there will be at Toronto on November 14th to 18th. It will be a sight worth travelling to see. The railways throughout Ontario have granted single-fare rate, plus 25 cents. Information regarding tickets can be obtained from any of the local railway agents in the Province.

ORIGIN OF DEVONSHIRE CREAM.
The origin of "clotted" or Devonshire cream is supposed to come down from the ancient Phœnician merchant traders, about the seventh century B. C., when they imparted their secret to the dwellers in the "West Country." It is a remarkable thing that only in the west is the scald system of dairying to be found, and the secret mode of manufacture was handed down from one generation to another. The manner of preparing this delicious form of dairy produce is as follows: The new milk is set in pans and allowed to cool on the dairy shelves for twelve hours in summer, twenty-four in winter. These are then scalded in order to produce the "clotted cream," which collects upon the surface of the pan when the right degree of heat has been attained. The pan is carried carefully on to the milk scalding, and allowed to remain for half an hour, when the process of scalding the new milk should be completed. The surface will become "crinkled," and for buttermaking purposes 160 degrees will suffice. The pan is then carried back to the dairy shelf to cool. This will take twelve hours longer, when the "clotted" cream can be skimmed off ready for turning into genuine Devonshire butter.—Farm and Stockbreeder.
