

Gigantic Panorama of Empire History

Heroes of Britain Will Pass in Review Before Crowds at the Canadian National Exhibition

Memories of the great fighters of long ago, the heroes of a thousand battles by land and sea, will be re-awakened by the Grand Stand Spectacle at the Canadian National Exhibition. "Britannia Militant" will be more than a mere pageant; it will be the spirit of our Empire past and present, translated into flesh and blood, a romantic historic survey in which the spectators will be made to feel their kinship with the men of old. There will be a suggestion of the Arthurian legends, of mediaeval knights, ancient castles, venerable cathedral ruins, and all of the colorful paraphernalia of history and of romance. The spirit of the Empire's yesterday will be caught and contrasted with the martial deeds of today and the men of the present, now fighting the greatest battle of all times, will not suffer by comparison, when Currie's gallant Canadians arrive on the scene. The setting will be a gigantic reproduction of Windsor Castle, the scenic arrangement and general ensemble being most elaborate ever produced at the Canadian National. There will be over 1,200 participants, all brilliantly attired in the styles of the period they represent, and the whole inspiring effect will be enhanced by superb musical treatment.

The Oak Lake Camp Meeting

The Laymen's Association are to be congratulated upon the results of their efforts to the present, for the splendid tabernacle is now assuming such form that things look very promising for the opening on Sunday next, July 28th.

The work which is on such splendid scale has been done almost entirely gratis is a tribute to all those connected for such places of worship are needed in our country to-day and will be probably more popular for many years of the future.

That there is a very noticeable practice being established, even among churchgoers and good people generally, to be away to some inviting resort for the Sundays during the months of July and August is everywhere a matter of comment. We believe therefore that the Oak Lake movement is an innovation to adjust church work to the changing customs accompanying the popularity of the motor vehicle.

The coming three weeks have opportunities in store for thousands for Oak Lake is now famous as an inland resort and the effort of last year brought it upon the religious horizon. The committee are planning for three weeks of services, the first to be known as Inauguration week, the second a defecation week, and the closing, special week. Evangelist G. M. Sharpe will be on hand continuously from 10 o'clock to the close, and will be assisted by Dr. Palmer of Toronto. A grand party on Sunday next. The Rev. Dr. Imrie of West Toronto will aid during the first week and the launching of this great enterprise will be well directed in the matters of prayer, praise and evangelistic effort. Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Cooke's Church of Toronto and E. E. Scott of the same city who proved so worthy a help at conference this year will be present later and will be duly announced.

Wednesdays will be made particularly attractive throughout the campaign as Belleville and Stirling observe half holidays on that afternoon. The first of those days, 31st inst. will be Laymen's Day; Aug. 7, for "Soldiers and their Kin," and August 14th, Sunday School Day. There will be "Preachers' Day," a Mission Day, Belleville Day, Stirling Day, Sidney Day, Rawdon Day, Plainfield Day, etc. Something for everybody. Something for everybody to enjoy! Something for everybody to do.

Special mention should be made of the latest donation and largest, a very large and splendid acetylene gas plant, now being installed, given by Mr. R. Elliott, general merchant of Stirling. Mr. Albert Bird is in charge of the setting up of the plant which is really worth $306. This with the one given by Mr. L. Melkjohn will later provide light for all cottages and the entire grounds.

Explosion in Hun Munitions Plant

Many Lives Were Lost and Much Damage.

Amsterdam, July 25.—An ammunition factory at Plauen was partly destroyed on June 19th by fire due to an explosion, according to a Berlin despatch to the Cologne Volk Zeitung. A great many lives were lost and considerable damage was done.

Automatic Soldiers to Halt an Enemy Drive

Danish Engineer Has Patented Device for Front Line Defences

London, July 24.—(Correspondence of the A. P.)—An "Automatic soldier" is one of the latest developments in weapons of war.

A Danish engineer has recently taken out a patent for an apparatus to which he has given this name. It consists of a steel cylinder, the whole being sunk into the ground vertically. By means of a mechanism operated by wireless the inner cylinder rises to a height of 18 inches from the ground and simultaneously an automatic rifle mounted on the inner cylinder fires four hundred shots in any given direction. These "Automatic soldiers" can be controlled from a central position some four or five miles behind the line of defence, according to the inventor. They may be seen by the enemy only when they rise from the ground.

From trials already made it has been shown, so it is reported, that a few hundred of these steel soldiers can easily defend a position against infantry attacks. However, numerous the opposing forces may be. They blaze away their four hundred shots without finching and never retreat. In order to overcome the "automatics" they must be destroyed one by one.

Joke Was on Saloon Man

Wet Goods Dealer Found That the Bundle He so Obliging Kept for Customer Had Its Uses.

Aren't the master workmen of the wet goods establishments easy marks? That is what the gentry who live by their wits are asking each other. They know that the proprietor of a wet goods establishment loses his mental balance and is completely disarmed when he is invited to have a drink. Recently two husky-looking individuals entered a Forty-second street suds emporium. One of the party carried an enormous bundle, which he placed on the top of the mahogany. They both called for a drink.

"Well, it is hopeful that my wife will stop her nagging about the cold weather and being cold when I carry this home," said the man who carried the bundle.

At the end of the bar stood the proprietor of the wet goods establishment. He seemed curious, so the two men invited him to have a drink which was accepted. One of them explained that he had the finest pair of wool blankets that was ever sheared from the backs of sheep in the package.

"Feel for yourself," he said, as he unfastened one end of the bundle. The proprietor felt and acknowledged that they were the simon pure wool article.

"I'm taking them home to my wife," said the owner. "She has been kicking about being cold."

Then they had another round of liquids.

"Well, I must be on my way" said the man, as he picked up the bundle. "Why don't you leave them here until you start for home?" interposed his companion.

"Good idea," he said. And turning to the owner of the cafe he asked if he could leave the bundle.

"Sure," said the proprietor, "but you had better write your name on it to avoid mistakes."

Twelve o'clock came round and the man hadn't called for his bundle. "I can see that fellow getting more h-l when he goes home tonight," said the proprietor as he turned the key in the door.

The next day the owner of the cafe was the first on the job. He took a survey of the wet goods and then went to the rear of the store, where the safe was. Here was a surprise for him. He found the door of his burglar-proof safe neatly reposing on the pair of downy blankets, which had been used to muffle the sound of the explosion.—New York Times.

T. E. Foster, of Smiths Falls, has succeeded in writing the required amount for five successive years, and gets the watch and the honor which it represents.

Liquor Disappears From Officer's Vault in City of Windsor

Windsor, July 26.—More than two gallons of liquor seized by License Inspector Mousseau during a Saturday night raid on an alleged "blind pig" has disappeared from the inspector's vault in the Victoria building on Ouellette Avenue.

When Inspector Mousseau opened the vault to "test" the evidence against the alleged violator of the Ontario Temperance Act, he discovered the loss. Until the liquor is located, no action can be taken in the police court against the proprietors of the alleged "blind pig."

Only two other persons, besides the inspector, have the combination of the vault, but those men, the inspector believes, are above suspicion.

Family Troubles Led to Man's Suicide

EDWARD KYER JUMPED INTO OTTAWA RIVER.

Having tired of constant fighting with his wife and having fear of the consequences of her threat to leave him with three small children on his hands, Edward Kyer, 192 Murray Street, Ottawa, committed suicide Tuesday morning by jumping into the Ottawa river.

It was shortly after nine o'clock that Kyer ended his life. A few minutes later his hat and coat were found about the centre of the bridge, and in one of the pockets of his coat was a note explaining that he had put an end to his life because his wife had threatened to leave him. It was afterwards ascertained that Kyer and his wife had "fallen out" the night before and that she had threatened to leave him the next day, although she claims it was only an idle threat. She had not intended going away. She had, however, on a previous occasion left him for several months.

The note found in Kyer's pocket read as follows: "I drowned myself because my wife says she is going to leave me and my three boys. Good-bye. Give my money to my boss."

About nine o'clock, Thomas Farrell, bridge watchman, noticed Kyer going across the bridge in the direction of Hull. A little later Farrell passed Kyer in an automobile, the watchman only going as far as the end of the bridge. When he returned, walking shortly afterwards he came across Kyer's hat and coat. "When I first saw him," said Farrell, "I noticed that he looked kind of queer."

Had Many Quarrels.

Kyer had been working for J. R. Booth for several months. Previous to that he was employed in E. B. Eddy's paper mill. He had been living in Ottawa about nine years, and here from Cornwall. Kyer and his wife were married about ten years ago. The first few years of their married life they got along well together, but during the last few years they had many quarrels. "My husband came to me before he left the house, and asked me if I was going to change my ways?" said Mrs. Kyer.

"I told him that I would change mine if he changed his, but that if he did not change his ways I was going to leave him. I did not intend carrying out my threat; I only wanted to frighten him."

A Pathetic Scene.

At this stage of the conversation, the three boys referred to in the note found in Kyer's pocket put in an appearance at the door. On being informed of what their father had done, they burst into tears. The sight of their grief almost brought the boys put in their appearance, she had not shown any great concern over the news conveyed by the newspaper men.

Asked what was at the bottom of the trouble between her husband and herself, Mrs. Kyer stated that Kyer had always been too overbearing. "He always wanted everything his own way," she said. "Why only last night when I told him I was going away, he took all my clothes and locked them up in his tool chest. Furthermore, he took my knitting and tore it into shreds."

Missing Soldier Had Strange Experiences

Sergeant Sebastian Contini, 136 Maria street, West Toronto, who disappeared last Saturday, has not yet been located.

Although only 20 years of age, Sergt Contini has had unusually tragic experiences and rendered valuable services to the allies. Soon after the outbreak of war, he enlisted at Nelson, B.C. with the 225th battalion. He was transferred to the 11th C.M.R. and again transferred to the 228th. He then joined the 5th Royal Highlanders in Montreal. He was in France two months later, and within ten days he and his cousin were in the first line trenches. When his cousin fell dead at his side he vowed never to take a Hun prisoner, and had 36 dead Germans to his credit. He had gone "over the top" seven times as a result of being gassed, he developed tuberculosis, and was therefore, to his great regret, unable to further avenge the death of his cousin.

The young man carried a small steel bullet which, after passing through his leg, killed Lance-Corp. Shaw of his regiment.

A Mennonite Bishop Asks Son's Exemption

Doctrine is Against Resistance, He Says, But Judge Reserves Decision.

Toronto, July 26.—Samuel Wideman, Bishop of the Mennonite Church, in York County, appeared in Judge Masten's tribunal this morning on behalf of the exemption of his son, P. I. Wideman. "Our doctrine is purely non-resistant and do not believe in taking up arms in any way," stated the bishop.

"Would you put a member out of your church who did take up arms?" asked Judge Masten.

"I wouldn't like to say we would chase them," replied the bishop. "You believe then, that the thousands of soldiers who are defending their country at the front are consigned to eternal perdition?" asked Mr. Armstrong.

"Yes, that is our belief," replied the bishop.

"To whom are you as Bishop responsible?" asked Mr. Armstrong.

"To the church."

Judge Masten then addressed the son. "Supposing the Germans were at the door of this room ready to break in and destroy everyone in this room, including the ladies present, do you believe that you ought not to resist them, although you might jump out of the window?" "No, I don't believe in fighting them," was the candid reply. Judgment was reserved in the case.

Austrians Suffer of Near Starvation

Zurich, Switzerland, July 26.—The Austrian cabinet headed by Dr. von Seydlitz, which has just resigned, was sharply criticised regarding the food situation in Austria-Hungary, in the course of the sitting of the Austrian lower house on Friday. Deputy Plik said that western Bohemia for months had received no flour or bread, and that Pilsen had had no food for the past fortnight. Starvation in the latter place, the deputy said, had led to the most lamentable consequences and the town had been placed permanently under martial law.

Deputy Seliger said that while the bread ration in Vienna had been reduced one-half, there were districts in German Bohemia where the rations were only one-fourth or one-sixth of that amount, and that at places where bread was distributed it was only handed out in slices.

Food Minister Paul concluded a gloomy survey of the situation with the remark that he viewed neither the present nor future situations with optimism. He was only trying, he said, to avoid a dangerous pessimism.

New Zealand Calls Some Married Men

Those With only One Child to Be Taken to Camps for Training

The Canadian Defence League has issued a statement giving some information from a royal commission in New Zealand, which was set up to examine their military expenditures as an example of what universal military training can accomplish in our British Empire democratic dominions. The commission finds that $100,000 have been expended with no fraud, that they have trained and equipped 100,000 men well (equivalent to $800,000 for Canada) with the sick and wounded treated with kindness, and that their hospital ships are among the best in existence, and it is stated that they will envy the minister of defence, Sir James Allen, who made a number of speeches in Canada just before the war, his memories of what he has done when the war is over. In New Zealand they are now drawing upon their married men with one child to go into camp, and it will not be long before balloting for married men with two children is begun. Their minister of defence states: "It is wonderful how New Zealand has responded to the call, and I never was more proud of my country than I am today."

Husband and Wife Tried to End Lives

Montreal Man Attempted Drowning—Woman Poisoned Baby and Herself

Montreal, July 24.—Mrs. Eva Morin of 20 St. Julie street, was brought before Judge Casson in the Arraignment Court yesterday to answer a charge of having attempted to commit suicide on Sunday evening, following the example of her husband, Louis Morin, who was brought before Judge Leet on Friday on an identical charge, and who was remanded for a week to undergo medical examination.

The story of the attempt was told yesterday in court by the accused. She said that she had been left alone with her child by her husband and she had struggled along bravely for a while but finally broke down and determined to end her suffering. Pouring out a spoonful of iodine she gave a little to her baby first, and then drank the rest of the bottle herself. Feeling that her last moments of life were at hand, she telephoned her aunt and told her that she had poisoned herself and the baby. The aunt immediately secured a physician to attend Mrs. Morin and thus saved her life, as well as that of the baby. After hearing the story Judge Casson remanded Mrs. Morin until July 30 in order that inquiries might be made. Mrs. Morin's husband tried to commit suicide Thursday last by jumping into the river. He was saved by Capt. Lalonde who was in charge of a barge which was passing up the river.

Milkmaids Popular, are Here for Good

They Will Be Seen on All Dairy Farms in Ontario Very Soon

Milkmaids are here to stay. Once more they have come into fashion and according to present appearances it won't be long before, not the old-fashioned milkmaid who went a milking and found time to do some love-making on the way-side, but the up-to-date business-like ones will be seen on all the largest dairy farms in the Province in the near future.

So great is the demand for experienced milkmaids on the farms that the Government employment bureau will hold two classes at the Ontario Agricultural College the latter part of September and in October.

Upon graduation, the girls taking this course, will be placed on dairy farms for the winter months. Miss Hayel Martin, director of the women's farm department in Toronto, says that a camp of girls has been located on two or three big dairy farms this summer and that they have proved so satisfactory that the owners are asking for girls and more girls. "In fact," said Miss Martin, "the dairymaid bids fair to take a permanent place in farm life. Two experienced women were taken on by the City Dairy Farm this week and are the first to be tried out by them."

Those girls who wish to take the classes this fall are asked to apply to the women's farm department, 45 King street west, Toronto. They will be taught how to milk, to make butter, how to run the milking machines, bottling and everything scientific and up-to-date methods used in the present day dairy farms.

At present the need for the women's farm department is for girls and women to pick raspberries. The crop is tremendous this year and the department is showered every day with orders for pickers. One order came in for six girls to pick and pack tomatoes at a farm in Queenston. They will be given entire charge of the tomato crop. Experienced girls to do mixed farm work are also in great demand.

Many Arrests Made for Contract Frauds

Washington, July 24.—Fraud and gross profiteering been uncovered in many contracts for army shoes, shirts, leggings, overcoats and other soldiers' supplies and equipment, as a result of an investigation by army intelligence and department of justice agents, it was learned today.

New York, July 24.—Additional arrests resulting from the government investigation into alleged graft in army contracts here made today. Four employees of the C. Kenyon Company of Brooklyn, one of the country's largest rubber manufacturers, were taken into custody charged with attempting to pass off on the government army raincoats which had been rejected as defective by army inspectors.

The Kenyon Company has three plants in Brooklyn, to one of which the authorities declared large quantities of rejected raincoats were sent and placed with goods already approved by the federal inspectors.
