BULGARIANS DESERTING TO FRENCH

Also Withdrawing from the Cerna River Section--To Give Up Monastir.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Saloniki, Nov. 16, via Paris, Nov. 17.—In addition to the Bulgarian column which turned the Serbian position at Babuna Pass, a second Bulgarian force is advancing on Kostovo from Kalendelen.

The Bulgarians are reported to be withdrawing from Cerna river section, which is held by the French. The French report many desertions from the Bulgarian army.

PREPARING TO RETREAT.

London, Nov. 17.—Telegraphing from Voden, half way between Monastir and Saloniki, on the 15th, The Times correspondent says:—

"I have just arrived from Monastir, which the Serbian authorities and foreign consuls are preparing to evacuate in the event of the nearer approach of the Bulgarians, who are reported to be in possession of Krushevo and within six miles off Perlepe where the Serbians made a stout resistance for two days against superior numbers.

"The heights of Babuna still are held by the Serbians who have inflicted enormous losses on the Bulgarians. It is again in the hands of the Bulgarians, who after its capture, Babuna is threatened from the front and rear and it is improbable the Serbs can hold out there much longer. It is doubtful whether the Bulgarians intend to occupy Monastir. It seems more likely their main object is to cut the Serbian lines of communication."

BABUNA PASS LOST.

London, Nov. 17.—The Serbs have been compelled to retire from their strong positions in Babuna Pass, which is in imminent danger of being turned by masses of Bulgarian infantry, says a despatch to The Mail from Saloniki filed yesterday.

The Serbs were held on the left bank of the Oranya River, south of Vels, by considerable Bulgarian forces and were unable to send assistance to the hard-pressed Serbians.

The Bulgarian offensive in the Tetovo district is on a tremendous scale, the correspondent says, and the Serbians are retiring southward. Elements of British troops are leaving Saloniki, constantly for Monastir, where the Serbs are preparing a series of strong defences. Should the Bulgarians reach Monastir, the Serbs would be cut off from their lines of supply.

Germany Claims That She Cannot be Starved Out

No Famine There, Merely in a State of a Besieged Fortress.

London, Nov. 17.—Replying to reports of "famine" in Germany a semi-official denial is published in the Frankfurter Zeitung. The newspaper admits that there has been a little reduction to the status of a besieged fortress, but says that successful steps are being taken to defeat the enemy's policy of starvation.

"The hope of starving Germany will be futile in the future," the newspaper says, "as it has proved in the past. Naturally we lack the importance of peace times, especially in regard to fodder. Therefore we are short. But we have enough food, because the distribution is successfully economized, is avoiding waste, and is utilizing many things hitherto neglected. Just because we have learned to do all this, we are in respect to vital necessities actually much better off this second year than we were the first of the war. First of all, we have bread, because this time the entire crop has been taken in hand by the authorities at the very outset of the war, and the supply of breadstuffs has been assured for a year. A little while ago we were able to increase the bread allowance by two ounces. We have potatoes. The potato crop this time is splendid, perhaps a record yield. We have vegetables and fruit. We have a great sugar surplus, which we are not exporting as we used to do. We have cattle and meat in quantities which in the opinion of many statisticians, are even too large. Germany went into the war with a cattle stock of a million head. Only Russia had more in Europe. Our herd of milking pigs is more than that of any other country. Nor is this gigantic stock of 47,000,000 animals from which meat was to be obtained the only stock reserve of food on which if conditions became grave we could draw.

9,000,000 PIGS SLAUGHTERED.

"As is well known in the case of the pigs at the beginning of this year in the mistaken idea that our potato supply seemed dangerously short, we slaughtered 9,000,000 swine, stored the meat in refrigerators and converted it into tinned provisions. In the meantime the potato crop was plentiful, and the decision of our pigs stock was almost fully made up by the natural increase of our cattle stock, which was somewhat reduced by slaughter in the autumn of '14. That is the state of affairs. Many things have grown scarcer, but we can and shall hold out. All the measures of the government, all the discussions and conferences in regard to the food supply are occasioned only by anxiety to ensure that the food should be uniformly and justly distributed.

"That is the meaning of the bread regulation, the potato regulation, the regulation of the maximum price scheme and all the other remedial precautionary decrees."

The Hamburg Fremdenblatt says:—"The speak of a famine is not correct. Such a condition could be said to exist only if the employment of fats in the proportions hitherto available were impossible. It should be an article of faith that the amount of fat to reduce the daily consumption of fat per head of the population in an important proportion without being a deterrent to health. This is necessary under the conditions of the war, which is a condition of the war, which is facilitated by the substitution of artificial honey, syrup and beet juice for butter in the preparation of fish and vegetables, and with nut oils replacing cheese and fruit. Soup, the usual form should be entirely dispensed with."

War Profits Wouldn't Count

(From the Springfield Republican)

Probably it is true that by throwing its weight to one side or the other the United States, by its great economic resources could shorten the war, but the sure thing is that the war would be widened. But to end the war by threatening both great alliances is not possible even for the United States because the illusions of many good people on this subject need to be dispelled. But assurances may be given that America would be overwhelmingly for stopping the war if it could do so; "war profits" would count for nothing.

Time Favors Allies.

(From Philadelphia Public Ledger)

As to the prospects from the Austro-German point of view, they are less brilliant than many have assumed. The success of the Teutonic forces upon the southern front, as upon the eastern and western fronts, means a rapid and decisive movement. The valor of Serbia, if it is properly supported by the rest of the Allies, will probably make that impossible. That is to say the position of Germany and Austria is still one of defense against a slowly closing circle of foes. It is a question of time; if the Allies can act promptly enough, the Teuton advance will be blocked in the Balkans as it has been elsewhere.
